

ON THE WING.

Letter from Mr. C. T. Dowling Descriptive of his Journey.

1692 Miles out on the Atlantic Ocean. Monday, March 14, 1904.

Dear Times and Democrat, and through you to my friends in the county. I am at sea—how do I know what to say? I want to give you my trip from the time I left home...

From Washington to Baltimore on Thursday. Here is where occurred the great fire of which we have read so much about lately.

I went the same day from Baltimore to Philadelphia. I called at the American Baptist Publishing House and saw Bibles, papers, Teachers, and quaternies being made.

Leaving Philadelphia the next day after arriving there I came to New York on Friday. There was plenty of heavy ice in the Hudson when we crossed, from the railroad station in Jersey City.

The first thing to greet me in New York was horse cars. I got on one and went somewhere—every thing in an awful rush and the policemen seemed to be in the same fix—rushed, and when directions were given they were evidently not intended for a man who was lost.

As soon as I got up (which is never soon) on Tuesday, March 8, the day of sailing, after breakfast I went to the pier in Hoboken where our floating palace was ready for us to come in.

I have been sea sick for several days, and a very suggestive picture on that I saw yesterday. A man was leaning over the rail paying tribute, but the picture was described as looking for land. I then, was looking for land for several days or casting bread upon the water where I hadn't ought to.

I have been sea sick for several days, and a very suggestive picture on that I saw yesterday. A man was leaning over the rail paying tribute, but the picture was described as looking for land.

But a new scene is appearing in the distance—Madeira is showing up on the horizon as a cloud. The cloud like appearance comes nearer and nearer until we can see the houses appearing as tin cans on the hillsides of a dump; and soon we were in the calm waters of the harbor of Funchal.

It was my pleasure to go up the mountain side 2,000 feet and take the famous slide of two miles down the mountain. The slide in nothing more than the streets of the city but it is so steep that a sled like basket will slide very rapidly down.

After one day stays at Madeira we are out for Gibraltar where I will make this letter. We are due there early Saturday morning, March 19. It is now 4 o'clock with me, but it is only dinner time in Orangeburg.

Death of Miss Minnie Gilmore. Miss Minnie Gilmore, eldest daughter of the late Dr. J. L. B. Gilmore, died at the residence of her brother, Mr. Dennis W. Gilmore, at Holly Hill, on last Thursday afternoon, after an illness of two months or more.

Knight of Sumter, Grand Master at Arms J. A. Berry of Orangeburg and Grand Inner Guard Geo. W. Reeves of Branchville.

Amusement, brisk, breezy and true. Capt. Charles H. Stanley expects to be in Orangeburg two evenings with his magnificent moving pictures. (Edison's latest and best) illustrated original songs ect. ect. He has traveled in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales scoring successes both at home and abroad.

A Drama of Heart Interest. In "Why Women Sin" the author, Will C. Murphy, succeeded in "thrilling a play full of heart interest, "thrilling incidents, sensational climaxes and good comedy, without losing a thread of the intricate plot and novel story. All of the scenes are laid in New York City, and the audience is given an opportunity to witness some of the greatest dramatic situations ever attempted on the stage.

On Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock an alarm from Box 46 aroused our sleeping firemen. The fire was on Glover street, originating in a small four room frame building owned by Mr. Barney W. Williams and occupied by two young men who were sleeping there to take care of the property. The whole building was ablaze when one of the young men discovered the fire and by the time alarm had been sounded our firemen arrived, the flame had communicated to the dwelling of Mrs. Obis Meyers, next door. Mr. Williams' house was entirely consumed and Mrs. Meyers' had the roof burned off. Everything in the house was saved. We understand that Mr. Williams had $250 and Mrs. Meyers $300 insurance.

Little Helen, who plays the child part, "Mazie," in "Why Women Sin," at W. Taylor's big production of Will C. Murphy's sensational society drama, is one of the best child actresses on the American stage. The part of "Mazie" is not an easy one to play as it is filled with genuine pathos, but little Helen wins the hearts of the audience at every performance.

Called to Another Field.

