cently been living with her mother at Ber-. gen, New Jersey, and had visited her birth place, on Staten Island; that about a month since she came back to the city, and went to the house in Lowis street, where apartments had been provided for her by Floor.

She said that Floor never called on her but once at the house in Lewis street; that on last Tuesday week she called on Floor at his slaughter-house, and asked him for some money, with which to pay the house rent. Floor put her off with some short answer, and gave her a half dollar. Aggrieved at this treatment, she vowed revenge, and with the half dollar she on her way home stopped at a drug store in Olive street, and purchased some arsenic. On the following Saturday she mixed the ars enic with a cake, which she baked and took to Floor at the market. The rest is known.

The prisoner is about 25 years of age, and has rather an interesting countenance. At the conclusion of her examination; she expressed a desire to see the Rev. Henry Chase, by whom she was married to Floor. Her wish in this respec: was complied with; Mr. Chase was sent for, and the prisonar was again remanded to her lonesome cell.

Effect of Habit on the Infant mind .-"I trust every thing to habit; habit, upon which all ages, the lawgiver, as well as the schoolmaster, has mainly placed reliance; habit, which makes every thing easy and casts all difficulties upon the deviation from the wonted course. Make sobriety a habit, and intemperance will be have determined that no contracts will be five dollars. hateful and hard; make petulance a habit, made for crossing the Bridge by the year; and reckless profigacy will be as contra-ry to the nature of the child grown an each time they pass. Early formation of Good Habits .- "If a child is neglected till six years of age, no subsequent education can recover it .-If to this age it is brought up in dissipa-tion and ignorance, in all the baseness of brutal habits, and in that vacancy of mind which such habits create, it is in vain to attempt to reclaim it by teaching it reading and writing. You may teach what you choose atterwards, but if you have not prevented the formation of had habits, you will teach in vain.

" An infart is in a state of personal enjoyment from the intensity of curtosity .-There is no one thing which it does not learn sooner or better than at any other period of life, and without any burden to itself or the teacher. But learning is not all, nor the principal consideration-moral habits are acquired in these schools, and by their means children are kept out of Red Dutch the miseries of obscenity, vulgarity, vice, and blasphemy. In the establishment at Westminister, none but children between three and four years of age are admitted, and there they are kept out of the streets, Swelling Tarsnip Long Uk winter Radish and taken care of by a parental, indulgent dame, which their mothers are set at liberty to go out and work Whether the White Turnip children learn less or more is of little consequence. The moral discipline is the great consideration."

age.

Mrs. BALDWIN was a native of Philadelphia, but had sojourned amongst us for the the last forty years; acquiring the unmeasured esteem of all who knew her .- Althe' the ties of her earlier home weresevered, and her destiny was in a land of strangers, she bore with her those kindlier qualities of the heart, which always procure friends, and elicit the sympathies of the virtuous and the feeling. In conformity to the sacred precept enjoining good will to all, she exemplified in her conduct, that benevolence which has no foundation in a calculation of temporal interest,-but springing from a goodness in the disposition itself, is rendered constant by the influence of unwavering piety. Her character was adorned with those meek and moral virtues which give lustre to the christians life, and whose rays, penetrating farther than the veil of time, shed a cheering light on the gloom of an untried future.

with her "lamp trimmed;" and prepared nis. for the coming of death. Mrs. B. died far from her kindred, yet not unmourned--for those whose melancholy gratification it was to endeavor to sooth the last moments, setts, and variety others. of her long and christian life, have felt her kindness and feel her loss.
