Three brothers named Morgan were drowned while bathing in the Chattanooga river Saturday, near Chattanooga. One was seized with cramps and the other two went to his assistance, when all three went down.

THERE promises to be a lively scramble for Judge Cothran's position on the bench. Almost every county in the district has an aspirant for the place, and the race will furnish an interesting contest at the next session of the Legislature.

ONE of the first acts of the Legislature should be the reorganization of the State Department of Agriculture. If it is intended for the benefit of the farmers, why not let them manage it? They could get along about as well with it as the professional men.

JUDGE J. S. COTHRAN has been nominated for Congress from the Third District in place of Hon. D. Wyatt Aiken, who declined a re-election. Judge Cothran is a most excellent gentleman, and will make a worthy successor to Mr. Aiken, who retires on account of ill health.

SO FAR as we have observed, the New Haven Palladium appears to enjoy the unenviable distinction of being the only paper that attempts to appeal to war passions to create prejudice against the homeless people of Charleston. The New York Star says that editor must have in his composition some of the stuff out of which devils are made.

"Every day at 1 o'clock $300,000,000 sit around a little mahogany table in an upper room in the Western Union building and eat a plain but substantial lunch," says the New York Sun. "The millions belong to Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Russell Sage and ex-Governor Alonzo B. Cornell. All were country boys and wore shoes only on Sunday."

To avoid dissensions and divisions the Democratic party must be careful to nominate only clean and capable men for public office. An unsavory and corrupt record, possessed by any candidate, may bring about rebellion upon the part of the best portion of the party, and such revolts are always sure to be of incalculable and almost irreparable injury to the party itself, and yet they may be expected if care is not taken in the selection of candidates.

STILL another good man has gone wrong. This time it is Mr. George M. Bartholomew, of Hartford, Conn., president of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, who is short in his accounts. The defalcation amounts to $127,000, and will cause the company's affairs to be placed in the hands of a receiver. As usual, the directors never heard or suspected anything, and are taken completely by surprise. If they had to make up the loss rendered possible only through their own neglect, they would not be quite so trustful. It is other people's money that has been stolen, however, and the directors are merely "very sorry."

PROFESSOR MENDENHALL, of the weather bureau, says there may probably not be another severe earthquake in Charleston for centuries. That there continues to be a rumbling in the earth, he says, is a favorable sign. It shows that the earth is acquiring stability gradually, and there is not apt to be another violent shock. It seems likely from their investigations that the centre of disturbance was deep seated and that the shock was not volcanic. There was no heat attending it. The professor thinks it criminal for Wiggins to frighten nervous people by his predictions, and that he ought to be suppressed.

MAN'S faithful friend, the dog, covered himself with dishonor the other day. We note the circumstance with regret, because we had come to look upon the dog as a great boon. This particular dog was on a boat containing a small pleasure party. The craft upset, and the dog, instead of doing the usual thing, and swimming ashore with the whole party in his mouth, drowned two of them by climbing on their backs to save himself. His master was one of the persons the noble animal succeeded in drowning. This incident, when linked with the exploit of the fierce North Carolina blood-hound, shakes our faith in the dog, except as to his admitted ability as a meat eater.

This North Carolina hound that had not killed a man for some days, was turned out of his lair and sent to hunt down a noted bank robber who had escaped from the officers. A day or two later the bank robber was sighted in the woods, leading the fierce blood-hound along by a string. It is time dogs were doing something to redeem themselves.

"The Meaneast City" in America.

Mr. Chas. H. Behre, a Charlestonian, but now a resident of Atlanta, was in Charleston the other day, and was naturally indignant at the attitude of the Atlanta Constitution in Charleston's time of trouble. Mr. Behre, in the course of a conversation with a representative of the News and Courier said:

"I have seen publications in various newspapers in this State and Georgia in reference to the course of the Atlanta Constitution as to Charleston's misfortune, and I desire to take it upon myself to say that the Constitution does not reflect the sentiments of the people of Atlanta. I assure you from my own knowledge that from the time the news of Charleston's calamity first reached our city our people were stirred. The Hon. Charles A. Collier was appointed to go to Charleston and ascertain the extent of the damages and a mass meeting of the citizens was called, which resulted in the raising of a fund of $1,800 for the relief of Charleston. I also know that a number of our principal business houses, as soon as the extent of Charleston's disaster was known, instructed their salesmen to come home so as to offer no competition to Charleston houses."