Rev. E. M. Lightfoot, pastor of the Baptist church here, returned home a few days ago after a ten days' visit to Newark, N. J. The trip was made at the request of a strong church there and while there they urged him to accept the pastorate of their church. He could or would not accept at the time and they left the matter open giving him some time to make his decision in the matter. The Newark church is the second in size and strength in the city, is one of the ten Baptist churches there, and the call is a well deserved compliment to Mr. Lightfoot's ability. Mr. Lightfoot has not spoken to his church here on the subject nor has he referred to it except to a few of his close friends. It is said that his salary would be at least twice that received here besides other tempting inducements. Mr. Lightfoot is a native of Pennsylvania and lived at the north until attaining manhood, so that he is thoroughly familiar with that section of the country, but is now in love with our fair southland. He has just completed his second year's work here, having come here from Waynesville, N. C., over the protest of that church, it being loath to give him up. Mr. Lightfoot is a young man, full of energy and zeal, a tireless worker, a deep thinker, fluent speaker and a man who never shirks his duty but denounces all crime and evil as he sees it. The two years of his ministry here have been most successful, perfect harmony prevailing and the membership of the church considerably increased. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lightfoot are much admired here and in turn have many dear friends, so that they are loath to leave and it is probable that the flattering call will not be accepted. It is the universal wish in this community that Mr. Lightfoot will see his way clear to decline the call to Newark and remain here. He has many friends here in all denominations who would regret to see him leave.

A Panic Party.

At St. Matthews on last Tuesday week Miss Etta Huggins entertained a few young people with a very enjoyable panic party. She was assisted in receiving and entertaining her guests by Mrs. W. Welch. The reception hall and parlors were rendered bright and beautiful by bamboo vines and spiral wreaths. The quiet beauty of the rooms was in marked contrast to the confusion of voices calling corners on different stocks. Finally when excitement had reached its height members of the exchange were suddenly reminded of the fact that there are better things in life than the mere acquisition of wealth—for then it was that a tempting fruit course was served. After music and chatter good-byes were said and the gay party hid home with pleasant memories to keep them company. Those present were: Misses Ida Jacobson, Mack, Harley, Able, Lucia Bee Able, and Murray; Messrs. W. C. Tucker, J. M. Hutto, Clarence Zeigler, H. Keller, Albert Able, W. Fair and H. Paulling.

Church Corner Stone Laying.

Under the energetic and enthusiastic leadership of Rev. S. A. Nettles, the Methodist congregation of Branchville is going right ahead with the work of erecting their new brick church. They are losing no time in the matter, for work on the building has already been commenced, and the laying of the corner stone is to take place on Friday, April 15th. They propose to make this day memorable in the history of the town, and it is confidently expected that the largest crowd ever in Branchville will be present that day. Bishop W. W. Duncan has already said he would be present and lay the stone. He will no doubt also deliver an address. A great occasion is being prepared for, and the program of exercises will be very interesting. The ladies will furnish dinner at some convenient place, and all who can go will be cared for. The presence of Bishop Duncan and his address will no doubt be sufficient to draw a large crowd, and a pleasant occasion generally is to be expected, for those Branchville folks never, do things by halves.

The Order of Elks.

The Orangeburg lodge, B. P. O. E., at their last meeting elected the following officers for the ensuing year: L. H. Wannamaker, Jr., exalted ruler; W. G. Smith, grand leading knight; Thos. F. Brantley, grand lecturing knight; Dr. J. M. Oliver, esteemed loyal knight; W. L. Glover, secretary, and H. C. Wannamaker treasurer. Exalted Ruler Wannamaker was elected to represent the lodge at the coming session of the grand lodge in Cincinnati in June. The Orangeburg lodge was installed in February with 28 members. Since then 12 applications have been passed on and there are several more in the hands of the committees. The lodge has secured the hall on the third floor of the Dibble building, corner of Russell and Market streets. This is a fine location and admirably suited for the Elks, as there are other rooms on this floor convenient for club purposes. The lodge does not, however, contemplate establishing the club for several months yet.

A Small Fire.

On Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock an alarm from Box 46 aroused our sleeping firemen. The fire was on Glover street, originating in a small four room frame building owned by Mr. Barney W. Williams and occupied by two young men who were sleeping there to take care of the property. The whole building was ablaze when one of the young men discovered the fire and by the time alarm had been sounded our firemen arrived, the flame had communicated to the dwelling of Mrs. Obis Meyers, next door. Mr. Williams' house was entirely consumed and Mrs. Meyers' had the roof burned off. Everything in the house was saved. We understand that Mr. Williams had $250 and Mrs. Meyers $300 insurance.

Little Helen, who plays the child part, "Mazie," in "Why Women Sin," at W. Taylor's big production of Will C. Murphy's sensational society drama, is one of the best child actresses on the American stage. The part of "Mazie" is not an easy one to play as it is filled with genuine pathos, but little Helen wins the hearts of the audience at every performance.

OUR COMPANIES INSPECTED.

The Splendid Military Organization of Orangeburg and Their History.

