THE WATEREE DIVISION, as a cold water institution, has a worthy confederate in the "Fat Contributor," who has been expatiating on the merits of ice-water, in Cincinnati, says its history has not been written, but it didn't come over with the Pilgrim Fathers, as they brought only New England rum. It was known medicinally among the Indians, for when an old chief was once asked what remedy he applied when his squaw behaved badly, he replied with an emphatic and significant movement of his arm, "I swat'er!" meaning of course, ice-water. The article is not new, it having been known in the regions of the North pole since there was a pole there, and the Esquimaux have lived on ice-water for centuries. The "Fat Contributor" may be very good authority, but the article may be sometimes hurtful, as too much produces cramp colic as was evidenced in some neophytes of the Division recently, yet they may have been joking, and they were not afflicted with colic, but merely playing shampain for the amusement of their friends, when attempting "I swat'er" on their heads.

THE STEAMER ISIS—GRAND EXCURSION DOWN THE WATEREE.—Captain Jester of the Isis, has for some time been promising the community of Camden and vicinity, an excursion on his handsome boat. Having had her overhauled and repainted, and put in excellent condition, he concluded to have the said excursion on Thursday last. Accordingly, on Tuesday, invitations were issued, notifying the fortunate ones that upon the 16th instant, the pleasure of their company was requested on an excursion down the Waterree, leaving the Ferry at 10 o'clock and returning the same afternoon.

Thursday dawned a beautifully clear fall day, not a cloud being visible in the sky, and at quite an early hour, vehicles of all descriptions freighted with gaily dressed and happy people, could be seen driving down the river road, bent upon seeing and enjoying the river and excursion. Punctually at ten o'clock the Isis steamed down from her landing to the site of the old bridge and was moored to the eastern shore of the river.—Everybody having gone aboard and many cautionary signals given by the whistle, the Isis was put under way down the river, which was in splendid condition for the excursion, the water being rather high and the current swift.

After the novelty of being on board the boat had worn off, the services of a disciple of Paganini were called into requisition, and the gay young people, interspersed here and there with an older couple, were soon threading the mystic mazes of the dance. Sportsmen, on murder intent, sought the bow of the boat and wasted quantities of ammunition on the frightened water-fowl, which started from their quietude, flew rapidly up and down the river. Everybody was made to feel at home and consequently enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

About half-past one o'clock, the Isis having been made fast to the eastern shore, the excursionists were invited to a collation prepared by the officers in charge, and a "feast of reason and flow of soul," ensued. After partaking plentifully of the repast, dancing was resumed and kept up until the declining sun warned the party that it was time to return.

The sail up was as pleasant as could be and the excursionists reached the landing, delighted with their day's frolic.

The Captain and others having the excursion in charge, have the warm thanks of those who partook of their elegant hospitality, for the very pleasant and novel sensation of a sail down the Waterree, and we have no doubt that it will be remembered as one of the most pleasant days that they have enjoyed in many years.

The Report of the County Commissioners was handed in too late for publication in this week's issue. It will appear in our next issue.

GRACE CHURCH.—OPENING SERVICES.—In May, 1867, Grace Church, Episcopal, situated on Broad street, a short distance below the corner of DeKalb, the site of which is now occupied by the stores of R. M. Kennedy and Hodgson & Dunlap, was burnt, the fire being communicated to it from a wing of the hotel then known as the Mansion, but now as the Kershaw House, which was also consumed at the same time. The sacred edifice was built, if we mistake not, in the year 1829, and thus was, at the time of its burning, of 38 years standing. Its picturesque ruins stood for four years, when they were demolished to make room for the stores above mentioned.

Last fall, the Vestry and Ward determined to build, and proceeded at once to carry out their designs into execution. Previous to that time, the congregation had met for worship through the kindness of brethren of other denominations, in the various churches, and in a school house adjoining the Methodist Parsonage, which had been temporarily fitted up for worship. Here they continued until last Sunday, when the new church being completed, it was determined to hold services on that day.

The new church is of Gothic architecture, situated near the south-west corner of Lyttleton and Laurens streets, fronting on the former, the land being given to the Church by the Board of Trustees of the Camden Male Academy, which is on the same parcel or lot but distant about two hundred yards. The internal length of the building, which is of brick, is seventy-five feet, including the chancel, and the width is forty feet. It is made open-roofed, contains sixty-four pews, and is capable of seating three hundred persons.

On Sunday last, the building was filled though not uncomfortably so, and services were held, the Rt. Rev. T. F. Davis, D. D. assisted by the Revs. John Johnson and F. B. Davis, of the clergy, being present. The services in the morning were unusually solemn and impressive, rendered particularly so by a sermon from the Bishop. In the afternoon, the Rev. John Johnson preached to a large audience.

It was particularly gratifying to the brethren to meet with their former beloved pastor, Mr. Johnson, now officiating in St. Philip's Church, Charleston, S. C., on the occasion of the opening of their church, for which both he and they had earnestly striven and prayed. Many members of other denominations were present and took a deep interest in the services. Altogether it was a Sabbath and an occasion which afforded cause for much joy and encouragement to Christian brethren here and elsewhere.

YELLOW JACK GONE UP.—We extend our hearty congratulations to our friends in old Charleston, upon the appearance of black jack frost, and the consequent disappearance of yellow jack, which has been such a plague and drawback to her prosperity. We see by the papers, that the refugees are returning in great numbers, and that strangers no longer fear to visit the city.

To show the anxiety to return which the refugees feel, we may add that last week, as soon as it well ascertained that ice had been seen and handled in the city, thirty-two of them left Camden on a single morning. We hope that our visitors, unwilling though they may have been to come, found that Camden was not inhospitable, and cherish happy recollections of the time they spent with us.

Under the new city government, possessing the confidence and support of the people, we entertain great hope that Charleston will move on toward prosperity and happiness.

Water is quoted at six cents a glass and whiskey at four in some parts of Colorado.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1872. FIFTH YEAR.

A Representative and Champion of American Art.

THE ALDINE. An Illustrated Monthly Journal, Claimed to be the Linnocuous Paper in the World.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of The Aldine will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness as compared with rivals of a similar class, The Aldine is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of the volume just completed cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times the cost.

THE VOLUME FOR 1872, will contain nearly 800 pages, and about 250 engravings. Commencing with the number for January, every third number will contain a beautiful tinted picture on plate paper, inserted as a frontispiece. The Christmas number will be a splendid volume in itself, containing fifty engravings, (four in tint) and although retailed at $1 will be sent without extra charge to all yearly subscribers. A CHROMO TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER—was a very popular feature last year, and will be repeated with the present volume. The publishers have purchased and reproduced at great expense, the beautiful oil painting by Seis, entitled "Dame Nature's School." The chromo is 11x13 inches, and is an exact fac-simile in size and appearance of the original picture. It will be delivered free with the January number to every subscriber who pays for one year in advance. TERMS FOR 1872:—One copy one year, with all chromo, $3.00 Five copies " " " " " " " " 15.00 Any person sending 10 names and $4.00 will receive an extra copy gratis, making 11 copies for the money.
