THE INDIAN PRISONERS .- The fol- [lowing extract of a letter written from Palatka, speaking of the eleven Indians recently captured, we find in the New York Times:

Plast Sunday morning this village was thrown into quite an excitement by the arrival of a party of eleven Indians, who were captured near Enter. prize and are now here, waiting to be sention, probably to Arkamas. There They were nearly naked, but Lave to see them. Walking in the hammock, I came upon the house where they are confined, and stopped. Such are! The children have an unpleasant said here, that in these affrays on the borders, the whites are almost invariably the aggressors. A very low class of whites live near the Indians, and do not scruple to provoke the Indians to to have their loses made good by the Government.'

THE SANTA FE PORGERIES.—The St. Louis Republican states that the party guilty of the heavy frauds upon Gov ernment, committed at Santa Fe, is Gustavus McHarcourt, a man who has been long employed in the army, and who has heretofore borne a good reputation. Enjoying the highest confidence of all his employers, he was necessarily entrusted, to some degree, with the control of the official business at Santa Fe, and, taking advantage of his position, effected sundry alterations and false entries in the books of the Quar termaster's Department, whereby the sum of $50,000 has been abstracted. A reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the culprit was offered by Capt. Easton, by whom McHarcourt was employed and that officer still professes his willingness to pay the amount, in order to secure the defaulter.

MR. CLAY'S HEALTH.-A Washington letter to the New York Courier and Enquirer, says: Mr. Clay is again relapsing into a condition of serious prostration, after having been for some time couraged by cheering symptoms. It is plainy that the sands are running low in his glass of life, and that the sun, which once so brilliantly illumined the political firmanent, is fast descending to the horizon below which it will soon disappear forever.

A friend who was present at a recent address, delivered at Huntsville (Ala.) by Gen. Sam Houston, informs us, that Gen. He requested those present to give as much publicity to the tact as possible. In a conversation by agents, gratis.
