{ TERMS, $2 a year in advance,

VOL. IV.

SUMTERVILLE, S. C. DECEMBER 12. 1849.

TERMS:

Two Dollars in advance, Two Dollars and terous leap of thought, by which the Three Dollars at the end of the year.

No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid, unless at the option of the Proprietor

TAdvertisements inserted at 75 cts. per square, (14 lines or less,) for the first and half that sum for each subsequent insertion Tr The number of insertions to be marked on all Advertisements or they will be publish-charged accordingly.

If One Dollar per square for a single sertion. Quarterly and Monthly Advert ments will be charged the same as a so-nsertion, and semi-monthly the same as a

All Obituary Notices exceeding six lines, and Communications recommending Canddates for public offices or trust-or puffing Exhibitions, will be charged as Advertiseents.

J. All letters by mail must be paid to in-

Aure punctual attendance.

Or Rev. Frederick Rush, is a travelling Agent for this paper, and is authorized to re-AGENTS FOR THE BANNER.

Messrs. WHITE, & Co. Sumterville, S. C. T. W. Pegues, Esq., Camden, S. C.

Choice Poetra.

THE GAY WORLD.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

Pass on, thou World, Follow the prosperous and the great, Nor aympathise with suff-ring fate : Nor let one tear for others flow ; Pass or -the poor and friendless know ; 'Tis not for long !

Thy halls are bright With music, beauty all that Wealth reveals; Why should theu pause to think what misery feels:

With what sad terrors poverty must cope; Pass on-the wretched look to heaven, and

Thy pucks and lawns Yield health, and bloom, and ever peaceful

In streets confined-in alleys cheer and lorn , Pass on-there is God's rose for sorrow's thorn; 'Tis not for long !

ILL-TEMPER .- It is undoubtedly ttrue, that more misery is produced anmong us by the irregularities of our And it happens unfortunately, that these irregularities of the temper are firesides, where everything ought to be tranquil and serene. But the truth is. we are awed by the presence of strangers, and are afraid of appearing weak or ill-natured when we get out into the world, and so very heroically reserve all our ill-humour for our wives, children and servants. We are meek where we HINTS TO LADIES .-- Men of sense -I speak not of boys of eighteen to five-and-twenty, during their age of detestability-men who are worth the trouble of falling in he with, and the russ and inconvenienc of being married to, and to whom one might, after some inward confets, and a course perhaps of fastin and self-humiliation. submit to fulfil the ill-contrived yows d of obedience whichere exacted at the alter-such men want for their companions women, not dels; and women who would suit such den are just as capable of loving ferently, deeply, as the Ringlettina, full f song and sentiment-who can not valk-cannot rise oots-never in her lite brushed out her beautiful hair --- would not, for the plain sewing; but who can work harder sheperdess --- dance like a dervise at Almack's -ride like a fox-bunter and, whilst every breath of air gives her house, and she cannot think how people to dinner-parties in February and a-quarter of boddice. [Mrs. Thompson.

THE KOOH-I-NOOR DIAMOND .- The great diamond captured lately at Lahore by the English army, and which is the largest, the most beautiful, and the most valuable gem that is to be found in the world, is not to go to the Crown, that is, to Queen Victoria, as booty, but is taken by the English East India Company Conthe States to the India government." ad it was stipulated by treaty that this would have been military booty, and as such, have been at the disposal of the British sovereig . The Kooh-I-noor diamond weighs about one Thousand carats, and, as the value of a monds is calculated by lapidaries and others, must be worth several millions of co tars.