As the News and Courier says Mr. Behre, being a Charlestonian, doubtless feels very strongly for Charlestonians, but his feelings and his statements do not explain the fact that the Constitution, the leading paper of the Gate-City, has done what it could to check and chill the flowing tide of help with declarations that none was needed. Nor do they disprove the fact that the Constitution, which must be taken to represent Atlanta until Atlanta repudiates its utterances, has endeavored to use the calamity of Charleston and the misfortunes of Augusta for Atlanta's advantage, and has boastfully paraded Atlanta's immunity from trouble and the advantages it gives her over other cities. Mr. Behre, doubtless, expresses his own views on the subject and, perhaps, voices the views of some of the people of Atlanta, but the fact remains that the Atlanta Constitution is the only paper in this broad Union that has made an effort to chill the generous tide of contributions to the Charleston sufferers, and that it is the only paper which has endeavored to take advantage of Charleston's calamity to push Atlanta forward. While every other newspaper in the country, North, South, East and West, was engaged in urging the people to increase their business with Charleston and to give all they could to relieve the distress, the Atlanta Constitution alone attempted to chill the charity which was overwhelming this city with its kindness, and to call attention to the superior advantages of that city. Atlanta's growing reputation as "the meaneast city in America" cannot be changed by the assertion of Mr. Behre that he repudiates the Constitution's position. The entire people of Atlanta should be heard from.

Let it Come!

General Thomas J. Brady, of Star Route fame, is engaged in writing a book exposing the election frauds of Louisiana and Florida in 1876. He says he knows as much about the trade as any other person, and thinks he can write a truthful history of the historic steal. He was one of the "visiting statesmen" and spent some three months in Florida during the controversy. In a somewhat extended interview printed in an evening paper, the General is quoted as saying: "I propose to place several alleged statesmen and others in the public pillory in order that their fellow-citizens may see them in their true light. Some people posing before the public as moral saints, with a holier-than-thou cast of countenance, I shall impale upon the points of their own corruption. I shall embellish my book with fac-simile autograph letters and memorials which will speak for themselves." This book will be rich reading, and we hope it will soon make its appearance.

Charleston Ready for Business.

Reports have gotten out that Charleston is not ready for business. The statement is conspicuously untrue. It is enough to say that any order or contract or any other business obligation can be met as promptly, as fully and as satisfactorily in Charleston, as it could have been met on the last day of August. The case is even better than this, it is practicable for the wholesale and retail merchants and business men in almost every branch of trade to fill orders now that could not have been filled a few weeks ago, for the reason that their stock have been largely replenished in anticipation of the fall trade, and new supplies are arriving every day. We hope our people will throw all the business they can in the way of Charleston. She is our mother and we must sustain her in her hour of trouble.

Smalls Gets the Nomination.

The Republican Congressional Convention of the Seventh district met at Lincolnville last Monday for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress from the Black district in opposition to Col. Wm. Elliott, the Democratic candidate. Stephen Swails, of Williamsburg, presided. Only two candidates were put up for nomination, Col. T. B. Johnston, of Sumter, and Robert Smalls, of Beaufort. Smalls was elected on the first ballot by a vote of 31 to 8. At the conclusion of the nominating speeches, Ex-Cadet Whitaker made a most violent and bitter speech in denunciation of any white man who would pretend to run for Congress from the Seventh district.

No Scratching.

We hear a great many men say that they will not vote for a negro for office if put on the Democratic ticket. Without stopping to discuss the propriety of the action of the convention in deciding to put two negroes on the ticket, we emphatically say that it is the duty of the Democrats of the County to vote for the entire ticket as nominated by the primary, negro and all. The very life of the party itself depends upon its purity and a strict enforcement of the rules and regulations, and a rigid and uncompromising discipline. One who obeys the party mandates, and supports the nominated ticket, regardless of his personal objections or animosities for those who compose it, deserves party confidence and can alone be trusted to keep up and preserve the organization. When the action of the party convention is rebelled against, and the ticket scratched or openly opposed, it will not be long before the party itself will go to pieces. Our advice to all Democrats is to vote the ticket straight, whether the ticket as a whole suits their views or not. In this way alone can the unity and ascendancy of the Democratic party be maintained.

Serves Her Right.

The attitude of Atlanta towards the stricken city of Charleston is exciting widespread indignation and comment. The New York Star speaking of it says that not only Charleston, but almost every Southern community, resents bitterly the mean and selfish course of the Atlanta Constitution toward that afflicted city. One would suppose that a calamity such as has befallen Charleston would call forth every gentle and generous emotion in men's breasts, but it appears that the Constitution sees in it only the occasion for decrying the business hopes of Charleston, and lauding the prospects and facilities of Atlanta. The Constitution sent its own Grady to write up the ruin of Charleston and explain the utter insecurity of everything commercial in that neighborhood; and then it recalled its own Grady, so that the contrast of Atlanta's superior advantages could receive equally graphic treatment. We observe, however, that adjacent cities regard this as contemptible, and we are glad to believe that the Constitution will lose by it as much as it had fatuously hoped to gain.