The Edisto Rifles and the Tillman Volunteers, our two local military companies, were inspected by Col. J. M. Patrick, and Inspector General of the State, and Capt. Gilmore, of the United States Army on last Wednesday. The Tillman Volunteers were inspected on the court house square in the afternoon in the presence of quite a large crowd, while the Edisto Rifles were inspected at their army in the evening. The Tillman Volunteers passed muster with 45 rank and file, while the Edisto Rifles passed with 61, being the largest company inspected so far this season by these officers.

The Edisto Rifles are a historic company, their organization dating back prior to the Confederacy and the men now on its roll are the sons and grandsons of those who wore the gray and were part of the incomparable infantry of Lee and Jackson. The Edisto Rifles also served in the Spanish war. The Tillman Volunteers were organized ten years ago and Capt. J. H. Claffy deserves much credit for the fine company he has, he having been in command ever since the organization. A great many members of this company served in the Spanish war.

A DENMARK TRAGEDY.

Body of Mr. W. M. Lucas Found with a Gunshot Wound in Breast.

Denmark had quite a sensation last week, an account of which will be found below, which we take from the Bamberg Herald. It seems that on last Friday night two negroes going into Denmark, between the Peterson cottage and water tank, on the Seaboard Air Line, discovered some one lying in the road, apparently drunk or dead, and reported the matter to Mr. C. H. Hutto, who, upon investigation, found it to be the dead body of Mr. Willie Lucas, who lived on Mr. J. D. Turner's place, just out of town. Upon further investigation it was learned that Mr. Lucas had been murdered by some person unknown. He was shot in the right breast, the ball going through the body and lodging in the skin on the opposite side. The coat which he wore was burned with powder. Lucas was last seen a short while before the killing by Mr. John Love, his brother-in-law, recently of this section, but now of the Blackville section, where he lives on Mr. Simon Brown's place. The negroes who heard the shot saw a large man standing by the body with a mule and buggy, and it is reported that there is another party who saw Messrs. Love and Lucas in a buggy just after they crossed the railroad track, in about two hundred yard of where Lucas was killed. The evidence against Mr. Love is very strong, and his statements as to his whereabouts are very conflicting. Magistrate S. G. Ray has empanelled a jury and will hold an inquest at five o'clock Monday afternoon, as Coroner Bessinger is sick and unable to attend to the matter. Mr. Love is in the guard house, awaiting the investigation and verdict of the jury of inquest.

News from North.

The bazaar held at the high school building last Friday night was a great success and an occasion of rare pleasure and enjoyment. Delightful music was rendered throughout the evening. The old and the young gave themselves over to the highest order of innocent fun and the refreshments were such as to satisfy the most fastidious. The ladies deserve much credit for giving such a pleasant entertainment, the net proceeds of which were about $65.00, which will go towards building a Baptist parsonage here.

Shibboleth Lodge.

On Tuesday evening of last week Shibboleth lodge, No. 28, A. F. M., this city, met in special communication for the purpose of raising three fellowcraft to the sublime degree of master Mason. The lodges at St. Matthews and Branchville had been invited to be present and at least 40 members of these two lodges accepted the invitation. Shibboleth lodge enjoys quite a reputation for the thoroughness with which it confers the degrees and work was much enjoyed by all. Worshipful Master R. H. Jennings raised the fellowcraft to master Masons after which Hon. John R. Bellinger, grand master, who was present, delivered a most appropriate address. After the degrees were conferred all adjourned to the banquet hall where an elegant course supper was served by the ladies of the Episcopal church. After the supper, Grand Master Bellinger was called on but owing to the lateness of the hour responded briefly. Shibboleth lodge is one of the most flourishing lodges in the State. In the last two or three years a large number of excellent young men of this city and surrounding country have been "raised" in this lodge.

Granted Bail.

The Columbia State says R. W. McDaniel, who killed Lee Neese, the town marshal of Swansea Christmas eve, 1902, has been granted bail in the sum of $5,000 by Judge Ernest Gary. The case was heard Monday in the court house in this city. The argument in favor of bail was that the jury had indeed found McDaniel guilty of murder but had recommended the convicted man to the mercy of the court and thus had put itself on record as believing the crime not to be deserving of capital punishment. The case has attracted attention because the defendant is of good family and connected with some of the best families in the State. He had gone to the penitentiary to serve his term when mainly through the efforts of Mr. Leroy F. Youmans he secured a stay of sentence pending an appeal to the supreme court. His case in the supreme court was handled with skill and the petition for a new trial was granted. McDaniel will have no trouble to secure bail. Court meets in Lexington within a few weeks, when no doubt, Mr. McDaniel will promptly secure an acquittal.
