HAMPTONS DAY IN CAMDEN, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 18, 1878. PROGRAMME.

Precisely at 10 1/2 o'clock a. m. the procession will be formed on Broad street, (the head of column resting on DeKalb street,) in the following order: 1. Regiment of Infantry under command of Col. E. B. Cantey, 2. Democratic Clubs on foot, 3. Companies of Cavalry, 4. Democratic Clubs on horseback. As soon after the procession has been formed as may be practicable, Governor Hampton and other distinguished gentlemen, escorted by a company of cavalry, will pass up Broad street through the opened ranks of the procession, and, on passing the head of the column, will be followed by the various organizations in the order named above. The line of march will be up Broad street to Laurens; thence east to Lyttleton; thence down Lyttleton street to Hampton Square, where the speaking will take place. Democratic Clubs on foot will rendezvous at the "Bank Corner"; Cavalry companies and Democratic Clubs on horseback will assemble at the Court House. The public generally are cordially invited to unite with the Democracy of Kershaw and make the occasion one that will be long remembered with pride by all lovers of good government. WM. D. TRANHAM, County Chairman. Attorney-General Youmans. It has been our pleasure this week to meet this distinguished gentleman who visited Camden upon professional business. It gave us no little pleasure, and although we have frequently had this honor before, we are free to confess that we knew not the real power of this great man until now. He, Hampton, Kennedy and Conner were the real war-horses who pulled us through the great campaign of '76, and his name will forever be illustrious as one who gave new birth to his prostrate State. We are indebted to Col. Youmans for a copy of his great speech in Boston in his "look" after Kilmington, and we regret that our time and space does not permit us to extract copiously from it this week. We promise to do so in future. His burning eloquence, his brilliant oratory, his fervid, truthful and glowing defense of his State and her chief is one of the grandest things that we have ever read. He stood at the home of Webster himself, right under the shadow of his bronze statue, and defended constitutional liberty. It was almost enough to tear from the tomb itself this great expounder of constitutional law.

Though South Carolina has wallowed in sackcloth and ashes for ten long weary years, surely it is ended now, for one of her truest, noblest, and withal, most learned sons guards and watches her every interest. With Hampton at the helm and Youmans to advise, the ship of State will never wreck. We are anxious for our people to know and meet with Col. Youmans, and in this connection we cordially invite him to be with us on the 18th instant, in our celebration of Hampton's day.

Our University.

If there was one thing dear to the hearts of the people of South Carolina before the war, it was the South Carolina College. There our best, purest and most exalted men finished their educational career, and launched out into life. Few positions of great distinction, coupled with dignity, tone and merit, have been filled without claiming at least some share of love for this dear old institution. Hearts to-day beat warmly for her, and many of us call her "Alma Mater" with a reverence which betokens more than common affection. To mention the host of noble men that have proven worthy sons of our State is useless. They have adorned the bench, the bar, the pulpit, and every other useful walk of life, and may be called legion.

After the war this grand old college was changed into a university. Like most everything else that took place at that time, it suffered from the wounds of radicalism, deep and sore, and to our sons the place that knew their fathers could not know them. The veil of "class" was thrown all around it, and that veil was upheld by the marshal tramp of the soldier whose flag waved over the dear old chapel which had always been dedicated to God. So it has been, and deep has been the silent, long breath of many of the old students as sadly they drove around those sacred grounds and looked upon them as the mourner does upon the tomb of departed friends. In the providence of God, all has now changed. The educational mother of Hampton and Conner from many quarters we hear it said, let it rest. We urge not. Restore her once again to us. Open her up to us, and let that "pound foolish and penny wise system" of allowing the seed corn to degenerate, no longer prevail. Education is the groundwork of success. It is the pivot upon which turns a country's prosperity; and as our candidates are now chosen and will be elected, we charge them to restore to South Carolina the only color that is now obscured from her face. Work for it incessantly—make your influence felt, and let our boys go where their fathers are proud to hail from.

Death of Mrs. Sally Chesnut Mackay.

A gloom has been thrown over this entire community by the sad and untimely death of this most estimable and accomplished lady, which took place at the residence of Mrs. Reynolds, in this place, on Saturday, the 7th inst. Many indeed were the sad and troubled hearts on the beautiful morning of last Sabbath when the church bell called us to the house of worship, where there, for the first time, we learned this most painful intelligence. That one so young, so amiable, gentle and kind, adorning with her Christian virtues all the walks of life, should so soon pass from time to eternity could scarcely be realized; and no one who knew her could but exclaim, "How mysterious are thy ways, O God!" In this terrible affliction, however, it is a sweet consolation to feel and know, that as she passed down the dark valley of the shadow of death, she had a rod and staff upon which she could lean, and which would never forsake her, but bear her safely to the calm and serene shore of eternal bliss. We tender to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathies.

NEWS ITEMS.

