Louisville-Courier Journal.

We notice that twelve hundred Chinese recently landed at San Francisco. The Golden State is overflowing with Johnnies who will soon be pushing across the Pacific Railroad to the greater fields of labor in the West and South. Our people may prepare for this inundation, for it is coming. Especially may the colored people, who have left our fields to the weeds and our workshops to the cobwebs, prepare for it. Their transition from laborers to politicians—from workers to idlers—has left a gap which John Chinaman, with his pigtail and wooden brogans, will enter as rapidly as occasion offers. Johnny can make cotton and corn, build railways and levees, live without meddling in politics, and grow fat on a handful of rice and a crust of bread. When he is fairly installed, the gentleman from Africa will find abundant leisure in which to indulge in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.—Memphis Aca-tanche.

HOW THE JAPANESE USE PAPER.

The Japanese use paper for a great variety of purposes. A recent traveler states that he saw it made into materials so closely resembling Russian and Morocco leather and pig-skin that it was very difficult to detect the difference. With the aid of peculiar varnish and skillful painting, paper made excellent trunks, tobacco bags, cigar cases, saddles, telescope cases, the frames of microscopes, and he even saw and used excellent water-proof coats, made of simple paper, which did keep out the rain, and were as supple as the India rubber. The Japanese use neither silk nor cotton handkerchiefs, towels, nor dusters; paper in their hands serves as an excellent substitute. It is soft, thin, tough, of a pale-yellowish color, very plentiful and very cheap. The inner walls of many a Japanese apartment are formed of paper, being more than painted screens; their windows are covered with fine, translucent descriptions of the same material. It enters largely into the manufacture of nearly everything in a Japanese household; and he saw what seemed to be balls of twine, but which were nothing but long strands of tough paper rolled up. If a shopkeeper had a parcel to tie up, he would take a strip of paper, roll it quickly between his hands, and use it for the purpose; and it is quite as strong as the ordinary string used at home. In short, without paper all Japan would come to dead lock; and, indeed, first by the arbitrary exercise of his authority a tyrannical husband should stop his wife's paper, the sage Japanese mother-in-law invariably stipulates in the marriage settlement that the bride is to have allowed to her a certain quantity of paper.

Boston Journal of Commerce.

Mrs. Annie Osborn is a lively young woman who has recently appeared in Albany in search of a husband who has been abducted from his bed and board by his mother. It seems that wife and mother-in-law couldn't live in peace together. The deserted Annie published a card in the papers, in which she says: "I am anxious to find him—not that I ever purpose stooping so low as to live with him, but as he is 26 years old, I have serious idea of assisting his mother to wean him. His stature is five feet eight inches; he has brown eyes, brown hair, moustache and goatee, and is rather good looking—what I once considered quite the pink of beaux. I wish those gentlemen who have the ruling of things in general would have the kindness to enact a law allowing people to hang, choke, or smother all mothers-in-law who intentionally and maliciously make disturbances between husband and wife."

Every bird pleases us with its lay—especially the hen.

MARRIED—On the 27th May, by the Rev. W. J. Boone, JOHN KERSHAW of Camden, to Miss SUSAN, eldest daughter of General Wilmot G. DeSausure, of Charleston.

OBITUARY.

Died at Liberty Hill on Sunday evening, June 13th, HENRY B. BROWN, in the 65th year of his age. He was a kind, dignified father, a good citizen and a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church for many years past. His health being for some time feeble, and during the last six weeks of his illness confined to his bed, and reduced almost to a skeleton; emaciated as he was from his sickness, he met with great trouble and submission, without a murmur, perfectly resigned to the will of God. The last words he spoke, to the pastor of his church, was, "I am ready, willing and anxious to go." The labor of this feeble effort in attempting to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory witnessed the sad and melancholy scene, when the last breath was drawn by the departed friend. What standing around his dying couch, his truly kind, affectionate children and many friends, ever ready at his bedside to give aid and comfort, and to administer to his wants in the hour of death. His many virtues had endeared him to a large circle of relations and friends who mourn his loss. Who can offer consolation to the grief-stricken hearts he has left behind him? May God, in whom he trusted, reconcile their sorrow to the belief that "their souls his eternal gain." He died without a struggle.

"How blest the righteous when he dies,
When sinks a weary soul to rest,
How mildly beam the closing eyes,
How gently heaves th' expiring breast."

Farewell, collecting hopes and fears,
Where lights and shades alternate dwell,
How bright th' unchanging morn appears,
Farewell, inconstant world, farewell.

CIRCULAR.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA,
BUREAU OF AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS,
COLUMBIA, June 15, 1869.
THE attention of the citizens of the State is respectfully invited to the annexed extracts from an Act passed at the recent session of the General Assembly, and ratified on the 19th day of March, 1869; and their cordial cooperation with the officers charged with the execution of the law is earnestly requested.
The enumeration of the inhabitants is to furnish a basis for the apportionment of representation in the next General Assembly, in accordance with Section 4 of Article II of the Constitution, and the necessity for its correctness will commend itself to citizens of all political views.
In connection with this work the statistics of the agricultural productions of last year will be taken, and it is eminently desirable that they should be returned as fully and intelligibly as circumstances will permit, as it is expected that they will furnish valuable data in the future agricultural history of the State.
HENRY SPARNICK,
Commissioner.

An Act to provide for the Enumeration of the Inhabitants of the State.

SECTION 3. That it shall be the duty of each and every person appointed to take the census by virtue of this Act to call personally on the head or some member of each family in the County, or portion of County, for which he or they shall have been appointed, and obtain from such head of a family or member thereof, as aforesaid, the number of persons contained in such family, and such other information as may be required and directed by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Agricultural Statistics.
SEC. 4. That each head or member of a family shall, when summoned thereby by the persons appointed under this Act to take the census at his, her or their residence or place of business, make oath or affirmation, a correct return of all persons of whom his or her family is composed; and also report such other information to said census takers as may be required by law; and the persons so appointed to take the census are hereby authorized to administer such oaths; and upon the failure of any person to make such returns or reports when required, he or she shall be subject to a penalty of twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Unadulterated Ale
AND
LAGER BEER.
LAGER BEER containing Copperas, and LALE doctored with Salt, Lime and Alum are the latest adulterations discovered in New York. Professor MAPES, of New York, analyzed the BEER from a dozen different Breweries, and all were found adulterated with noxious substances. It is said that the sale of drugs to Breweries is a profitable part of the trade. This is perfectly infamous.—Cocculus Indicus (fish-berry) Nux Vomica, are some of the delectable substances found in BEER. These are potent poisons, and the Brewer found using them should be drowned at once in one of his own rats.
P. S.—I am willing to be drowned in my own RATS; if any impurities shall be found in my BEER.
I shall continue to make a HEALTHFUL BEVERAGE, so that it may be drank by the most delicate without the least danger.
