The days of miracles are not passed. according to those familiar with the death and return to life of Ulysses S. Roberts, a cigarmaker and musician. He had been afflicted with consumption for nearly a year, says a Harrisburg, Ill., special to the Philadelphia became worse, and a few days later he called his wife and two children to his bedside, and, kissing them goodbye, told them of the fast approaching end. In the presence of the family, his pastor, Rev. A. S. Maxey, of of that city: Attorney R. S. Marsh, his family physician and a number of relatives he died.

An undertaker was called. Twelve had left the body, when suddenly the figure lying on the cot smiled and spoke and asked them how long he had been gone, and when told, he said:

"That's strange; it seems to me I have been gone 1,000 years. I have been in heaven and I have been hap-

He told of his meeting his father, who had long preceded him and other relatives and friends. Many questions were asked by the pastor, Rev. A. S. Maxey, co cerning heaven and the description given by him was wonderful.

'But," said he, "I have just seven days to remain on earth when I will eave you until we meet up yonder."

When asked by Rev. Maxey as to when he beheld this earth steeped in sin." Roberts expressed a desire to return to heaven, and true to his prediction, on the seventh day, and at the very hour named he again died.

The assassin had stood on the pavement, his office being on the first floor and next to the street, and from that point had fired the tatal bullet through a window. It went straight to Rucker's heart. Two arrests have been made but the evidence is purely circumstantial. The suspects had quarrelled with Rucker, who was a real estate agent, and had threatened him. After the shooting they were among the first to enter the room and enlist in the search for the assassin, and the police considered the circumstances sufficiently incriminating to warrant the arrests. Rucker was 25 years of age and well regarded.

saving of points.

Plow share rests on standard and not on mold board, and consequently does not weaken the most expensive part of the Plow. The Plow handles are bolted to standard instead of mold board thereby making mold board less liable to break.

Plow handles are supported by a 5-16 inch iron braces and not by the usual \(\frac{1}{2}\) inch rod. The handles may be made high or low to suit the height of the plowman.

All connections are made by patent bolt head, which will neither allow a bolt to turn nor cause a casting to creak. Only one size plow bolt is used in the Chattanooga Plows. They always fit.

All plows are uniform in shape, and given a superior polish. All woodwork painted with red lead and vermillion giving a durable and beautiful finish. Chattanooga Plows are not made by a trust, but are Plows the farmers can trust.
