The Camden Fournal. G. G. ALEXANDER, Proprietor.

CAMDEN, S. C., DECEMBER 5, 1878.

The Legislature.

It has gone right down to work. We extend our congratulations, and ask you to eat your Christmas dinner at home. and not meet any more until November 1879. It was the old custom, and is a land-mark well worthy to be guided by.

Hon. John C. Sheppard.

This gifted and talented son of South Carolina has again been called to preside over the deliberations of the General Assembly of our State without op position. Col. Sheppard is a gentleman of rare culture, and is a fine parliamentarian. He stood at his post in the dark days of 1876, and was a true sentinel upon the watch tower. His fine ability and commanding appearance, with all of those other high qualities which he possesses, eminently fit him for this or any other position to which he may be called. We congratulate the Colonel upon this renewed manifestation of confidence and honor.

Much Ado About Nothing. Just at this time the New York dailies are teeming with sensational articles in regard to the stolen body of the late A. T. Stewart. It is natural for kindred and friends to care for the remains of those that were once dear to them, but for the life of us we cannot see the use of so much ado about so little. It is true that Mr. Stewart was a great man in a ficancial point -that his ships dotted every ocean, and his checks were honored at every moneyed institution upon the globe is a fact. But this was Mr. Stewart alive, not Mr. Stewart dead, and his dead body to-day if, it is not scattered to the four winds of the earth, is no more than that of the mendicant who stood at the street corner and begged for a penny. It is but a tenement of clay, and its immortal inhabitant hus long since been required to account for its doings upon this earth. It would be a relief to hear no more of it. It matters nothing now: it is all dust, nothing more. Requiescat in pace. In making this comment. however, we will not fail to observe that this occurrence is an argument in favor of cremation, which is now being agitated by a large and influential party in this country.

An Error.

This looks like a return to the good old tines when honesty and fair dealing were the order of the day. May we ever have such good and true men to represent us-who look to the interest of their constituents, and not to self alone.

THE motion before the Supreme Court in the cases of Cardozo and Smalls was denied, and judgment of the lower Court confirmed.
