TROOPS AT BAMBERG HELD IN READINESS

PLEASE ANTICIPATES TROUBLE IN DISPENSARY CASES.

Alleged Hold Up of Detectives—Six Bamberg Men Charged With Threatening Lives.

Special to The Herald and News.
 Bamberg, April 18.—Everything is quiet in Bamberg today. We have begun the trials of the whiskey cases. The people of Bamberg seem to regret very much the occurrence which gave rise to the excitement.

B. B. Leitzsey, State Detective.

B. B. LEITZSEY, One of State Detectives Handling Bamberg Situation.

Columbia, April 17.—Charged with assault with intent to kill, highway robbery and riot, six white men of Bamberg, were arrested there this afternoon and locked in the county jail, according to the report of Mayor Smoak, of Bamberg, to Governor Blease. A sixth man, W. L. McPhail, and the alleged leader of the crowd, has not yet been arrested, and was reported from Bamberg to have gone to Augusta, but it is thought that he will return to Bamberg some time during the night, and if he does he will be immediately locked up.

The Bamberg military company is held subject to the orders of Sheriff Hunter, of that county, and is ready for duty at a moment's notice. The men will be given a hearing before Mayor Smoak at Bamberg tomorrow morning.

Charge Against Accused.
 The men mentioned are charged with having intimidated and run out of the town of Bamberg two men, Garner and Carter, who were sent there to work up evidence against illicit whiskey dealers by Governor Blease, on the request of two attorneys of Bamberg, who stated that they would have the detectives report to Mayor Smoak.

Point for Consideration.
 "We must consider, not what the wise will think, but what the fool will be sure to say."—Sir Arthur Helps

NEWBERRY DEFEATS CLINTON.

Lutheran Boys Scalped the Presbyterians to a Lively Tune on Monday Afternoon.

Newberry defeated the Presbyterian college on Monday afternoon 14 to 5, by hitting the ball hard in the last four innings of play. Eidson, Newberry's old reliable, pitched a splendid game, holding the hard-hitting Presbyterians to five scattered hits, while the scarlet and gray batsmen secured no less than 14 safeties off of the two pitchers who faced them. With the exception of one inning, Eidson was never in danger of being scored on, and was steady throughout the game. Newberry's work in the field was perfect, with the exception of one inning caused by a slight rain, which made the ball very hard to handle.

Through the fifth inning the contest was a pitcher's battle between Eidson and Anderson, and each side failed to get a man beyond second. The scoring started in the sixth when Boozer singled through short and Smeltzer and Floyd each beat out infield hits, filling the bases with no one down. Wise was equal to the emergency by lining one out to left which Simpson dropped after a hard try, and this, coupled with a wild heave by Hill, gave Newberry four runs.

Umpire Bailey called time after the first half of the seventh on account of rain. After an interval of about 15 minutes play was resumed. The Presbyterians scored five runs in their half of the seventh on errors and two scotch hits, caused by wet grounds.

Smeltzer, first man up in the eighth singled through short. Floyd sacrificed him to second and a moment later "Clean-Up" Wise landed on one of Anderson's benders for a four-sacker to deep centre, practically breaking up the game. Hill now replaced Anderson, and the first ball he delivered was met by Keitt for a triple. Keitt scored on a neatly placed single over second by Perritt.

In the ninth Newberry clinched the game and turned an otherwise intensely interesting contest into a farce by circling the bases seven times on hard hitting and a few errors.

Eidson's pitching and the batting of Wise, Keitt and Smeltzer featured the game, and pick-ups by Boozer and Keitt were of the sensational variety. Shealy caught a pretty game.

The Newberry boys play Wofford in Spartanburg on April 18 and 19. On next Monday, April 22, Newberry and the Presbyterian college will play at college park. A good game may be expected, as the Clintonites have lost but two games this season, and they have defeated some of the strongest teams in the State. Let old folks, young folks and everybody come and help old Newberry college to win the championship. Clemson will play here on April 26 and 27.

The Observer's Objection.

