

New York Panic Prices.

One thousand yards. Just received Twenty-five pieces colored Dress Silks of every shade imaginable at fifty cents per yard. If you want to see a real good black silk, at our business place you can find it. BAUM BROS.

Many Thanks.

It is with pleasure we return many thanks to those of our subscribers who have so kindly remembered us and settled up, as well as those who have come forward and added their names to our list. We have been lenient, and even now do not want to press those who cannot conveniently pay, but we have obligations to meet, and people are often more apt to overlook a small debt than a larger one, and hence we have adhered to the old custom of reminding them by a cross mark (X) opposite their names. But if any one who knows they are in arrears should fail to see the cross mark, they need not hesitate to call and see us.

"The Old Reliable."

Through storm and tempest, and in the sunshine of prosperity, the tried old firm of Baum Bros. has stood firm as a rock in Camden. This, the fall of 1890, finds them again in the lead, marching under their old and tried banner—low prices and honest dealings. Never more varied and cheaper lot of goods have been brought to our markets than they have brought this fall. They intend to keep their big trade and enviable reputation. Go to see them and be satisfied. So says the Chronicle.

Shooting Afraid at the Camden Depot.

From the Camden correspondence of the Charleston World of Monday we copy the following account of the shooting scrape at the South Carolina Railway Depot on Sunday last: A good deal of excitement was created at the depot of the South Carolina railway this evening by a shooting scrape between conductor Cleary and a negro named Abe Reid. As the down train pulled into the depot Reid attempted to get on the platform. Capt. Cleary told him not to get on until the train stopped. The negro made some impertinent reply and still persisted in getting on, whereupon Capt. Cleary kicked him off. The negro jumped back on his steps and struck Capt. Cleary with his fist. When the train came to a full stop Capt. Cleary got off and walked towards Reid, who was standing on the platform. When Capt. Cleary got in a few steps of him Reid pulled out a pistol and fired twice at him, one of the balls grazing the Captain's coat. When Reid fired Capt. Cleary drew his pistol and returned one shot. Reid then ran to the other side of the platform and commenced firing through the crowd at Capt. Cleary, but did not hit him. However, one of his shots struck a little negro boy in the back, inflicting a flesh wound. The people are very much incensed at Reid firing through the crowd, which contained a good many children. Reid made his escape in the woods before any one could stop him. A short time afterwards he was reported as being in a house near the depot. The police and a crowd of citizens surrounded the house and made a search, but could not find him. Reid was convicted at the last term of court of carrying concealed deadly weapons, but paid a fine of $75 and got off. It is said that he was on his way to Georgia this evening when the difficulty occurred.

Plenty Points.

If you would only read our locals, you certainly can not make a mistake, for we always advise you to go to Baum Bros. for the best assorted stock. This is the best point we can give you.

The Ballot For United States Senator.

In balloting for United States Senator on Tuesday, the three candidates who developed strength were Col. J. L. M. Irby, Col. M. L. Donaldson and General Wade Hampton, but not one had anywhere near enough votes to warrant the assertion that he would be elected. All three men are in the race, and the prospect is, if each man maintains his present strength on the joint ballot, that the result will not soon be reached. From the Columbia Register of yesterday we get the following result of the first ballot: Senate—Irby, 5; Donaldson, 15; Hampton, 14. House—Irby, 50; Donaldson, 33; Hampton, 31. Total—Irby, 55; Donaldson, 48; Hampton, 45.

The Legislature.

Since the inaugural both branches of the General Assembly have settled down to business in dead earnest. They were by no means idle before, but it seemed they were waiting to receive the suggestions and recommendations of the new Executive, and from the immense amount of matter contained in the address which demands or suggests legislation, together with the large amount of work already cut out, it will probably push them to get through with it all before Christmas. They are, however, making considerable headway, and notwithstanding the many important measures yet to be considered, they will no doubt accomplish a great deal without extending the session beyond Christmas. Among some of the important measures introduced is a bill for the reduction of the salaries of Governor and Lieutenant Governor, and other State officers. Also, bill providing for the abolition of the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, and of the Board of Agriculture, and that the trustees of Clemson College shall perform the work. Also, a bill to abolish the office of Jury Commissioner, and to involve the duties and powers upon the Clerk of Court. A bill to establish a Normal and Industrial College as a branch of the South Carolina University, for the education of white girls, and to appropriate money for the same. A bill was introduced by Mr. Moseley to regulate the granting of divorces. Also, a bill by Mr. Ruesell to amend sections of an act entitled "An act to fix the fee for detaining prisoners in county jails," reducing same from 30 cents to 25 cents per day. A bill was also introduced to abolish the office of Court stenographer in the Circuit Courts of this State. Also, a bill to abolish the office of Supervisor of Registration, and to require the County Auditors to discharge the duties of said office with compensation.

WE ARE READY!

RING THE BELL!

BEAT THE DRUM.

TOOT THE HORN!

LET THE CROWD COME IN!

And Take a Look at Our Magnificent Holiday Stock.

On every point it will beat anything ever shown in this City. The Quality, Style and Prices are just what will suit you, and the assortment is large. The performance has commenced, and people are already carrying away bargains in all varieties of Holiday Goods. We are waiting to please you with gratifying bargains. Come and see them, at the old stand of

Dr. F. L. ZEMP.

THIS IS THE WAY WE DO IT!

We always try to make things attractive, but we do it in a quiet way. Yet we have kept moving onward and upward until we have now filled

FIVE FLOORS JAM UP,

(without counting our Warehouses,) with Goods, and now find that we have not yet room enough.

It is because we buy from first class Houses in large quantities for Cash, which enables us to sell our Goods at City prices, and keeps our business in a steadily growing condition.

We do not try to compete against our neighbors at home, but to the contrary, we wish them all well; but it is against the big magnates in the large Cities we try to compete, and why not? We buy where they buy, and we have the same advantages the Sterns, the Altmans and others of New York City have. We do not mind Charleston and Columbia. We can keep at par with them without much trouble.

We have succeeded in building up a business that is a pride to Camden—it is the largest in the up-country, never mind where you go. Five floors packed full with Goods, and the Rail Roads and Express brings them in every day. Always new Goods at lowest market prices.

We employ twelve Clerks, and never dismiss one during the Summer season, for we find employment for them the whole year through.

You can find at our place of business anything you wish from a cured Hog to a live Mule—from a Homespun Dress to a Silk one—from Kitchen to Parlor Furniture—from a Needle to an Anvil. We sell them cheap for cash and on credit to all who are deserving. All can trade with us.

It is impossible for us to enumerate the lines in our different departments. We have not the time or space, for if we were to attempt it, we would have to charter the whole paper, and this would be unfair to our neighbors.

Every one knows BAUM BROS., where you can find all you need at City prices, in a City-like Store. When strangers enter our Store, they are simply astonished to find an establishment in Camden where you have such an excellent and varied Stock to select from, consisting of