mind escapes from a seemingly hopeless this readiness in repartee which continually saved Voltaire from social over- much more temperate than in the North speak so well of him, for he says that but nourish, forming a lrage item in-you are a charlatan.' 'O!' replied Voldeed in the pabulum of the peasant. must all have heard the anecdote of the very dogmatically about the appropriate sphere of woman. 'And pray, sir,' bring you sir,-too much brain.' A rapid change from enthusiasm to nonchalance is often necessary in society. Thus a person one cloquently eulogizing the angelic qualities of Joan of Arc, was suddenly met by the petulant question, 'What was Joan of Arc made of?' is never upset by the astonishing. He walks among the Alps with his hands in his pockets, and the smoke of his cigar is seen among the mists of Niagara. One of this class sauntered into the office of the lightning telegraph, and a message to Washington. 'Ten minutes,' was the reply. 'I can't wait,' was ous in all these respects. Hence the rejoinder. Sheridan, who never bad effects of the wines imported and ambitions of place.—Whipple's Lee endurance of neglect and ridicule; the was without a reason, never failed to ex- used in England and America. triente himself in any emergency by his wit. At a country house, where he the power of giving good advice and the was once on a visit, an elderly maiden ability to act upon it. Theoretical Why seek the couch where haggard sickness lady desired to be his companion in a wisdom is, perhaps, rarely associated walk. He excused himself at first on with practical wisdom; and we often from being the least important that be- character and the comprehension of such the ground of the badness of the weath find that men of no talent whatever longs to writing. True, the production an intelligence. Still the lovers and er. She soon afterwards, however, in- contrive to pass through life with credit tercepted him in an attempt to escape and propriety, under the guidance of without her. "Well,' she said, it is a kind of instinct: These are the per- fancy go even in the strongest minds; no accumulation of knowledge or series cleared up, I see.' 'Why yes,' he and some who seem to stumble, by mere and it is only by keeping them within of experiences can teach the meaning swered, it has cleared up enough for good luck, upon the philosopher's stone. one, but not enough for two.' It was In the commerce of life every thing superfluous, and adopting the true and additions and results, any more than this readiness which made John Ran- they touch seems to turn into gold.

BRIGHTANT REPARTEES .- The dexe-

officer, however, sustained him; and most apt to display themselves at our Thersites of Congress, a tongue-stabber. that there should be the luxury of the might meet with opposition, but feel ourselves un launtedly bold where we are sure of no effectual resistance.

pointing his long, skinny fingers at his opponents, Randolph screamed cont rats, dri'l'say? mice mice.' THE FASHION .-- Deformity is as often the fashion as beauty the fashion, and their vanity, or interest, or conclaisince, bribes their understanding to disbelieve even their senses. If cleanliness is the fashion, then cleanliness is admired; if dirt, hair powder, and pociatum, are the fashion, then dirt, hairpowder, and pomatam are admired just as much, if not more, from their being disagreeable. The secret is, that fashin the morning—cannot tie her bounet-strings—faints if she has to lace her are in our power and that are nearly indifferent in themselves, those who possess certain other advantages that are world, prick her delicae finger with not in our power, and that the posses ors are as little disposed to part with, than a factory girl upon a lamb's wool as they are eager to obtrude them upon the notice of others by every external symbol at their immediate control. We think the cut of a coat fine, because cold in her father's gloomy country- it is worn by a man with ten a thousand a year, with a fine house, and a fine can endure this climate, she can go out carriage; as we cannot get the ten thousand a year, the house or the carriage, March, with an inch of sleeve and half- we get whet we can-the cut of the fine gentleman's goat, and thus are in the ENVY is frequently the foundation of ill reperts There is a jealousy in some characters which renders the success of others the subject of malevolence jestead of approbation. The sudden dipression of those with whom they are connected, would give fecility; but if little office relative to their toilet, which account:" that is, as the English papers they are exalted in the scale of society, they are capable of performing. They say, "it is to be appropriated to the liqui- and seceive the just encomiums of merdation of the accumulated debt due by one it, it creates hatred. They now cease other possessions, in neat order, and upon a level with; and as they will not see by what principles they is no should be made of it, otherwise have deen distanced, they seek to avoid as independent of the services of others comparison, and begin to detract either as possible, fitting them alike to make from the moral or intellectual qualities of good use of prosperity and to meet with those whomethey once loved. Thus fortitude any reverses of fortune that many befall them. I know of no rank, len look of suspicion.

