The Mexican situation seems to be coming more involved, instead of clearing up.

The general assembly did well in making Senator Mauldin judge of the new 13th circuit, comprising the counties of Greenville and Pickens. Senator Mauldin will make a good judge.

We regret that the State board of education has lost the services of Mr. C. J. Ramage, who resigned upon his appointment as special judge to hold the courts of the 12th circuit, on account of the illness of Judge Ernest Gary. Mr. S. McG. Simkins, of Edgefield, who will succeed him, will make a valuable member of the board.

It has been rumored throughout the city that the Coney Island Amusement company would not come here next week as scheduled on account of having been in Newberry and Laurens where there is an epidemic of small pox.—Gaffney Ledger.

This is too bad, but it generally happens that when you are unfair and unjust to your neighbor it proves a boomerang.

So far the legislature has done very little, and it seems now that adjournment will probably be reached this week with very little more accomplished. We suppose it is just as well. Some meritorious measures have been and are still before the general assembly, but they seem to be having rather rough sailing. The session, however, has been remarkably harmonious, for a South Carolina legislature.

THE PASS

The Charlotte Observer, in speaking of "the pass," says editorially:

"The Raleigh News and Observer is not hospitable to the efforts of Secretary Sherrill of the North Carolina Press Association to have the interstate bars against railroad passes let down. On the contrary, that paper comes out flat-footed against passes for editors under any circumstances. Our Raleigh contemporary regards the 'free pass' as 'an unmitigated evil,' and advises the next legislature to put an end to it in this State. Colonel Britton takes too rank a hold. All passes are not 'free' passes. There is not an editor in North Carolina that does not give advertising space equivalent to the value of the pass he uses. We take it that what the Raleigh editor is driving at is the principal of the pass, but even that is open to argument. No publisher has any call to regard the pass he bargains for as a favor. He gives value received for it and there is no condition attached to its issuance or use by which his hands would be tied in case he should find occasion to 'jump on' the railroads. It is a different proposition from the old days when any editor who so desired could stuff his pockets with railroad passes, and under circumstances which necessarily carried a sense of obligation. Under the present system of newspaper transportation it is a business proposition as legitimate as merchandising over the counter. The Observer does not believe in putting the law on the pass. It should be optional with a publisher whether he should accept a pass in exchange for advertising space, or pay his way when he rides and take whatever of railroad advertising may come his way in cash."

We have always looked upon this as a business matter between the newspapers and the railroads. There seem to be editors whose consciences will not permit them to accept transportation in exchange for advertising. That is all very well and good, but they should not attempt to regulate the consciences of their brethren. There is such a thing as carrying too far the doctrine of being your "brother's keeper," especially in purely business matter. The Charlotte Observer has put the matter strongly and well.

TOLD COMMITTEE VIEWS

Senator Smith Explained Literacy Test Attitude—Work Moving Ahead.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Chairman Smith of the senate immigration committee emphatically declared today he never had told the committee President Wilson would sign the pending immigration bill if it contained the literacy test. Members have been much confused over conflicting reports on the attitude of the president. The committee is going ahead, intending to retain in the bill the house provision for a literacy test.

Senator Smith asserted he frankly informed the committee immediately the day after seeing the president, that the president was not in favor of the literacy test. He left today for New York to make an inspection of Ellis Island with a view to aiding the committee in concluding its work on the bill.

This is Extraordinary.

Anything out of the ordinary appeals to everybody and is at once noticed. Some customers are not so particular and are satisfied with ordinary goods, others prefer something extra. Now Copeland Bros. ad tells the public of an extraordinary sale of new spring goods. They don't spring this on you as a sudden surprise, they tell you calmly, deliberately, that they have the goods and that they are going to have an extraordinary sale. Another thing they say that is a solid chunk of wisdom and as full of truth as an egg is of no making ingredients, and that is that "it pays to advertise when you have the goods." These are their exact words. They will bear reputation as they are catchy. "It pays to advertise when you have the goods." There is a great deal in that one little sentence. Those who don't have the goods don't advertise—no use. Copeland Bros. have the goods, hence it pays to advertise. By trading with them you help yourself, you help them and you help the paper, because we want to show them that they are right in saying that it pays to advertise. They have the goods.

STUDENTS' VOLUNTEER CONVENTION

Splendid Addresses Are Heard and Interesting Programme Enjoyed at Several Sessions.

The State.

Newberry, Feb. 22.—The State convention of the Student Volunteer association met in Holland hall, on Newberry college campus, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. H. C. Hester, former student at Furman university, now pastor of churches at and near Taylor Station, is president of the association, and Miss Pearl McCrory, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. of Winthrop college, is secretary. Both were present at the opening session at 8 o'clock. An address of welcome was made by Dr. J. Henry Harms, president of Newberry college, which was responded to by President Hester. Two fine addresses followed and were listened to by the large audience with interest. "The Call of Korea" was the subject of an address by the Rev. F. M. Hitch, on the secretaries of the mission board of the Southern church, returned missionary from Korea. "China. The Open Door," was the subject of an address by Dr. Purser, assistant educational secretary of the foreign mission board of the Baptist church. The evening session was followed by a reception by the faculty and students to the delegates and their colleges are represented by delegates: Columbia college, Winthrop, the Lutheran Theological seminary, Clemson college, Furman university, Wofford college, the Presbyterian Theological seminary, Erskine college, the Due West Woman's college, Limestone college Newberry college.

Yesterday morning's session was held in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, opening at 9:15 o'clock with devotional exercises by the Rev. C. H. Nabers, who has spent two years as a missionary in Egypt, but is now pastor of the A. R. P. church in Prosperity. The larger portion of the morning was taken up with the technical conference under the guidance of C. L. Lovell Murray of New York, educational secretary of the Student Volunteer movement, in charge. Every phase of missionary activity was discussed in a very practical way, until 12:30, when the conference adjourned for dinner, returning at 2:30 for the afternoon session, which was occupied with the work of the technical conference and with the business meeting. George Irving, editor of the North American Student, spoke to a large audience last night in the Church of the Redeemer. Members of the conference conducted the services at the several churches in the city today, when the conference closed.

The conference is composed of a fine body of young men and young women, representing nearly every college in the State. But for the sensational quarantine of Laurens against Newberry small pox, the attendance would have been large, for Converse, Lander and a few others would not let their delegates come.

Have you noticed that while farmers' boys are flocking to the cities to do clerical drudgery at little more than starvation wages their city employers, the far sighted business men, are investing heavily in farm property?—Exchange.

If all this be true it ought to make people think.
