

POETICAL.

From the Mobile Register.
Ku-Klux You Scare 'Em So.
AIR—"SHOO FLY."
The bottom rail is now on top;
The niggers madly prance;
The Committee up at Washington
Play for them to dance!
To magnify the Ku-
They'd drain
Make

Chorus—Ku-klux in every place,
Ku-klux on every tree;
Ku-klux, your ghastly face
Seems to frighten U. S. G.

Domingo now is all the rage;
The ku-klux bill is passed;
Ben Butler's smile is silvery sweet!
His play is made at last!
They steal, they steal, they steal;
That's what the people say,
Instead of legislating—
The outrage bill to pay.

Chorus—Ku-klux away down South;
Ku-klux don't pester me!
Ku-klux in the people's mouth
Hurrah, for U. S. G.!

The people all throughout the land,
They blush for very shame,
That such a mighty nation
Should play so small a game.
They feel, they feel, they feel,
And with them all agree,
'Tis a very little matter
To rile U-lysses G.

Chorus—Ku-klux don't scare 'em so;
Ku-klux let 'em be;
Ku-klux, 'tis a joke you know
To scare little U. S. G.!

The Dignity of Labor.

In a nation of workers labor ought certainly to command respect. And among right thinking people everywhere in this country it does so. Supercilious dandies of cities and towns North and South may form an exception to the rule which accords respects to the laborer, but their number, greater in the North than in the South, is not sufficient to give either weight or respectability to their opinions. Certain leaders of Northern opinion, have in times past arrogated the championship of labor, and laborers. This was done upon pure grounds of demagogism for political purposes, and was without foundation, as we know by observation and experience. In the moral code of a certain class of men "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," and this prejudice against us, has been propagated with an industry which can only be accounted for by reference to the axiom quoted.

Labor has never been deemed disgraceful at the South. It is true, that the people have as everywhere else in the world, the Northern States of the Union not excepted, have always tried to get along with the smallest amount of labor, and thus to live as easily as practicable. Before the circumstances of a large class of our people were easy, and the necessity for labor was not urgent on them as upon the people of less favored sections, such for instance as the dwellers among the granite hills of New England. Moreover field work under the warm sun during a long summer is to the white man somewhat harder to endure, than the same kind of labor during the short summers in Vermont or New York. And this fact may have developed an apparently greater repugnance to labor on the part of the Southern people. All these concessions we are ready to make. But when it is said that we are despisers of labor and laborers per se, we deny the charge.

All over the South in times of slavery was scattered a large class of small farmers, each of whom owned a few slaves with whom he worked, personally superintending their labor. This was a highly respected class among us, and constituted what our political orators were accustomed to call in the language of eulogy "the bone and sinew of the country." Among our wealthiest people there were besides a great many who had amassed property by personal industry. These men as a class took a real pleasure in recounting to the rising generation, the story of their early toils and successes. We have known men in good circumstances sent to College after having served a few years at the plow handles for the purpose of acquiring physical vigor, and a practical knowledge of the pursuits they were expected to follow. The idea that labor was degrading never occurred to these men.

Not only are we accused of dishonoring labor but are represented as being in a state bordering on anarchy. Yet the people of this lawless region produced 3,800,000 bales of cotton last year and an increased corn crop over the production of the year previous—all this in spite of the decrease and deterioration of our black labor. How are such results reconcilable with the hypothesis that we are despisers of labor? Away with such pernicious falsehood. The surest passport to the respect of Southern society is a course of honest industry. A despiser of labor here would be regarded as nearly akin to an idiot.—Carolina Farmer.

Lucerne.
Lucerne makes the earliest green feed that can be had, and happy is he who has a little lot of it from which to cut for his cattle and working stock. Few persons in this section have ever sown it, but for all that, it is richly worth it cost. From the middle of March to the first of July it yields bountifully the sweetest and richest green, and may be cut over, close to the ground, four or six times. Once established in good soil it will last for twenty years or more with the least possible attention. Don't try it unless you have rich ground, plenty of manure, and will plow deep and early. Its roots are large go deep, Drill sowed shallow, ten pounds per acre, cover lightly, and keep it reasonably free from weeds and grass, especially in the spring. Sow any time from middle of January to middle of March. No plant or grass can grow repeated crops of luxuriant green, without rich and deep soil to draw from. Lucerne comes earlier, and is most grateful and beneficial to all sorts of stock that have passed the winter on dry forage. For horses and mules it is a capital alternative, and brings on a new coat of hair very finely. For milch cows and brood sows it pays in the abundance of rich milk. Lucerne is of the clover tribe, and likes lime soils, but proper manuring will secure a profit from it on even very light soils.