TEMPERANCE IN WINE COUNTRIES. ! -My observations in France, as well as in Germany and Italy (says Durdilemma, is worth all the vestments of bin, in his "Observations on the Hisdignity which the world holds. It was tory of Europe"), satisfy me that the people in wine-growing countries are turn. He once praised another writer of Europe and in America. The comvery heartily to a third person. 'It is mon wines which are used on the soil very strange,' was the reply, 'that you that produces them do not intoxicate, taire, 'I think it very likely that both of When he goes out to his daily toil he us may be mistaken.' Again, you carries with him a loaf of coarse black bread and a canteen of wine, and these young gentleman who was discoursing refresh and sustain him: he rarely tastes meat, butter and cheese. This vin ordinaire makes a part of his breakscreamed out an old lady, 'what is the fast, of his dinner, and of his evening appropriate sphere of woman?' 'A ce- meal; and costs him, perhaps, two or lestial sphere, madam!' Robert Hall three cents a bottle, if he purchase it. his misfortunes once visited him in the of spirit and skilful combination of drugs it is, it does not proceed from the use largely into the sustenance of the peasantry and common people, but from

No hyperbole of contempt or scorn carpeted floor, the righly cushioned sohe could over top it with something These elegancies gild the apartments, more scornful and contemptuous. Op- but they reach not the heart. It is position only maddened him into more neatness, order, and a cheerful heart Mr. President,' said he one day in the it so often is found to be There is Senate, 'that the noble bull-dogs of the joy, as real, as heartfelt, by the cottage administration should be wasting their fire-side, as in the most splendid saprecious time in worrying the rats of loons of wealth and refinement .the opposition.' Immediately the Sen- What a lovely picture has Burns given ate was in an uproar, and he was clamorously called to order. The presiding home, after the labours of the day:-"At length his lonely cot appears in view,

The expectant west thigh, tondering, stagger To mert their dad, with fluttering noise and gice. His clean heath stone, his thriftie wifle's smile. The lisping infant prattling on his knee, es all his weary catking cares beguile. And makes bian quite forget his labour am

The luxuries and elegancies of life are not to be despised. They are to be retheir possessions does not insure happioison from everything that is beautiful and sweet; others, like the bee, will gather honey from sources in which we hould think no sweet could be found. The cheerful heart, like the kaleidoscope, causes most discordant materials to arrange themselves into harmony

OCCUPATION FOR CHILDREN .-- The habits of children prove that occupation is a necessity with most of them .-They love to be busy even about nothing, still more to be usefully employed. With some children it is a strongly developed physical necessity, and if not turned to good account, will be productive of positive evil, thus verifying the old adage, that "idleness is the mother of mischeif." Children should be encouraged, or if independant, diciplined into performing for themselves every should also keep their own clothes and fetch for themselves whatever they want; in short they should learn to be altar if caprice, or devoted to the sul- however exalted, in which such a system would not prove beneficial.

