The Chincha Islands.

A correspondent of the New York Courier, writing from Huacho, Peru, under date of April 10th, says:-

We sailed from Callao for the Chincha Islands March 24th. There we found one hundred and sixteen sail of ships and barks loading with guano. Of this number eighty were Ameri can; and the St. Mary's is the first United States man-of-war that has visited these Islands, Several complaints had been made at Callao of the insolence and abuse with which American ship masters at the Chincha Islands were treated, and when we arrived there we found that the camplaints had been very much exaggerated, so much so indeed, that among, all the American vessels lying there, our Captain could not get one written complaint of the insult with which American ship masters were said to be treated, whenever they landed on the Islands.