The Observer furnishes The Herald and News a copy of its reply to the letter of the editor of The Herald and News to the editor of the Observer. The reply of the Observer is as follows:

Editor Aull's reply to my request for an explanation of a paragraph published in his paper of the 12th is printed in full in this issue. The reply is not satisfactory; and I might go farther and say it is lacking in frankness.

Mr. Aull ignores the point of my objection to the paragraph quoted, and goes off on things that have absolutely nothing to do with the case. Of course I understand that The Herald and News is not the Chautauqua association; if it had been then I should have asked the explanation from the association. The slur was not prepared nor written nor published by the association, but by Mr. Aull himself in his own paper. I think the president of the association did exactly right in assuring me that the association did not authorize the slur as soon as he found out that I so regarded it. It is veiled insinuation that some printing establishment in Newberry might attempt to get advertising from the business houses of Newberry under the false pretense that it was "authorized" by the association to do so. What establishment? Not Mr. Aull's of course; for he would not warn the public against himself. If there was no other printing establishment in mind, it seems to me—and I have no doubt it will strike the public the same way—the simple statement that Mr. Hunter was authorized to make contracts for the booklet that the association is to print, that there will be no other official program, and no other advertising solicited in connection with the Chautauqua association covered the ground completely. Why go further, and say "no one else has been authorized to solicit advertising for any publication authorized by the association"—the natural and inevitable inference of the language being that there might be some one else in town who might try to solicit advertising under the guise of authority from the Chautauqua association, and warning the business men against such person. If there is any other meaning in the paragraph quoted, I can not see it; and Mr. Aull says, "The Herald and News means just what it says."

And that is his explanation. I must say that it comes with a poor grace from one to whom I have shown so many courtesies and favors.

It may throw some light for the reader on this subject to go back a year, when some person tried to make it appear that the Observer solicited advertising for itself under the claim that it was getting out some sort of publication for the Chautauqua. I heard the report then, and knew of course that it was calculated to poison the minds of people whose good opinion I value; but I concluded to let it pass, because I did not wish to enter a newspaper controversy that might interfere with the success of Chautauqua week; which was close at hand, and to which I had given, and was giving, free and earnest support. But if this sort of insinuation is to be a regular feature of Chautauqua occasions it may be as well to settle it now. So here goes for that:

When it was decided last year to have Chautauqua week in Newberry I decided to issue a special industrial edition of the Observer—as The Herald and News is preparing to do now, though on a much larger scale no doubt. This edition was to be gotten out entirely with our own regular force, with the addition of a young lady for a few weeks to help solicit advertising and to handle the write-ups. In pursuance of this purpose, I published the following statement in the Observer of May 2nd:

Industrial Issue.

"About the middle of June the Observer will issue an industrial, descriptive and historical illustrated supplement in magazine form devoted to Newberry, past, present and future. The edition will consist of a guaranteed minimum circulation of 3,000 copies, printed on extra good quality of paper, with magazine cover. The advertising contracts for a major portion of the space devoted to advertising have already been secured, and with one or two exceptions the business men of Newberry have recognized in the proposed publication as presented to them a rare opportunity to reach the people of this section, and have responded liberally and generously; in fact, to an extent which guarantees the success of the proposition.

"The Observer has contemplated such an issue for some time, and although the publication of this issue is made coincident with Chautauqua week, in order to take advantage of the crowds that will no doubt be here at that time, for the matter of distribution and circulation, it bears no relation to the Chautauqua in any other respect."

In further pursuance of the purpose, I sent two persons out to see the business men of Newberry and solicit advertising for the industrial edition, and provided them with blank contracts to be signed by advertisers as follows:

"Advertising Contract.

"Newberry, S. C.,.....1911.
 "This is to certify that..... agrees to take space to an amount of $..... in the Industrial Supplement of the Newberry Observer, to be issued within a period of three months from date, and to pay the amount specified in this contract immediately upon publication of a minimum of 3,000 copies of said Industrial Edition. Payment to be made to the Observer Printing Company.