did not lose his power of retort even in It is the juice of the grape, not deri- He and Dr. Shelbeare were both pen- judge too harshly and at first sight. madness. A hypocrital condoler with ving its body or taste from an infusion sioned at the same time. The report mad-house, and said, in a whining tone, as in our country, but from the genial sioned two bears, a he-bear and a she sun would be pronounced to turn significantly touched his brow with his what I have here said is supported by cast such sombre tinges on life, was in encircling the orb of day. finger, and replied, 'What'll never the general remark, that drunkenness society a brisk, lively man, continually is but seldom seen in France; and when pelting his hearers with pucrile puns. of the common wine which enters so granduer of the Night Thoughts, ex- and found their way into social circles 'Madam,' said he, 'there is much difbrandy and foreign wines, particularly ference between writing and talking. the first, to the allurements of which The same poet's favorite theme was the 'She was Maid of Orleans.' A Yankee the hard-worked and closely confined nothingness of worldly things; his famechanics, artizans, and dense factory | vorite pursuits was rank and riches.populations of the capital and large Had Mrs. Carter noticed this incongru- understood: the vulgar great are comtowns are particularly exposed. I am ity, she might have added. 'Madam, obliged to believe that the use on the there is much difference between wrisoil of any native wines in any country ting didactic poems and living didactic those who admire; but he who deserves is conducive to health, cheerfulness, and poems.' Bacon, the most comprehen- the higher reverence, must himself conasked how long it would take to transmit temperance; and I am as equally consive and forward-looking of modern in vert the worshipper .- The pure and vinced that all foreign wines are injuri- tellects, and in feeling one of the most lofty life; the generous and tender use

Condensing.—There by be many lessons by which the sympathies of man-authors who understand this art, but kind must be interested, and their faculfew who practice it, though it is far ties educated, up to the love of such a of ideas must ever stand first, but to scholars will be few: still the rewards of what undue lengths will the unchecked fame will be seanty and ill-protioned: proper bounds, discarding the weak and of genius to those who look for it in beautiful, that we can ever hope to give the numbers studed round a planet's dolph so terrible in retort. He was the It is not essential to the happy home anything worthy of the admiration of orbit could approach nearer infinity posterity. Some can never write a letter without filling the whole sheet, and if thought must remain apart from the and endearments that cluster around could be launched against him, but fa, the soft shade of the astral lamp. - the ink holds out they will write across world of action, for, if they once coin- that hallowed spot to fill the void of his and across the paper again; so that what cided, the problem of Life would be aching heart, and wile away his leisat first was scarcely intelligible, at last solved, and the hope, which we call ure moments in the sweetest of life's defies not only the skill and ingenuity of heaven, would be realized on earth .rilliant bitterness. 'Isn't it a shame, which make home that sweet paradise man to understand, but defeats every attempt to read it, while a clever man's letter is ever short, pithy, and intelligent, and you feel satisfied on arriving at the end of his epistle. Many a young author of real talents, begins his prous of the return of the cottager to his fession by labouring too much in the collecting and joining together of words To collect words will ever be a common Land cagy labour to originate and condense ideas a rare and difficult one .-The very best author is but an artificer of a higher grade, and be assured that by learning to condense you will greatly increase the number of your readers.

> AN ANECDOTE WELL TOLD,-During the recent Railroad Convention ceived with gratitude to Him who has at this place, towards the closing scene rovided them for our enjoyment. But a resolution was introduced by one of our Anderson friends, proposing that ness. The sources of true joys are not the Company proceed to purchase land so shallow. Some persons, like some and creet work shops at Anderson villreptiles, have the faculty of extracting age for the entire route. Various ten a treatise on this subject and preamendments were offered which cut down and altered the resolution materially-when Gen. Whitner arese, and with much gravity remarked, these amendments reminded him of an anecdote related by Dr. Franlin of a certain John Brown a hatter by trade, who desiring to advertise drew up an advertisement as follows, "John Brown makes and sells hats, for ready cash' -but before publishing it, he concluded to consult his friends. Showing it to one he advised him to strike out "for ready cash,' for" said he, "your patrons will soon learn your terms." Brown thought this well enough, and meeting another, his counsel was to "leave out 'makes,' for it is no matter who makes the oil, saturated with iron, becomes them," and this was stricken out, and the advertisment then read "John Brown sells hats." Presenting it to a third in this form for his views, he replied, "who in the name of Heaven would suppose that you gave hats away, I would leave out 'sells hats' also,' which was done, and the advertisement then read simply, "John Brown."

This ancedote was told in an admirable style, and never was one more appropriately thrown in to illustrate a po sition. At the recital of it, the whole Convention was convulsed with laugh ter .- Abbeville Banner.

