THE MILLS HOUSE. THE proprietor returns his hearty and sincere thanks to the many friends who have favored him with their patronage, since the addition of this new and thoroughly furnished house to the first class Hotels of Charleston. He takes pleasure in announcing that the MILLS HOUSE, although new, and in good order, has been retouched during the summer, and so refitted as to keep up with the demands of taste, comfort and elegance. The arrangements of the House, in all respects, are continued with a scrupulous and unflinching regard to the wants of the traveler or the sportsman, and the travelling public are assured of all the accommodations of a first class Southern House, at the usual and established prices of such hotels. The constant personal attention and care of the proprietor are bestowed on the House, and he is aided in all departments by the well tried and approved assistants that have made themselves favorably known to former patrons.
