Rowland and Madison Springs of Georgia- there is no doubt but those States where it is the Limestone and Glens' Springs, and Aiken, now grown, and those on the Mississippi were in this State. Many of our prominent men of the soil is adapted to its cultivation, will yield enterprise are attending the Rail Road Convention at Macon, Ga.

Business is as usual at this season-stationary. Cotton is getting up the ladder again. About 2000 bales have been disposed of during the past week; prices 7 7.8 a 10 cents. A very limited supply of Grain, Hay and Flour on sale. Fine Baltimore Flour commands $5 3.4. Sales of Bacon have been made at 5 a 10 1-2 cents. Salt 90 a 92 cents. The Hampstead Steam Factory, (James A. Taylor, Agent,) advertises 4.4 and 7.8 Brown Shirtings, which I understand are of excellent quality, This is the Company which received the premiums recent. ly from the State Agricultural Society, for the best exhibit of Domestic Goods.

The mornings are now devoted by the ladies to shopping in King St-the afternoons and evenings being exclusively dedicated to the Battery. Among the cheap articles going off by scores are Linen Net Shawls 10 1.4, $1 25 ; Colored Muslins, 12 1-2; Ginghams (small plaid.) 12 1 2; Blace Lace Gloves and Mitts, 6 1-4; Pavilion Gauze-(have you any musquitoes to spare in Camden ?) 50 to 62 1.2; Thread Gloves, 12 1.2, and a variety of others " too tedious" (as well as too cheap) "to mention."

Nothing especially attractive in the line of New Music has come in within a week or two. Moonlight Screuades are the order of the night.

The September elections are already making a stir among the "B'hoys" and " Old Hunkers." Strong opposition has been organized against the present incumbent of the Mayoralty, and many of his most clamorous guondam friends (?) are now loudest in their denunciations. Such is popular favor-

All denominations and classes united yester day in carrying out the wise recommendation of the President of the United States. The occasion was one of solemn interest. As a people, we have much for which we should mourn in humiliation ; yet much to be thankful for and to rejoice in. We enjoy perfect health this summer, so far. No cholera or other epidemics. Thirteen deaths only last week' against hundreds daily in the Northern cities. The weather has been warm for several days, but we have been refreshed again by showers.

Mr. Editor :- Having husiness on both sides of the river for filly miles above Camden, and while travelling through that section of country. I paid particular attention to the crops, both by observation and also making enquiry from intelligent planters. The result of my investigation is this, that the corn crops will be very good ; more will be made than has been made in any one year for the last ten or twelve .-As to Cotton, I think the prospect is quite discouraging; the weed is too large, and forms are not on it to make a full crop. With the best of seasons this month, the crop cannot reach two-thirds of the last year's, and if the seasons are unfavorable, there may not be over one-half of last year's crop made ; indeed, on the best lands the crop will be almost an entire more than a sufficiency for the necessary consumption of the country. Of the lotter, but little care has as yet been manifested in its production, though no soil in the world is better adapt. ed to its growth than the newly broken lands of the western country. To insure successful crops it is necessary that the soil should be of the greatest possible richness, and a light loam .-Both these desirable qualities are found in the new lands of the west, and the flax produced is long and of a fibre almost equal to silk in delicacy and beauty of texture. In the Eastern and Middle states where wheat and corn are the chief products, the harvest of the former grain has been an abundant one. and the husbandman will receive the labor of his own hands. In no single State, from Maine to North Carolina and westward to the Mississippi, save those above referred to, has the wheat crops proved a failure. The accounts from the corn crop are cheering, though the protracted drought of July has undoubtedly tended to injure them. The anticipations of the farmer are yet buoyant. Vermont Massachusetts and New Hampshire, have suffered more than any other States for rain, and the consequence is an almost total failure of the hay crop, not the least important in that region. In Virginia the prospects are most favorable. A more than average wheat crop has been harvest, and the corn and tobacco crops promise well. There is at the present day, much more grain cultivated in Virginia than formerly, which may be attributed to the exhaustion of the land from frequent crops of tobacco, a product that requires a greater strength of soil than almost any other. The western portion of the State is sterile and unproductive, and it is only in the valleys of the Alleghanies that any extenvive planting operations are carried on. On the Roanoke and James rivers, where, twenty years ago, nothing hut tobacco was grown, are now largh fields of wheat and corn, which have become more sure of a profitable return. North and South Carolina are, from the nature of their soil, better adapted to the growth of rice and cotton than anything else, the western part of both States are lands which this year have produced fine crops of wheat. The middle and eastern sections of North Carolina are generally grown in potatoes or rice, the former of which is the staple product; and our advices are favorable to an abundant yield. Already have they appeared in market, of fine flavor, and good size. Georgia having turned her attention more to manufacturing, there is very little said about the crops except cotton, which suffered considerably by the frosts of April, from which it cannot recover. The crop will fall far short of an average one. Alabama and Mississippi the principal cottongrowing States of the Union, present poor prospects of a crop. Besides the frosts of spring which destroyed the young plants the fields have been inundated by the overflow. ing of the rivers, until so much damage has been done that not half a crop will be made. The plants are represented as small and unproductive. We have but little news from the cane fields of Louisiana and Texas, though the crop must he necessarily short, from the backward spring. Much of the cane when planted, proved to be decayed in the pith, and the result was, that there was an insufficiency to stand out for a full crop, had none of the overflows or frosts of spring occurred. In Louisiana, par icularly, the crop will fall far short of an average one. though in Texas, where it has been cultivated but a few years, the prospects are more favorable. The cultivation of the sugar cane has for several years been successfully carried on in Florida, and this year the acconets from that State are most favorable, although the tropical fruits grown there suffered severely from the lateness of the spring. The crops throughout the country may be considered as average crops, except in cotton and sugar cane, for in those States where the the wheat has escaped the fl., rust, and army worm, the yield will more than supply the de ficiency of those States where the crop has failed; and should the corn escape a drought, for two weeks longer, there is every probabilty that the crop will be very large.