Contentment is this worlds happiness.

Inconsistencies of Genius .-- Of | What is Prejudice -- Prejudice is the relations of authors to social life, of the contrast of judgment, since it antic- al honors paid to Worth, Duncan and their habits, manners, dispositions in ipates reflection. It has often been Gates, John Van Buren delivered an society, as contrasted with those displayed in their writings, a great deal thought, as well as of speech, entails ing anecdotes of the former: that is interesting might be said. A very fatal consequences; and that the man of letters is often a man with two man who, through life, can wisely steer charges by order of General Jackson, natures, -- one a book nature, the other clear of this double inconvenience, de and a court of inquiry was investigating a human nature. These two often serves the appel'ation of happy. He his conduct in Florida, a party of genclash sadly. Seneca wrote in praise thinks, and thinks again, before he lets themen met in this city, and after dinner of poverty, on a table formed of solid his tongue mingle in the flow of conver- the conversation turned upon the subgold, with two millions of pounds let sation, and consults his inmost self ere ject of Scott's services. Worth, indigman; yet a writer unexcelled for pathos and charity. Sir Richard Steele wrote excellently well on temperance, when he was sober. Dr. Johnson's essays in eventures to decide. He has also nant at the proceeding, was describing the part which Scott took in the battle of Niagara. He said that Scott's bright he were advancing, towards evening, by a simple contrivance within this out at usury. Sterne was a very selfish he ventures to decide. He has also nant at the proceeding, was describing stand the question, sir!' were too com- veil that unfolds each object, and dis-

What would the result be, if we

The prejudices of a single mind can easily be destroyed; but when they Mrs. Carter, fresh from the stern, dark have been reduced into regular systems, pressed her amazement at his flippancy formed to accredit them, there is no

> CONSOLATION FOR GENIUS .- Let no man, who is in anything above his fellows, claim, as of right, to be valued or prehended or adored, because they are in reality in the same moral plane with strange and cruel end of so much genious and so much virtue-these are the

And therefore men Are cradled into poetry by wrong : They learn in suffering what they teach in

CHINESE METHOD OF COLORING HATR .-- M. Stanislaus Julien, the learned orientalist, has communicated to the French Institute the Chinese method of coloring hair. It is said that the Chinese have succeeded in reaching and transforming, by meanse of medicine and a peculiar diet, the liquid which colors the bilous system, and giving to white or red hair a black tint, which maintains itself during the continued growth. The coloring is produced by means of certain substances more real joy than bags of gold and mixed with the food and drink. These substances are not hurtful to the body, having for basis and elements ferrugious principles which are recommended by physicians, and always successfully employed. M. Debay, who has writpared a formula of the means to be employed, says: It is astonishing that the physiologists who have experimented and succeeded in coloring the bones of living animals, red, by making them cat and digest madder, have not thought of seeking in the same way to color red and white hair black. The hair and the beard belong to vegetable life, and are disposed to the same phenomena. In fact, after a sufficient quantity of ferruginous salts has been introduced into the body, the circulation takes them | ted since ! What empires have been up; the blood loaded with these substances deposites them in the follicles of the no longer bounds our territory, but from hair, which in turn, pours them into the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the black, and the whole hair with it.

M. Imber at present bishop in China, offers, according to the testimony of the Abba Voisin, one of the directors of foreign missions, a living proof of this irerval coloring of the hair and beard. It is by this method that the Chinese, correcting the vagaries of nature, have been able to claim the title from the highest antiquity of the black-haired

The Pope blessed the Neapolitan army on their flight from Roman territory, as follows: "I bless'd you marching to the fray, I bless you now you've ran away; If other honor you have not, You'll always be a blessed lot,"

