

AN ADMIRABLE PAPER.

The following paper, issued by the American Minister in London, Mr. Bancroft, is worthy the patriotic pen of the Great American Historian.

DEATH OF MR. POLK.—The American Minister to our Court has notified this event to his fellow-citizens resident in this country in the following terms:

"Official intelligence has been received at this legation that James Knox Polk, so lately President of the United States, expired on the 15th day of June last. Unlike his predecessors, he has ended life before the evening of old age; but not before completing an illustrious and memorable career. The judgment of his countrymen ever marked him out for high services. Raised successively to the first places in the state—chairman of the most important Congressional committee; head of the House of Representatives of the whole American people; supreme magistrate in his own Commonwealth; President of the Federal Republic—he ever approved his fitness for the highest trusts; excelling not more in station than in laboriousness, prudence, temperance, and fortitude. He defined, established, and extended the boundaries of his country. He planted the laws of the American Union on the shores of the Pacific. His influence and his counsels tended to organize the national treasury on the principles of the constitution, and to apply the rule of freedom to navigation, trade, and industry. Most beloved where best known, he lived happily, and died in the midst of his unexampled prosperity, which his own measures had contributed to establish.

"I invite the consuls and vice-consuls of the United States, and all others of my fellow-citizens now in the United Kingdom, to share the sorrow of his family and his country. His memory as a public man lives in honour and will endure; the youth of our country will be formed to virtue by emulating the purity of his private life.

"GEORGE BANCROFT,
United States Legation,
London, July 11, 1849."

GOV. DANA, OF MAINE, AND THE LEGISLATURE.—It will be remembered that Gov. Dana, on the subject of slavery, in his inaugural, some months since, adopted the doctrines of Mr. Cass. The Legislature soon after passed a series of resolutions instructing their members in Congress to lose no opportunity of pressing the Proviso into any form of government to be provided for the new territories, and directing the Governor to sign and transmit them to the Governors of the several States of this Union.

We learn from the Portland Inquirer, that on the 17th, a message was received from the Governor, in which he refuses to sign the resolutions. He says that he would have been willing to transmit the resolutions to "the Governors of the several States of the Union," if they had been presented to him in the ordinary manner, but as they had been sent to him by the Senate for his approval and signature, the message from that body was evidently intended to request him to subscribe to opinions "diametrically opposed to those he had officially expressed." The message was ordered to be printed. Thus there is a conflict between these two branches of the government.

OWNERS OF CATTLE BOUND TO KEEP THEM OFF THE RAILROAD.—N. J. Supreme Court, July Term.—Vandergrift vs. Rediker. This was an action of trespass brought against the engineer of a locomotive for running against and killing the plaintiff's cow. The cow was at large, and had strayed upon an unenclosed part of the C. and A. Railroad, near Bordentown, just as train, at its usual speed, was approaching. The Railroad, at the place of the accident, runs along the public highway, and the view, along the track, is unobstructed for a quarter of a mile each way. The bell was tapped, and the engine reversed, a few seconds before the collision, but not in time to stop the cars. The engineer was proved to be a generally careful man in his business. The opinion of the Court was delivered at the present (July) term, by Mr. Justice Carpenter, the result of which is, that the owner of cattle is bound to keep them on his own premises at his peril; that an engineer in charge of a locomotive is not liable for an accidental injury to a cow, which suffered to go at large, has strayed on a railroad and that nothing but will make him liable for the loss of a cow so exposed by the fault of the owner.

COMMENDABLE.—The young men of St. Louis have formed themselves into an association for the purpose of taking care of orphans, and relieving the sick and poor.

TEA AND COFFEE.—The salutary as well as the injurious effects of those vegetable substances which contain the astringent principle are illustrated in the use of tea and coffee, a moderate quantity of either improving digestion, while a larger disturbs the heart, causes restlessness, and prevents sleep.—Medical Times.

RAILROAD DAMAGES.—The Washington Railroad Company have had to pay Coster Washington, who received damages occasioned by their cars running off the track in September last, the sum of $5,000, besides costs.

Many mills and factories are stopped in Massachusetts for want of water.
A correspondent of Holden's Magazine tells an anecdote of an old widow, who, when her pastor said to her, "God has not deserted you in your old age," replied, "No, sir, I have a very good appetite still."

New Arrangement.

Mr. BERGER, has the honor to inform the ladies and gentlemen of Sumterville and vicinity, that his DANCING SCHOOL, is now open at the Town Hall. He also informs them that in order to accommodate persons, who do not stay in town, he will teach any day of the week those who cannot attend always the regular class. By that arrangement one can take one, or even two, private lessons in a single day if he chooses to do so, and learn as much in that day as he would in three regular lessons; (this is as regards steps because to learn the figures there must be eight persons) and they will avoid by that, at least, half the trouble and expense that would be incurred, should they come in town three times a week. The price of tuition is also greatly reduced. For particulars apply at China's Hotel.

Bradford Springs.
Mr. BERGER would be willing to go and teach a Class at the Springs three times a week, should the citizens of that place form a class for him.

Residence and Lots for Sale.
The subscribers offers for sale the PREMISES immediately adjoining the town of Sumterville, in a south-eastern direction, known as the residence of a late Daniel Norton.
The Lots contain a body of about 23 acres of Land, contiguous to the business portion of the town, and through a part of them run the contemplated Rail Road from Manchester to Wilmington. It would be desirable to sell to a single purchaser the whole of said lots, and to such the terms would be made accommodating.

Offers will also be entertained by the subscriber for all his Lands lying on Turkey Creek, near Sumterville. They contain in all about 425 acres of high land, swamp, oak and hickory, well timbered, with a proportion of cleared and open lands. A more accurate description and a better estimate value of those Lands can be formed upon application, either personally or by letter, to the subscriber.
To an enterprising farmer this tract presents advantages and facilities not surpassed by any other location in the State, and to an approved purchaser accommodating terms will be granted. Communications addressed to me at the Bank of Charleston, Charleston, S. C., will meet due attention.
