FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

The Best and Poorest Grass.

The Elmira farmers' club, unquestionably the best farmers' club in the United States, had the subject of grasses under impromptu discussion, a correspondent calling attention to the conflicting statements of Harris Lewis and John S. Gould relating to timothy, the former declaring it the "poorest of all grasses," and the latter that "it contains the greatest amount of nutritious matter." The latter statement was backed by Mr. Way's analysis of twenty-two varieties of grasses, but President Hoffman declared that he would trust his observations drawn from practical experience against all the chemical analyses and fine theories of the professors. That experience supported Mr. Lewis, so far as milk production was concerned.

James McCann—June grass gets ripe before the other grasses, and when it is ripe it is good for nothing. It is not good in meadows, because it is hard and worthless before the other grasses are fit to cut. In pastures, if not all eaten off green, it ceases to be of use, for when it is dry cattle will almost starve before they will eat it. The best pastures for fattening steers I have found to be such as are well set with timothy and white clover, and the usual natural grasses which are sure to come in if the fields are adapted to grass. And I may say the older the sod the better. I would not object to June grasses in the variety, but I should not want it in such amount as to interfere with the growth of the other grasses. The first year from seeding the grass is not so nutritious as it is in the next, for the reason that the sod is not filled in with the finer natural grasses. On the right kind of land the quality will improve for several years. I cannot agree with the president as to the value of June grass. For fattening cattle I prefer a mixture of all, but timothy is better than any other one kind.

W. A. Armstrong—I repeat what I have said on other occasions when this subject of the value of June grass has been before us that we cannot agree because June grass does not designate a specific kind which we all understand alike. Many of the wild and worthless species which come into our fields pass with ordinary observers under the common designation June grass. The president when he uses the term refers to blue grass, and that is not specific. The chief constituent of the famous Kentucky pastures is blue grass, so called. Now, when soil adapted to its growth is found here, it is just as good, perhaps, although it is called June grass. But I think it is only found here in a few favored fields.

President Hoffman—I find it very difficult to make myself understood in this matter. On any corn lands I would not expect to secure valuable June grass pasture or meadow. It would not set thick enough, for the land would not be suited to it. June grass requires a moist soil and a low situation. Its valuable parts are the green leaves. The stalk is good for nothing for feeding, but when the green leaves are set thick on the field I cannot say what is better for pasture. It is not only very nutritious food for cows, it is very palatable, and when cut for hay it is superior to any other grass in my meadows. I see its greater value as winter feed whenever my cows are put upon it, for the yield of milk increases, and it shows also in the quality, for it imparts that aroma which we find in milk made from the finest summer pastures. It is no doubt a question of soil and situation, but with my experience I must say that no grass in my fields excels June grass in quality, although it never produces great quantity.

The Household.

Corn Starch Pudding.—Boil one quart of milk, then beat the yolks of four eggs with four tablespoonfuls of corn starch and a little milk; stir into the boiling milk, let it boil up once, and turn into a pudding dish; then beat the whites of the eggs to a froth and add four spoonfuls of white powdered sugar; cover the pudding with the mixture, and set in the oven and brown lightly. Flavor with vanilla, lemon, etc. The frosting is improved by adding a flavor to it.

Apple Batter Pudding. — Core and peel eight apples, put in a dish, fill the places from which the cores have been taken with brown sugar, cover and bake. Beat the yolks of four eggs light, add two teaspoonfuls of flour, with three even teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted with it, one pint of milk, and teaspoonful of salt, then the whites well beaten; pour over the apples and bake. Use sauce with it.

Old Fashioned Indian Pudding.—One quart of milk, three handfuls of Indian meal stirred in while the milk is hot; let it cool, and add one egg; molasses to sweeten; butter, half the size of an egg; cinnamon and salt to your taste; bake three-quarters of an hour.

Mothers' Raised Biscuit.—Scald one quart of milk; into this, while hot, put a piece of butter the size of an egg; when cool add one egg, a teacupful of baker's yeast or home made; thicken with sifted flour to a batter as thick as muffin batter; let rise, mold, rise again, bake quickly.

Cause of Hog Cholera.

A correspondent of the Prairie Farmer touches the main cause of this troublesome disease when he writes: "It is my candid opinion that our running streams are the greatest agents for carrying and spreading this disease, and that so long as there is a lot of cholera hogs allowed to have access to any running streams, so long will all hogs that have access to the same stream, below where the diseased hogs are, be in jeopardy. I have as yet failed to hear of any hogs dying with the cholera that were not allowed to run at large, nor to drink from a running stream (unless a spring or near the source of a stream), nor in any way come in contact with diseased hogs, while thousands of dollars' worth of hogs have been lost by this disease within a small range, all of which obtained their water from streams of running water.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

SENATE.