'While General Scott was under

he was sober. Dr. Johnson's essays mies; and, he consequently never deter- under the cover of a wood, from which on politeness were admirable; yet, his mines, without having first deeply they were to deploy into the open field; 'You lie, sir!' and 'You don't under searched into the matter. He lifts the Scott had already had one horse shot under him, and, as the column were mon characteristics of his colloquies. - covers that it would be madness to deploying, his second horse fell, and he became entangled under it. The column wavered, and Worth, then his immediately flew, that the king had pen- trusted to our eyes only? Why, the youngest aid, rushing to his assistance, der. It is capable of being loaded at the dismounted, and tendered him his horse, breech as often as it is fired off, and as ra-What brought you here, Mr. Hall? soil and beneficient sun. The truth of bear. Young, whose gloomy fancy around the earth, instead of the latter saying, General, can you mount, the pidly as a man's hand can move to throw column falters for a leader?' Scott in a cartridge. This is at the rate of 12 immediately mounted, and riding to the head of the column, cried out, 'Advance men! the night's our own," and Worth followed Scott, as his aid on foot. At this moment a discharge of grape from a single cannon prostrated Scott, the horse which he rode, and his aid, Worth. Scott and Worth were immediately cessively without any interruption,-The carried to the rear, Scott seriously, moment that the 24th ball is fired, this and Worth, as it was supposed, mortally wounded. Attention was, of course, first paid to the commanding officer .-After some time a deep groan was heard, apparently from the adjoining tent, and Scott, with that forgetfulness of himself which distinguishes him on such occasions, begged the surgeon to of the rare creative faculty; the brave repair to the quarter whence the sound proceeded, and attend, as he said, 'to poor Worth, who must be dying.' In-stead of this, as Worth concluded, the cry of agony proceeded from my faith-ire from the pinning. The execution cry of agony proceeded from my faithful dying charger, who had managed to drag himself upon three legs to the edge of my tent, where he had lain down to die.' Pausing for a moment, while there was hardly a dry eye in the company, he added —'I beg your pardon, gentlemen, I find that, in defending Gen. Scott I have been incidentally led to describe my own service.'

> THE SWEETNESS OF HOME .-- He who has no home has not the sweet the famous Prussian fireneedle gui joys. Is misfortune your lot, you will find a friendly welcome from hearts beating true to your own. The chosen partner of your toil has a smile of approbation when others have deserted, a hand to help when all others refuse, and a heart to feel your sorrows as her own. Perhaps a smiling cherub, with prattling glee and joyous laugh, will drive all sorrow from your care-worn brow, and enclose it in the wreaths of domestie bliss.

No matter how humble the home each other without being hurt. may be, how desticate ris stores or how poorly its inmates are clad; if true hearts dwell there, it is yet a home--a cheerful, prudent wife, obedient and affectionate children, will give their possessor windy honor.

The home of a temperate, industrious, honest man, will be his greatest joy. He comes to it "weary and worn," but the sound of the merry laugh and happy voice of childhood cheers him; a plain but healthful meal awaits him. Envy, ambition, and strife have no ence, he lays his weary limbs down to rest in the bosom of his family, and under protecting care of the poor man's friend and help.

Extention .-- An old political song, sung in the days of Thomas Jefferson, contains the following lines:

From Georgia to Lake Champlain. From seas to Mississippi's shore," &c. How vastly has our country been extenadded to its domain. The Mississippi St. Croix to the Rio Grande, our flag waves over every foot of land. should sing now-a-days-

"From the Rio Grande's waters to the ley lakes of Maine,"

From the broad Atlantic's billows to Nevada's golden chain,

The binner of our country over all dominion

Making one the million hearts that beat high beneuth its folds.

Bayard Taylor, in a letter from California, says that those who return home disappointed say they have been humbugged about the gold. The fact is, they have humbugged gold. The fact is, they have humburged themselves about the work. If they expect to make money out of the earth without seNO. 7.

A NEW RIFLE.