Two inches of snow fell in Cheyenne on the morning of the 8th. A poor schoolmistress in Chicago gave $5 to Southern sufferers. The failure of the National Burglar and Theft Insurance Company of the City of New York is announced. In the Abbeville municipal election, the entire Democratic ticket was elected by an overwhelming majority. CHARLESTON now claims a business of over $44,000,000 annually, and thinks it will be largely increased as soon as the jetties are made and the channel deepened. THE German Reichstag met in Berlin on the 6th inst. The Ultramontane members have not succeeded in forming any combination, and no attention will be paid to their claims.

THE Primary election in Edgefield came off on Thursday, the 5th inst., and gave entire satisfaction. Speaker Sheppard was renominated by a large majority.

A SPECIAL from Bucharest says: "The rinderpest is rapidly extending throughout Roumania, and the authorities neglect taking precautions to prevent its spread.

THE Austrians have not succeeded in quieting the Bosians yet. In an engagement at Bihaes two Austrian officers were killed, and sixteen officers and four hundred men wounded.

A SPECIAL states that John Richmond, who was arrested for horse thieving and the murder of R. H. Cliff, at Ohetopah, Kan., recently, was taken from the train upon his arrival at Ohetopah and hung under a bridge close to the town by a party of masked men.

A COURT-MARTIAL is being held at the Springfield armory in the case of Private Diehl, who refuses to do any duty except that of blowing a horn three times a day. He says that he enlisted with the understanding that he was to be a bugler only, and he will not touch a musket.

THERE was a terrible disaster on the Thames on the evening of Sept. 3. The excursion steamer Princess Alice was returning from Gravesend to London with about 800 people on board. When off Barking, she was run into and sunk by another steamer, drowning some 600 of the passengers.

THE S. C. R. R.—Judge Bond is sick, and the suit has come to a standstill, but it is probable that he will be out again in a few days and the case will go on. The suit is instituted by the bondholders to have the road placed in the hands of a receiver, and ex-Governor Chamberlain is fighting in their cause.

ARTHUR N. Y. Corn and Flour Exchange on Sept. 6, ten fine peaches, donated by Capt. John Woodford for the yellow fever sufferers, were sold at auction. James Knox paid $35 for the first choice. One sold for $20, two for $15 each, and the balance for $10 each. Total, $145. Afterwards two peaches from another source were sold for $5 each.

THERE are reports of a fight on September 5, on Clark's Fork, between a detachment of troops and Crow Indians and about twenty lodges of hostile Bannocks. The Bannocks were defeated, and their chief and their squaw and a soldier, a citizen and a Crow scout were killed and one soldier wounded. Many Bannocks were killed.

A LARGE and enthusiastic meeting of the friends of Edward O'Meagher Condon was held in Cincinnati on the 8th instant, and resolutions adopted reciting that the efforts for his release are a matter of historical pride to those who took an active part in procuring his liberation from a British prison, and thanking Senator Matthews for his personal exertions to procure Condon's release.

GEORGE HUNTER, colored, while quarrelling with his wife near Glenn Springs on the premises of Mrs. Bobo, was attacked by his wife's aunt, whom George slapped over, when she went for her husband, Henry Gist, who soon appeared upon the scene, whereupon a regular melee ensued, in which Henry Gist was fatally wounded with a knife by George Hunter. Henry Gist was dying at last accounts and George Hunter was committed to jail in the afternoon, for investigation.

ON Wednesday the 4th inst., seven men well mounted came into the mining camp of Carraboo, Idaho, forty-five miles from Soda Springs, Idaho, where twenty or thirty miners were working on scattered claims. They robbed all of them in detail, took all the good horses with them, shot the poorest ones and left. They got about $16,000, mostly in gold dust, from the miners. It is supposed that this is the same party that took up a rail on the Union Pacific Railroad at Medicine Bow.

A REUTER'S from Constantinople states that Mehmet Ali Pasha, who was sent to pacify Albania, was mobbed at Yocava, a town sixty-seven miles northeast of Scutari. He fled from the place and took refuge in a shed, but was pursued by the Albanians, who called upon him to organize an attack against the Austrians, and upon refusing to comply with this demand Mehmet Ali and twenty members of his suite were massacred. A Reuter dispatch from Constantinople says that the Porte will shortly dispatch an embassy to Afghanistan.

THE various pretenses which the Attorney General of Massachusetts invented to enable Governor Rice to refuse to surrender Kimpton are so flimsy that really the affair would have gained decency had the Attorney General reported simply that Kimpton was a Radical thief, and the Governor declared that there was no law known to Radicalism by which a Radical Governor could be found to grant a requisition from a Democratic Governor for the body of a criminal of that description. Such a declaration would have had the merits of candor and boldness. But the alleged grounds of refusal lack even the poor virtue of ingenuity, and are open to the taint of cowardice as well as complicity with crime. There can be no doubt that General Butler would prove an eminent reformer in the footsteps of such a poor, sickly predecessor. — Washington Post.

