Entered as second class mail matter at the post office at Pageland, S. C., under Postal Act of March 3, 1879.

December 13, 1916.

Will somebody kindly tell us why any man should get drunk for Christmas. Of all the times in the year this is the best time to stay sober.

Plan now to make the holiday season one of pleasure for all the family. The man of the house too often forgets, and is apt to think that what is pleasant for him is pleasant for all. He should remember that the faithful mother and the little ones have hopes and desires, and that a little kindly consideration will bring joy. Let this be the Christmas all will remember as the one when each one was happy.
Make yourself happy by bringing joy to others.

On Monday of this week fifty-three money orders were issued at the post office here, and thirty-nine of them were for liquor.
If we had the Regular Army of the United States and the National Guard of all the States to protect us hourly for the next fifteen years we should like to go down to the station and get the name on each package of liquor as it comes in and publish the entire list. When we gave out a list of all classes, including some of the good old Amen-corner brethren, we should expect trouble and lots of it.
The stronger the guard the safer we would feel after such a list should go out.

The cotton market has been playing some strange pranks for a few days, and the buyers who were loaded have been looking about for warehouse room.
The writer has expressed the hope that the local buyers may sell out at or above cost and that the market would then stay on the decline until the 10-cent notch is reached again. Of course, we do not expect to see this, but it seems to us that this would aid in more than one way some who are to suffer because of high priced cotton. A steady decline in the price of the fleecy staple would have a tendency to check the soaring prices of all other commodities. It would also prevent a wild scramble for land to plant in cotton next spring. Suppose cotton should cling to the 20-cent round until spring, how many farmers would plant enough corn, peas and other food and feed crops to supply them? Suppose also that everything should be planted in cotton and cultivated on a 20-cent basis and then the price should be 10 cents. The long faces of 1914 would be short and symmetrical compared with what you would see where the bland smile has been worn this fall.
Yes, we would like to see the price of cotton come right on down to 10 cents by February first.

Letters to Santa Claus

Dear Old Santa Claus—I am a little boy 5 years old. I wish you would bring me an automobile with two seats and a little train with 5 box cars, some nice fruits and candies. And Santa Claus please remember all the little children. Merry Christmas to you.

Miss Mims On Vacation

Miss Stella Mims, home demonstrator, left last Friday on her vacation. She went to Albemarle, N. C., where she will visit her sister before going to her home in Barnwell county. She will return in February to again take up her work. It was one of the best days work the Chesterfield county delegation ever did when they made possible the office of home demonstrator for Chesterfield county. A better woman for the place could not have been found than Miss Stella Mims.—Chesterfield Advertiser.