A new death-dealing weapon in the in New York: that besides its more legitimate uses among sportsmen, must render war still further impracticable. It is known as Jennings' Patent Rifle, is designed to be an almost endless repeater; and to avoid the great difficulty of cap-ping and priming each load, and also to be uncommonly free from dirt, added to which is a force we have never seen equalled. The Journal of Commerce

By a simple contrivance within this stock, the breech pin of the barrel is opened as the gun is cocked. A cartridge is placed in this opening, and on pulling the trigger, the pin closes the harrel tight, a strong block of steel falls behind it, and the gun primes itself and is discharged, all at one motion. It is so simple that it can hardly by any accident get out of orshots per minute, for a person who has practised with the gun. Another variety of the same gun is now nearly completed by the patentees, in which the ramrod is a tube of the same size, capable of containing 24 cartridges, which are so arranged that they are placed in the barrel one by one, and fired sucgun may be used as the first one, loaded at the breech.

But the chief strength of this formidable weapon rests on the cartridge which is used, and for which, indeed, the gun it expressly manufactured. This cartridge which is also patented, is simply a loaded ball. A hollow cone of lead, or rather a bullet elongated on one side in a hollow cylinder to about one inch in length, it filled with powder, and the end covered which this ball does, is no less, surprising then everything else connected with the gun. At forty rods the balls were buried nore than four inches in the body of a live butternut tree.

The priming is in small pills, of which 100 are placed in a box, from which the gun supplies itself without fail.

More Inventions for Killing .- Mon sicur Vandenberg of Bru 31s, has invented a new gun, said to be far better that From six to eight discharges can be mad in a minute; the carrying distance is from 2000 to 2300 feet; the ball weighs about one ounce and a quarter, and the powder is one twelfth the weight of the ball. An ordinary gun requires three times more powder, although the ball does not weigh half an ounce. The new gun is loaded from the breech. The shape of the ball is round, not conical as in the Prussian gun. It is not consoling to think that so much ingenuity is spent by men in devi-sing means to kill each other, but if men will fight let them be assured that they will lose their lives. The courageous men of the middle ages would not have fought one fiftieth part so much, if they had not been so well protected by armor that they could hack a long time at ALLEGES BURYING ALIVE. -In the midst of exaggeration and invention, there is one undoubted circumstance which formerly excited the worst apprehensions: the fact that bodies were often found turn ed in their coffins and the grave clothes disarranged; But what was useribed, with seeming reason, to the threes of vitality, is now known to be due to the agency of corruption. A gas is developed in the decayed body which mimics by mechanical force, many of the movemen: of ife. So powerful is this gas in corpses that have lain long in the water, that M. place there; and, with a clear consci- Devergie, the physician to the Morgae at Paris, and the author of a text-book out legal medicine says: that unless secured to the table, they are often heaved to and thrown to the ground. Frequently, strangers seeing the motion of the limbs, run to the keeper of the Morgue, and announce with horror that a person is alive. All bodies, sooner or later, generate gas in the grave; and it constantly twists about the corpse, blows out the skin till it rends with distention, and sometimes bursts the coffin itself. When the gos explicites with a noise, imagination has converted it into an outcry or groan; the grave has been re-opened; the position of the body confirmed the suspicion, and the laceration been taken for evidence that the wretch had gnawed his flesh in the frenzy of despair. So many are the circumstances which will constantly occur to support a conclusion that is more unsubstantial than the fabric of a dream. [Quarterly Review.

"You know what physical training is of course, Mrs. Partington!" said the doctor is a mild way. "Oh yes," replied she; "I've jest seen a picture of a whole family of twelve children that took nothing upon airth but pille for thirty years! The e was physical training for you." The doctor shock his head as if incredulous. "What sort of pills might they be, so nutricious!" "Veg-ctable pills. vere labor, they are wofully mistaken. Of the sure," west he response, gravely untered, all classes of men, those who pave streets and quarry limestone are best adapted for gold diggers.

Whether she meant a pun or not, low can tell, but the ceasequences were very secons. but the consequences were very se cons-