Southern Prosperity.

The New York Commercial Advertiser reports immense activity in dry goods, groceries, building, boots and shoes and all trades and occupations. Much of this briskness is said to be because of increased Southern orders. The business development of the South is declared to be one of the notable signs of the times. The Commercial Advertiser emphasizes the fact that while the market of the West not only holds its own but is constantly growing, what is practically a new market of almost boundless possibilities has arisen in the South. It asserts that this prodigious increase in the purchasing power of the Southern States is in no slight degree the cause of the substantial increase in the business of New York city. The New Orleans Picayune considers these signs unmistakable, not only of a general improvement in the markets of the country, but a special and unerring index of the excellent credit and prosperity of the South. This is not a time for any man to be idle. There is a "boom" just ahead, from all accounts, that means better days for all who are employed industrially.

Smalls Threatens to Bolt.

The Beaufort correspondent of the News and Courier says that some of Smalls' adherents unhesitatingly declare that if Smalls is defeated in the Convention, in order to have the most important commercial and agricultural interests of the district, of which Beaufort and Port Royal are the centres, it will be his and his wish that he should support Col. Elliott, the Democratic nominee for Congress, regardless of party. Should Johnson, of Sumter, be nominated by the Republicans, we would not be surprised if the above threat was not carried out. If the negroes would nominate a good man of their race, like Bruce Williams, for instance, we would oppose a Democratic fight in the District, but as long as Smalls or a white carpet-bagger is likely to be the Representative we favor a Democratic fight all along the line. Our advice to the colored people of the Seventh District is to put up a good man of their own race for Congress, and let such men as Smalls alone.

A Clean Record.

A Georgia paper prints a remarkable obituary notice of an old negro, who died near Lumpkin recently. It says: "This old man was a former slave of J. A. B. Ward, and lived with the ward family nearly fifty years. He was never heard to swear an oath, was never accused of lying or theft, never had a dispute or quarrel with his wife, never had a whipping during slavery, nor was he ever known to take a drink of whiskey. He was always mild and obedient, peaceable and reliable. He and his wife had sixteen children, and they lived to see 120 descendants, who are now living." A clean record for any man, black or white.

A Dispatch from Terre Haute, Ind., says a cyclone struck that city yesterday and did damage to the amount of $25,000.

Ex-Gov. A. H. Stephens' Cousin. I am first cousin of the late Ex-Governor Alexander H. Stephens, and have been postal clerk on different railroads since 1868. For ten years I have been a sufferer from a cancer on my face, which grew worse until the discharge of matter became profuse and very offensive. I became thoroughly disgusted with blood purifiers and pronounced them humbugs, as I had tried many without relief.

Finally I was induced to use B. B. B., which was about the 1st of February, and continued its use until the latter part of April. The offensive discharge decreased at once and the hardness around the cancer disappeared. It improved my general health and I rapidly gained flesh and strength. The discharge gradually decreased and the cancer became less and less in size until nothing remains except a scar to tell the tale of a once dangerous cancer. All who have seen me since I have commenced the use of B. B. B. bear testimony of my great improvement, and the scar on my face shows that it cured the cancer. I find that B. B. B. comes squarely up to what it is recommended, and I cannot say too much in praise of this wonderful medicine. I have tried them all but B. B. B. stands at the top as a blood purifier.

The above is copied from the Athens, (Ga.) Banner-Watchman, being the volunteer language of Mr. James A. Greer, which Editor Gantt indorses: "Mr. Greer is an honest, upright citizen of Athens, who had a bad cancer, and his numerous friends thought that he could not live very long, as the cancer was gradually sapping the foundation of his constitution, but now looks well and hearty."

2 Against 18. Several physicians have pronounced my disease blood poison, caused by paint or lead in the paint, but they could not cure me. Last summer I used eighteen bottles of a largely advertised blood medicine, which did me no more good than so much water.

I have used only two bottles of B. B. B. and am glad to say that I have received great benefit from them than from the eighteen, and am now rapidly recovering. There is no question about the superiority of B. B. B. over all blood remedies. 215 Reynolds Street. W. H. Woody, Augusta, Ga., April 21st, 1886.

All who desire full information about the cause and cure of Blood Poisons, Scrofula and Scrofulous Swellings, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, Catarrh, etc., can secure by mail, free, a copy of our 32-page Illustrated Book of Wonders, filled with the most wonderful and startling proof ever before known.
