JANUARY 17 FOR INAUGURATION.

As the result of a conference between Governor-elect Cole, L. Blease and Lieutenant Governor-elect Charles A. Smith, these gentlemen have agreed upon Tuesday, January 17, as the day which they will suggest to the legislative committee in charge for their inauguration, and the governor-elect will request of the committee which will be appointed that this day be named. The legislature will meet on the second Tuesday in January, which is the 10th, so that the inauguration, if the 17th should be finally determined upon, as in all probability it will, will come just one week after the beginning of the session.

The oath of office will be administered to Governor-elect Blease by Magistrate Thomas S. Dunbar, of Barnwell county, who is and has been a strong friend and supporter of the governor-elect. Magistrate Dunbar was first appointed by Gov. Chamberlain, and accepted the office upon the urgent request of the white people of Barnwell county. He has held the position continuously since. He and Governor-elect Blease first met at the campaign meeting in Barnwell four years ago, and notwithstanding the difference in their ages, Magistrate Dunbar being a man of advanced years, and the governor-elect a young man, a warm personal and political friendship sprang up between them, which has been cemented by the passing of time. At the campaign meeting at Barnwell this year Mr. Blease told Magistrate Dunbar that if he should be elected governor, as he expected to be, he wanted Magistrate Dunbar to administer the oath of office.

This will be the first time since the inauguration of Gov. Hampton, it is stated, that the oath of office to the incoming governor has not been administered by the chief justice of the supreme court. The oath of office was administered to Governor Hampton by the late lamented J. Q. Marshall, of Columbia, who was at that time a magistrate of Richland county, and who was afterwards secretary of state and then senator from Richland.

News of Bachman Chapel.

Slights, Dec. 21.—We are now just on the eve of another Christmas day and a new year. It hardly seems possible for 1910 to be so near at a close, but it is almost gone. As we bid this year farewell we should look forward to the new one with brighter hopes than ever before, to form and follow better habits. Be more thankful for the blessings we receive, try to picture the bright and sunny side of life and when we think of our neighbors' faults just bear in mind that we ourselves have them plentiful also.

There will be preaching and communion services at Colony on next Sunday at noon.

On Tuesday morning, the 27th, at 11 o'clock, there will also be Christmas exercises at Colony, consisting of songs by the Sunday school, and essays by the ladies.

In Mr. T. J. Wilson's class a prize will be given for the best essay. There will be an address by Dr. A. J. Bowers after the essays have all been read and the prize awarded. Then there will be candy and fruits distributed among the members of the Sunday school. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. W. H. Wendt and daughter, Miss Marie, of near Bethel academy, spent last Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson.

Mrs. W. W. Kinard, of near Prosperity, visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson on last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. S. A. Rikard, of the Long Lane section, spent last Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson.

Wishing The Herald and News a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year I will close. W.

DEATH AND RUIN IN WAKE OF EXPLOSION

Electric Spark Sets Off Gas in Power House—Shock Felt for Miles Around.

New York, Dec. 19.—The terrific explosion of illuminating gas in the auxiliary power house in the Grand Central Station, which tore at the heart of and sent a tremor along the entire rock backbone of Manhattan this morning, caused the death of ten persons, two of them women, the injury of 125 others and property damage estimated tonight at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. Fire broke out in the shattered ruins of the power house again late tonight, but with a great corps of police, searchers and firemen on the scene, the blaze made little headway. It was a weird scene in and about the station as the night wore on. No additional bodies were found, but in a hospital Guthrie Johnson, an electrician, succumbed to terrible injuries, bringing the death list up to ten.

Car Lifted From Track.

A passing surface car, carrying seven passengers, was lifted from its tracks and hurled into an automobile running alongside. Four of the seven passengers were killed outright, but the chauffeur of the motor car was only cut and bruised.