How to Grow Big Crops of Strawberries.
Give room; do not plant too close together; 2 feet apart is better than 1 foot; 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 to 2 feet is just right for field culture; put in a good shovelful of manure under each hill at time of setting. Put out no more plants than you have manure for. We are satisfied that the big crops depend only on the liberality of the food. One strawberry grower plants 2 feet by 1, and gets 2,000 quarts per acre, another plants 2 1/2 by 2 feet, keeps the runners cut, and gets 4,000 quarts per acre. The former cannot understand it, why with twice as many plants he gets only half the crop. We assure our readers, strawberries are like the colossal asparagus, biggest, when they have the most room and best feed; a crop of 1,000 quarts per acre will prove a failing business to any grower. It is better to reduce plantations one-half and manure double.—Horticulturist.

Crops in Georgia.
The Macon Telegraph says: If a cotton crop is to be grown this year in Georgia we may say that the work is, to a very large extent, to be commenced. Much of what is up in so sickly and perishing a condition, and so obstructed by grass and weeds that it will have to be plowed up.—This is particularly true on low and level lands. On dryer localities it is badly washed, and the stand everywhere is exceedingly poor. We have never known a more unpromising prospect at this season of the year, and have come to the conclusion that 1871 will probably witness enough of a cotton failure to produce, in connection with the great cotton years of 1869 and 1870, a general average. With so poor a start and so much of the growing season lost, the deficit, as compared with last year, must necessarily be great. A million bales will hardly cover it. Corn is better, but all plantation work is sadly behind hand. In the past fortnight more than half the working time has been lost.

RUM AND TOBACCO.—One hundred and twenty millions of pounds of tobacco, costing eighty-six million of dollars, are consumed annually in the United States. Five hundred thousand tons of tobacco are supposed to be consumed annually in all the world.

Not less than two hundred thousand persons, principals and clerks, in the United States, are engaged in selling intoxicating drinks; and a million of people get their wealth or living from selling liquors, or from raising or selling articles from which beverages are made. It has been estimated that the enormous sum of six hundred and eighty million of dollars is annually paid by the people of this country for intoxicating liquors.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so generally required by every body as a cathartic, and for this purpose Ayer's Cathartic Pills are adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends; and all know that it does what it does all the time—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and constitutions, it contains neither calomel nor any other deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by any body. Their sugar-coating preserves them from becoming rancid, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

Their operation by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease. Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Intestines, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Constipation or Diarrhoea, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pains in the Head, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageously used where no serious derangement exists. One who feels less serious derangement exists, a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better from the judiciously taken, and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

WE OFFER IN THE PIEDMONT AND ARLINGTON, A SOLID, RELIABLE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, thoroughly Southern, in the hands of men of the highest integrity, with abundant assets, recent risks, the most secure of all investments, pledged to retain within the State of South Carolina all funds accruing therefrom, and, indeed, presenting every advantage that can be desired. We confidently appeal to every one interested in Southern prosperity to look to their own interest, by sustaining their own institutions, and thereby establish that self-confidence without which there can be no permanent prosperity. Bear in mind that, already, over $10,000,000 are annually sent North for Life Insurance, taking so much from our strength, and thereby giving additional power to our competitors. Rights of party to non-forfeiture in all its policies. Rights of party to reinstatement paid up policy, and surrender value where "intervention of armies" or any other cause cuts the insured off from home office. This feature, omitted in policies of Northern companies, cost the Southern people very heavily in the late war, and should make them seek the only company that provide against such contingency in future.

From an official exhibit, it is shown that the Piedmont and Arlington had a greater increase of business in 1869 over 1868 than any company on this continent. It shows that there were only three companies in the United States that issued larger amount of risks in 1869 than it did, and only nine companies that issued more policies; also, that, with their accumulated risks of fifteen or twenty years all combined, this company, though young, stands twentieth in amount of risks in force.

This exhibit, among over a hundred companies, makes the Piedmont and Arlington the leading Life Insurance Company, at least of this country. It shows, not only progress, but caution and economy—its losses being light, its expenses small.

PLAN MUTUAL.
Dividend paid on whole life policies, forty per cent. Dividends given at end of first year, when all cash is paid. All policies non-forfeitable.