THE bankrupt act is dead, and may the devil be good to it, for it was one of his own children. It might have been all right if the world had been made up of honest men, but this not being the case, since its passage it has aided and abetted more rascality than any other agent of its aforesaid paternal. With its death the commercial confidence which has been so completely overturned by rascally bankruptcies will slowly be restored, and a new era in business may be looked for. In the meantime there is general joy that an institution which was well meant and so badly used has passed away. — Augusta News.

A GENTLEMAN received a letter from one of the physicians who were sent from Charleston to Memphis. The letter is dated September 3d, and the doctor says: "On our arrival here we reported to the medical director for duty, and were assigned to various parts of the city. I have a portion of the Tenth Ward, where the fever has begun to be very severe. This morning I went around and saw a number of cases mostly of yellow fever of a severe grade. The people are panic stricken and seem almost indifferent to their fate, in many instances no physician having seen them. I found the body of a white man this morning in a deserted house. He had died there yesterday or last night without any aid. The various relief and charitable institutions are doing much to alleviate the distress, but cases occur of which no one knows anything until after death.

A BENEVOLENT SCHEME.—The Southern Express has set on foot a scheme for collecting money for the yellow fever sufferers which not only reflects the highest credit upon the managers of this corporation, but is calculated to accomplish more than any means yet devised for aiding these unfortunate people. A subscription paper is placed in the hands of the messengers, who are instructed to leave it with agents at all points along the line. These are asked to contribute themselves and collect as they can in their several towns and villages. As soon as the collections are made they are forwarded to such points in the afflicted districts as the officers of the company direct. The plan is working with great success. The scheme affords every one an opportunity of exercising their charitable inclinations, and in placing the money in the hands of a thoroughly reliable public carrier, whose facilities enable it to transport the funds directly to the districts. The charity which prompted the express company to adopt and carry out this scheme cannot be too highly commended. The company is doing a noble service and one which will not soon be forgotten. — Charlotte Observer.

THE TERRIBLE SCOURGE.—The anguish and despair of the People.

MEMPHIS, September 9.—The condition of the city grows more desperate every hour. Of new cases it is useless longer to keep a count. Whole families are stricken down within a few hours, and the call for nurses is greater than can be supplied. Yesterday there were about 100 deaths and 800 new cases, and to-day up to noon 70 deaths were reported. The death rate to-day will probably exceed that of any previous day.

LATER.—To-day's mortality report is larger than any day since the fever appeared, the undertakers reporting 112 interments, of which 24 were colored.

NEW ORLEANS, September 9.—For the twenty-four hours ending at noon to-day there were 144 new cases and 87 deaths. The weather is clear and pleasant. The death list includes 28 children under 7 years. From noon to 6 p. m. 33 deaths were reported to the board of health.

CANTON, September 9.—Twenty-one new cases and four deaths in the last 24 hours.

HOLLY SPRINGS, September 9.—Since last dispatch 7 deaths and 3 new cases have occurred. Many sick are in a critical condition.

LATER. MEMPHIS, September 10.—At an early hour this morning rain commenced falling, and has kept up incessantly to noon. Fifty-nine deaths have been reported up to noon, making 115 since yesterday.

VICKSBURG, September 10.—The indications are that the fever is decreasing in the number of new cases, but the mortality is fearful, the deaths yesterday numbering 46, and to-day 44. Among the deaths to-day are Cash Martin Keary, county treasurer, and J. W. Alvis, of Chattanooga, telegraph operator, who came here three weeks ago. Bishop Elder's condition is more favorable to-day. Drs. Balfour and Robbins are out again. Dr. O'Leary is sitting up. GRENADA, Miss., September 10.—The yellow fever has broken out at Senatobia, Miss. There have been over thirty cases up to date and the alarm among the citizens is very great.

MOBILE, September 10.—There was a fatal case of yellow fever here last evening. The board of health reported it as an imported case. This has been the only case here.

THE FEVER IN CANTON. CANTON, Miss., September 10.—The total number of cases to date is 248, and deaths 38. New cases in the last twenty-four hours 35, but only one death. The number of cases is increasing daily.

WASHINGTON, September 10.—Reports from all quarters to-night represent increasing sympathy and activity in behalf of the fever sufferers. The sympathy has taken a most thorough national shape. Immense meetings were held here to-day at Lincoln Hall, over which Judge McArthur presided. About $8,000 was subscribed. A car load of provisions will be sent to Memphis to-morrow, with forty nurses and other comforts.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 10.—The boxes and seats in the California Theatre were auctioned off this afternoon for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers. About $1,000 was realized in premiums. Messrs. Oats, Scotts, Siddons, Judah and Cattrill, and Messrs. Robson & Cane officiated as auctioneers. The sum of $5,000 has been received from the children of the public schools. The Citizens' Relief Committee to-day forwarded $2,000 to the Howards of New Orleans $1,500 to Memphis, and $1,500 to Vicksburg.
