The Organization Starts With Thirty-Five Members, But Soon Will Have Many More.

The auto owners in this county met at the City Hall on Friday morning and organized the Orange burg County Automobile Club by the election of the following officers. Samuel Dibble, President.

W. S. Barton, Jr., Vice-President. M. O. Dantzler, Secretary.

J. E. Glover, Treasurer. R. A. Walter, L. Bennet and Cecil Culler, Governors. .

There were thirty-five members membership will be much larger in a very short time, as there are over a hundred automobiles in this coun-

The object of the club will be to promote the interests of motoring, and to look forward towards advantageous legislation and to fight the passage of laws which will be objectionable to the automobile own-

The matter of good roads will also be championed by the club, and in general the public will be educated to the fact that the automobile is of importance to the entire country, and its use will soon be universal.

On motion of Dr. D. D. Salley, the name of Orangeburg County Automobile Club was chosen, with membership limited to this county. The enrollment of members then took place.

SOME WILL ATTEND.

Orangeburg Will Be Represented at Good Roads Meeting.

The Orangeburg correspondent of The State says Orangeburg will be largely represented at the good roads convention that is to be held at the Isle of Palms during July. A most enthusiastic meeting of this kind was held in this city last fall and was largely attended by Representatives from Columbia and Charleston.

It has been stated that at the meeting in Charleston there might develop a fight to adopt the old State road as the route to be pursued from Columbia to Orangeburg. Orangeburg will fight that proposition. It was the sense of the meeting held at Orangeburg last fall that the route was to pass through this city and that this county could go ahead and build its roads with the assurance of the route.

Orangebrg county has gone ahead and built its road. This road crossenrolled, but it is expected that the es the entire county from the Calhoun county line to the Dorchester line and is one of the best stretches of road bed in this state, as motorists have already described it as a dream.

Supervisor Felder of this county has concluded arrangements with the supervisor of Aiken County to build a thirty-foot road for automobiles from Augusta through to Orangeburg, thus giving Charleston and Augusta an excellent automobile course, via Orangeburg. Work on this road is to begin at once, and when completed the Capital route that courses through that section of the State will be tapped to the great benefit of Orangeburg and Charles-

During a terrific thunder storm, Bill Canady, together with his four daughters, were standing on the front porch of their home when a bolt of lightning struck a sycamore tree near the house, to which was attached a wire, which lead to a post supporting the porch.

The lightning traveled along the wire, striking the house, and killed Sue Canady, Philis Canady, Lula Canady and stunned William Canady, the father, and Mary Canady. Philis was leaning against the post to which the wire was attached. She was thrown some 15 feet, more or less in the yard.

This was a terrible blow on the father-to lose three daughters one stroke. It was the most destructive bolt of lightning to human life that has visited this county in a great many years. In fact we have never heard of one here to equal it.

the corn crop in all stages of growth. Small grain with few exceptions will be quite short in yield, in this section. An occasional field of fairly good oats are to be seen here and there, but the general yield will be short.

A tent meeting is in progress here commencing vesterday and is in the charge of Evangelist R. H. Garrett, of Central, S. C. The weather has interferred with the services and the turnout has be.. somewhat slim. Holiness is the mainspring on which the meeting hinge and the preaching is plain and pointed and the attention will no doubt grow day by day. The tent has been pitched on Main street opposite the Bank of Bowman, in the center of the town.

Dr. J. Thos. Corter returned Sunday from New York, at which place he has been for some weeks taking a special course in professional work. His many friends here were glad to have him back again.

Dr. W. M. Carn, a former resident of this section, has moved back on his farm and will take up professional work again. Dr. Carn moved to Shandon near Columbia a few years ago, but decided recently to return to his farm and take up work in this neighborhood again. His old friends will be glad to greet him at the old stand again.

Fruit, including dewberries, huckleberries, plums and early peaches have been more or less abundant this season. The plum crop is the heaviest ever known by this correspondent, trees breaking down with loaded fruit. Gardens so far are full of promise of a continuation for some time to come, unless adverse weather sets in.

It rained here all day yesterday more or less and last night also and is still raining this a. m., with no holdup in sight. Fertilizers continue to be shipped in here and is being used on the growing crops. Applications of the stuff are being made the second and, in some instances, the third time to much of the crops now growing, some as top dressing and in side applications. All that is now being used is of a high grade. Experience has proven that applications in this manner has paid handsomely in many instances.