The advertising solicitors met with a liberal response—as I have no doubt The Herald and News will this year. But, in spite of the notice and the contract—both as plain as I could possibly make them; in spite of the fact that the advertising was not to be paid for until the special edition was published—when if there had been any deception or misrepresentation it would be detected at once and would vitiate the contract, in addition to injuring the Observer's reputation—in spite of this, it was whispered about that the Observer was getting advertising by claiming to represent some publication of the Chautauqua association. Hearing this, I immediately set about to trace the report. The only person that I could hear of who, it was alleged, had given an advertisement under that supposition was Mr. Sonnenberg. I went to him at once, and told him what I had heard, adding that if he had given his advertising under that understanding I wanted to cancel his contract and release him. His reply was that he wished his contract to stand; and it did stand, and he paid for it very cheerfully when the industrial edition appeared. It is possible Mr. Sonnenberg thought when he gave the advertising to Mr. Gray that he was giving it to the Chautauqua association—I never asked him about that, for I was perfectly certain that Mr. Gray did not purposely mislead him. It would have been an extremely foolish thing to do; and, whatever else may be said of Mr. Gray, he is no fool. At all events, Mr. Gray is not with the Observer now, and has not been for something like six months; and when Mr. Aull wrote and published the offensive paragraph he knew it.

Mr. Aull says: "The Observer has as much right to bid for the publication (meaning the official booklet to be gotten out by the association  as has The Herald and News." That has nothing whatever to do with the case. I am not concerned about that publication in the least. Since it has been mentioned, as a matter of fact though, I will say the Observer was not invited to bid last year. I have no quarrel with the association on that account. If I am not invited to bid this year I shall make no kick about it, and shall be perfectly satisfied with any arrangements the association may make with regard to the official booklet or anything else that concerns the Chautauqua week; just as I am perfectly satisfied with their selection of Mr. Hunter to canvass for advertising for the official booklet. I will go further than that, and assure the association that I will gladly publish anything—within reasonable bounds of course—that they may think will help to make the occasion a success—provided it is furnished me simultaneously with its publication in other papers—as I did a year ago.

I am not concerned about advertising; nor booklets, official or otherwise; nor about any money proposition that the association may have on hand or in contemplation; but I am concerned for the good name of this newspaper. And that is why I have written this article. Editor the Observer.

Answered in its Own Paper.

The Laurens Advertiser in its last issue slings ink as follows:

"Judging from the baseball write-ups in the Newberry Herald and News it seems that the poor visiting teams never make a creditable play, while there is always a halo of glory around a majority of the Newberryites. Why not given both sides?"

The reason is that there is only one side to give when Newberry is run up against. This is again demonstrated by the Advertiser's Clinton correspondent in the same issue of the paper.

"The biggest crowd of the season gathered at the P. C. diamond Monday afternoon to see what turned out to be the poorest specimen of the great American game seen in Clinton in many a day—except possibly among the small boys. The score fails to tell the tale—13 to 5 in favor of Newberry. But every team has its off-day, and the P. C. boys can play good ball as they have demonstrated at the other games. This is the second game they have lost out of six this season. They were confident of winning over Newberry as several fans had assured them they had a better team. Their friends are sure they will reinstate themselves." Yes, indeed, "the poorest specimen" because Clinton was defeated by a score of 13 to 5 in favor of Newberry. Thirteen was an unlucky number for Clinton. Of course "they were confident of winning over Newberry, as several fans had assured them they had a better team." Thirteen to five looks like it, doesn't it? It was certainly the P. C.'s "off day." Don't be so confident next time. The "halo of glory" still shines from the Newberryites.

Death of Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Eliza Johnson, widow of W. Pink Johnson, died on Monday night at the home of her brother, Mr. J. R. Senn. She was 65 years old. Mrs. Johnson lived at Smyrna, but was visiting her brother when she died. She was buried at Trinity Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, service by the Rev. J. M. Fridy. She is survived by her sons, Dr. J. G. Johnson, of Chester, and Mr. A. M. Johnson, of Smyrna, and her daughter, Mrs. F. G. Spearman, of Greensboro, N. C. Her surviving brothers are Messrs. J. Gilliam Senn, of Clarendon, Kemper D. Senn, of the eastern part of the State; Dr. W. D. Senn and J. R. Senn, of the county.