The Centennial Appropriation bill passed the Senate by a vote of 41 to 15. It had previously passed the House, and the bill appropriates $1,500,000 in aid of the Centennial, the money to be repaid the government out of any earnings.

Mr. Frelinghuysen (Rep.), of New Jersey, called up the Senate bill to amend certain provisions of the revised statutes relating to the transportation of animals. The amendment reported by the judiciary committee to the effect that animals should not be confined in any railroad car or vessel without food or water for a longer period than twenty-four consecutive hours, and that they shall have time for rest and water of at least seven consecutive hours, providing that the amendments shall take effect on July 4, 1876, etc., were agreed to. After some discussion the bill was passed.

Mr. Mitchell (Rep), of Oregon, called up the bill extending the time for the completion of the Oregon Central railroad and telegraph line from Portland to Astoria and McMinnville, in the State of Oregon. He submitted an amendment to protect homestead rights and entries made prior to the time of the notice of withdrawal of the lands from market, which was agreed to. Mr. Mitchell said the only object of the bill was to extend the time of the completion of the road five years. The grant was made to the road in May, 1870, and all of the road had been constructed except about eighty miles. The bill was amended and passed.

The President pro tempore announced that he had signed the bill to aid the centennial celebration of American independence.

Mr. Morrill (Rep.), of Maine, called up the House bill making appropriations for invalid and other pensions, for the year ending June 30, 1877. The bill as passed by the House made appropriations in part as follows: Pensions for army invalids, $12,600,000; widows, minors, and dependent relatives, $14,100,000 survivors and widows of the war of 1812, $1,500,000. The committee on appropriations reported amendments, striking out the amounts inserted after each class as above, and inserting the sum total, $28,400,000, which was agreed to, as well as other amendments of minor importance, and the bill was read a third time and passed.

The Senate then took up the bill to repeal section 2,303 of the revised statutes, making restrictions in the disposition of the public lands in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida. The pending question was on the amendment of Mr. Edmunds, "That the public lands affected by this act shall be offered at public sale as soon as practicable, from time to time, according to the provisions of the existing law, and shall not be subject to private entry until so offered." The amendment was agreed to. Mr. Clayton moved to strike out the second section of the bill, providing that the act shall take effect ninety days from its passage. Agreed to. The bill then passed.

Mr. Edmunds (Rep.), of Vermont, proposed to take up the resolution for the admission of Mr. Pinchback. He agreed with the Senator from Indiana (Mr. Morton) that the question was one of high privilege, and already had been too long delayed. After some discussion, Mr. Logan (Rep.), of Illinois, demanded the yeas and nays, and the motion to take up the resolution was lost—yeas, 30; nays, 33.

Mr. Morrill (Rep.), of Vermont, reported with two amendments the Senate bill to establish an educational fund and apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to public education, and to provide for the more complete endowment and support of national colleges for the advancement of scientific and industrial education. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Wright (Rep.), of Iowa, introduced a bill to reduce the interest upon the public debt, provide for a safe and elastic currency for the speedy appreciation of the value of treasury notes and national bank notes to that of coin, and to guard against panics and inflation of bank credits. Referred to the committee on finance.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the report of the conference committee on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the joint resolution to pay the interest on the 3.65 District of Columbia bonds. Mr. Sherman (Rep.), of Ohio, moved to recommit the bill to the conference committee, that the resolution might be perfected, and have all the creditors paid. After further discussion, the motion to recommit was agreed to.

HOUSE.

The committee reported to the House the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill. All the amendments adopted in the committee were agreed to in a block, except that abolishing the mission to the Hawaiian islands, on which a separate vote was demanded by Mr. Hale, of Maine. The amendment was agreed to—yeas, 130; nays, 87. A vote by yeas and nays was then taken on the passage of the bill, which resulted—yeas, 191; nays, 2. It appropriates about $914,000, being a reduction of about $470,000 from the bill last year.

The following bills were introduced and referred:

By. Mr. Meade (Dem., N. Y.)—To provide for the payment of the United States notes and to strengthen the public credit.

By. Mr. Jenks (Dem., Pa.)—To repeal the third section of the act of 1874 establishing the National bank redemption agency.

By Mr. Lawrence (Rep., Ohio.)—To provide for taking testimony in criminal cases on interrogatories.

