SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

Remittances should be made payable to The Times and Democrat, Orangeburg, S. C., by registered letter, check or money order.

We want all the ladies in the county to help us make our contest

You should enter the contest at once, before some one else canvasses your possible votes. It is not very hard to win one of the handsome prizes.

According to a cablegram a veritable reign of terror prevails at Nanking, China. A systematic search is being made for Chinese who have discarded their queues and all found are beheaded at once.

What is overwork for one person may be nothing but healthful activity for another. So much depends upon the bodily and nervous condition that no set rule can be applied to govern all workers alike.

The Times and Democrat voting contest is on now. It will be conducted fairly and squarely. The folks who do the work will win the prizes, not the ones who are successful in landing big blocks of bonus

Fair assured its success. There are fited. The inscription epitomizes his lots of fine exhibits and thousands career: of visitors. The Fair can be, and doubtless will be, made of great benfit to all the people of this and adjoining counties. It takes a little time to adjust matters and get things Founder of the Woman's Hospital of to working smoothly. All things considered, things moved off about as smoothly on the opening day as it was possible for them to do. The Fair fills a long felt want.

At most any election the employers of large members of men have only to threaten to close down if certain men are not elected or certain legislation enforsed or defeated, as the case may be, to sway to their policy thousands of wage earners who dread the prospect of being thrown out of work. When bread and butter are stake it needs considerable inanderce and strength of will to · vid against such powerful coercion. Such tactics defeated Bryan three times.

A Shameless Confession.

"An amazing admission is that of the attorney general of the United States of Representative Aiken, of South Carolina. He admits that he is armed to the teeth with knowledge this country, yet 'he frankly confesses that he does not understand the working of a 'bear pool,' or how such a combination could operate in restraint of trade," says the Atlanta Constitution. "The quotation is from an Associated Press dispatch under a Washington date-line. It is, therefore, presumably accurate.

"Congressman Aiken had alleged to Attorney General Wickersham that a bear pool had deliberately de-pound, thus robbing the southern producer of an amount approximately $105,000,000. Why not proceed at once against this crew of gamblers, asked the congressman, ascertain at least if it were not as much in restraint of trade as the effort to lift prices, and save scattered fragments of their profits to southern cotton farmers? "And the attorney general blandly replies that he has no knowledge of such a combination, that he has not even studied the price-depressing side of the market sufficiently to know whether the reputed plot does or does not contravene the law. In other words, the department of justice admits that it sees but one side of its job-that of proceeding against attempts to maintain prices, or to prevent their reaching lower levels. Of the other-equally as important, that For Sale-One good saw mill and of safeguarding the interests of producers against speculative bear raids -it knows nothing. No doubt it regards that feature as of so trivial importance as not even to study the legal side of it.

"The attorney general, inevitably, convicts himself of one of two things: Of being a bull in a china shop, ignorant of the requirements of his high office, incompetent to discharge them, or of possessing such ineradicable mental and moral bias that he looks square past the million-massed producer and sees only the interests of the market thimblerigger. For the prosecution he has taken to the supreme court was based on the complaint of welching bear gamblers, and the department had not turned a hand until their squeal reached its ears.

"To protect this precious crowd, it can dig, delve, find legal grounds and the Dinner Sets, which are to and evidence. To protect the probe given away by The Times and ducer—it can find nothing! It is a Democrat, were on exhibition at The flagrant, a strange admission, to come from a department assumed to enforce, impartially, the laws of this much admired. Why not win one of country.