THE CROPS IN THE UNITED STATES. There is no subject, perhaps, of more interest to the general reader, as well as to com-mercial and agricultural men, than the state of the crops throughout the country. A careful observer will very probably come to the conclu sion that an average grain crop will be made, notwithstanding the loud complaints which reach us from some of the Northwestern States; and that conclusion is a natural one, for the intelligence from nearly every other portion of the country is cheering.

In Ohio, a combination of causes have operated to destroy the wheat crop, that grain has entirely failed. In early spring the accounts were favorable, and every prospect indicated a large yield; but the fly and army worm, the latter of which is hardly known on the Atlantic board, commenced their depredations, and until the jointing of the stalk, proved very destructive. There was still a hope that much of it would recover, but the close and damp weather of June caused the appearance of rust, which at once put an end to all hope or expectation .-The soil of Ohio is not well adapted to the growth of wheat ; being of a clay loam, is subject to be destroyed by freezing out, even should that early sowed escape the fly in the fall ; and every succeeding year but adds to the uncertainty of the crop. Many of the Ohio farmes have abandoned the cultivation of wheat, and turned their attention to the cultivation of to. hacco and corn, both of which crops, for the present season promises, and abundant yield. There are yet but few manufacturing establishmonts in this State, and the whole attention of the people has been directed to the products of the soil. There is one thing, however, which begins to engage the attention of the farmers, vix : the raising of sheep for wool, which at present promises to be one of the greatest resources. There have been but few publications relative to the success of the effort, but what have been made are most satisfactory .--In two counties alone, Green and Summit, the returns already published show a product of more than 50,000 pounds of the last spring warn of impending dauger. The operation of Dr. Os. shearing. If two counties are so productive, there is a probability that the whole State will this year produce as much wool as any other of the Union. The fact is well known to all farmers, that no stock is so destructive to the soil as sheep; while at the same time, they will subsist nearly as well in the forest as upon the pasture, and those who have large flocks find it advantagious to keep these grounds in hay for the winter stock, and leaving the sheep during summer in an open wood to procure food for themselves.

In Indiana and Illinois the soil is very like that of Ohio, but from the fact that it has not been so long under cultivation, may be relied upon with more certainty of a crop, though a milure has been the portion of the agriculturists this season. In these, as well as in most of the western States, the overflows of the river have done much to injure the crops. One of the most important products engaging the attention of the agriculturists in Kentucky and Missouri, is the production of hemp and flax. Of the former there is much raised, and extensive manufacturing establishments for its conversion into cloth and cordage are already in operation. The yield of the present crop, it is said will be very large. Though the fibre of the American hemp is not so fine as that of Russia, and its culture brought to such a state of perfection

The Charleston Courier of Thursday states that a postcript to a letter from Tallahassee, (Fla) dated the 2d inst., says : "There is a report now in town, brought from Key West or Manatee, by a small vessel, that Col. Wm. F. English's family has been murdered, and his plantation destroyed, on the Miami, Dade county. This rumor is not credited, though I would not be surprised ht its truth."

With regard to the efficacy of Jew David's on the HEBREW PLASTERS, nothing need be said, as they carry with them their own recommendation, and the price being so remarkably low, is a sufficient induce. ment for those afflicted to give them a trial. The agent is confident that by the great and increasing demand for these Plasters, the popularity which they have obtained solely by their own merits, and the universal satisfaction which they have given, that they are decidedly superior to any other in use.