By Mr. Riddle (Dem., Tenn.)—Directing the transmission of printed matter through the mails when the postage thereon is insufficient.

By Mr. Baker (Rep., Ind.)—To make banking free and to repeal the Resumption act.

By Mr. Harrison (Dem., Ill.)—For the repeal of parts of the Resumption act, and for the purpose of preparing a way for the resumption of specie payment, and for the resumption of specie payment.

Mr. Wheeler (Rep.), of New York, from the committee on appropriations, reported the Fortification bill, and asked for its consideration at this time. The bill appropriates for the protection, preservation, and repairs of fortifications, $100,000; for the armament of fortifications, $165,000; for torpedoes for harbor defenses, etc., $50,000; total, $315,000. The bill also directs the sale of all obsolete and condemned projectiles and navy ordnance. The bill was passed.

Mr. Tucker (Dem.), of Virginia, from the committee on ways and means, reported the bill relating to the execution of custom house bonds. The bill provides that wherever a bond is required of a firm for the payment of customs on goods imported for their use, and the bond is executed by one member of the firm in the name of such firm, it shall be equally binding on all the members of the firm. Passed.

The military committee reported favorably the bill to extend the time for filing claims for additional bounty. An amendment to strike out the limitation was rejected, and an amendment extending the time for filing claims to July, 1880, was adopted. The bill was then passed.

The bill for the sale of the arsenal and lots in Stonington, Conn., was reported favorably and passed.

Mr. Southard (Rep.), of Ohio, reported a bill to amend the act of March 3, 1875, for the admission of Colorado as a State, and asked for its immediate passage. Referred.

The House, on motion of Mr. Southard, went in committee of the whole on the Colorado bill. The only changes made by this bill in the Enabling act of last March are a provision that all qualified voters under the laws of the Territory shall be entitled to vote on the question of ratification or rejection, and a provision appropriating $20,000 to pay the expenses of the constitutional convention. Passed.

The Latch String Out.—The Centennial bill has passed the Senate at last by a good, round majority, and the full success of the celebration is assured beyond peradventure. Philadelphia hangs out her latch strings to the nation, and out they shall stay till the State House bell tolls off the year.—Philadelphia Times.

Dr. Pierce.

Success is never achieved without merit. A man may make a poor article and sell it once, and there being 40,000,000 people in the United States, the sale to each one would be enough to make a decent fortune. But an article that holds the field year after year, and the sales of which increase regularly and rapidly, must have absolute merit.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., occupies our entire eighth page to-day with his various articles. We admit it because we know the doctor, and know of his articles. We know him to be a regularly educated physician, whose diploma hangs on the wall of his office, and we know that he has associated with him several of the most eminent practitioners in tee country. We know that parties consult him, by mail and in person, from all the States in the Union every day, and that they are fairly and honestly dealt with.

This grand result has been accomplished by two agencies—good, reliable articles—articles which, once introduced, work easily their own way—and splendid business management. They have succeeded because they ought to have succeeded.

If you would patronize medicines scientifically prepared by a skilled physician and chemist, use Dr. Pierce's family medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is nutritious, tonic, alterative, and blood cleansing, and an unequaled cough remedy; Pleasant Purgative Pellets, scarcely larger than mustard seed, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription, a remedy for debilitated females; Extract of Smart Weed, a magical remedy for pain, bowel complaints, and an unequaled liniment for both human and horse-flesh; while his Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for catarrh and "cold in the head" ever given to the public. They are sold by druggists.

TWENTY YEARS A SUFFERER.— CUREDBY THE GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

Dr. R. V. Pierce:

Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. I was attended by doctors in Liverpool, Havre, New Orleans, New York, and at the hospital on Staten Island (where the doctors wanted to take one leg off). Finally, after spending hundreds of dollars, I was persuaded to try your "Golden Medical Discovery," and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground. I am at home nearly every evening and shall be glad to satisfy any person of the truth or this information. I am, sir, yours respectfully,

CONSUMPTIVES, TAKE NOTICE.

Every moment of delay makes your case more hopeless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for Consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. See Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show; but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these Medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

English Buildings.

The most interesting and by far the most conspicuous and costly buildings erected by any foreign government on the Centennial grounds, says a correspondent, are those belonging to Great Britain. Of the three edifices the largest and most highly finished contains a grand suite of reception rooms, where the representatives of "merrie England" hope to entertain their guests, and also numerous snug offices for the commissioners of the different colonies and dominions. The next in size is for the police force to be employed in guarding the articles in the exhibition, and the third for the menials and employees, and for a bakery, kitchen, and laundry.
