NOTES FOR $350,000

SIGNED BY BLEASE

Eight Notes Become Due in January of 1915—Loan Made at 3 1-2 Per Cent.

News and Courier.

Columbia, July 14.—The State of South Carolina has borrowed $350,000 at 3 1-2 per cent, through its financial committee to be used for the State running expenses from this day until the new taxes come in, January, 1915. The loan which has been negotiated by the State borrowing board, composed of the governor, the State treasurer and the comptroller general, was obtained through the Palmetto National bank, of this city. At a meeting of the borrowing committee in the office of the State treasurer yesterday morning eight notes, aggregating $350,000, were signed by State Treasurer Carter, and Comptroller General Jones. The third member of the board, Governor Blease, not being present, the notes were returned to Mr. J. P. Matthews, cashier of the Palmetto National bank, bearing the signatures of the State treasurer and comptroller general, with a request to procure the governor's signature, and to place the amount to the credit of the treasurer of the State of South Carolina. President Jones thereupon presented the notes to the governor. The chief executive's signature having been affixed, the notes have been placed to the credit of the State.

Eight Notes.

In all eight notes have been signed and deposited; two notes for $50,000 each, payable January 5, 1915; two notes for $50,000 each and one for $25,000 payable January 11, 1915, and two notes for $50,000 each and one for $25,000, payable January 15, 1915.

With the incoming State taxes as security the State of South Carolina has been compelled for almost forty years to float a loan to meet running expenses for six months of the year. The legislative assemblies of 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913, in an item of the general appropriation bill, have authorized the State borrowing board, composed of as above stated, to negotiate this loan. Friction between the governor and the other two members of the board, has made it an impossibility to float the loan as provided, without a hitch in the negotiations. In 1913 the governor vetoed the item and asked that he should not be appointed a member of the board. The item was passed over his veto and the money was secured. There was practically the same procedure in 1912.

GOV. BLEASE SAYS

TROOPS CAN PASS

Tells Gov. Craig it Gives Him Pleasure to Extend Courtesy—Permission Unnecessary.

News and Courier.

Columbia, July 14.—Governor Blease has granted permission to the National Guard troops of North Carolina, who will participate in the joint encampment at Augusta, during the month of August, to pass through the State of South Carolina en route to the scene of the encampment.

Governor Blease's letter to Governor Craig, of North Carolina, is dated July 14, and is as follows:

July 14, 1914.

The Hon. Locke Craig, Governor, Raleigh, N. C.—My Dear Governor Craig: Your letter of July 13 received, requesting permission for certain military forces of your State to pass through this State upon their return to North Carolina after the encampment.

In reply, I beg leave to call your attention to article 1, Section 5, Military Code, which provides:

"No armed military force from another State, territory or district shall be permitted to enter the State for the purpose of doing military duty therein without the permission of the governor."

It seems that your troops will pass through merely for encampment purposes in another State, and not for the purpose of doing military duty in this State, and that the permission requested by you is unnecessary. However, if you prefer to have permission from me for your troops to pass through, as a courtesy to you it is a pleasure for me to, and I do hereby grant such permission.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) Cole L. Blease,
Governor.

The letter of Governor Craig asking permission of Governor Blease for the passage of armed North Carolina militia through this State is as follows:

Governor Craig's Letter.

"His Excellency, the Governor of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C.—My Dear Governor Blease: A portion of the North Carolina troops have been invited by the war department of the Federal government to participate in the joint manœuvres to be conducted this summer at Augusta, Ga., and the troops contemplating accepting this invitation are located in East North Carolina and the most feasible route to Augusta is through the State of South Carolina. I request that you permit these North Carolina troops to pass through your State while en route to Augusta, and return through your State after the manœuvres shall have been completed. The courtesy will be appreciated. Custom under these circumstances prescribes that the soldiers will go armed and equipped, but without ammunition. This custom will be rightly observed should you grant the permit to pass through South Carolina. I request that you enough to let me hear from you?"

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Locke Craig.

Attention, Voters.

Every Democrat should vote in the primary election, which will be held this year on August 25.

In order to vote, under the new rules, every Democrat must go in person and place his name upon the roll of his Democratic club, and he must enroll his name in full—not simply giving his initials, but enrolling his full name.

The last day for enrollment is Tuesday, July 28, 1914. Do not wait until the last day to enroll. You may be sick that day, or the secretary may not be found, or something else may happen to prevent you from getting your name on. Enroll now.

There is an erroneous impression among some that a registration certificate and tax receipt are required in order to enroll. You do not need a registration certificate or tax receipt.

If you live in a town divided into wards, enroll in your own ward.

If the ward has been sub-divided into two or more club districts, enroll in that sub-division in which you live. In all other cases, small towns, villages, and in the country, enroll in the club whose voting place is nearest to your residence, calculated by the nearest practicable route.

You are entitled to enroll and vote. If you become a resident of South Carolina before November 4, 1912;

And,

If you become a resident of your county before May 4, 1914;

And,

If you become a resident of your club district before June 25, 1914.

Temporary residence out of the State, county or club district does not disqualify you.

If you are properly enrolled, and move from one club district to another, even though it be in another county, within 60 days of the primary, you can return to the club district in which you are enrolled, and vote.

If you come within the rules, go to your club secretary, or the person in charge of the roll, and enroll. If for any reason the secretary or person in charge says you cannot enroll, demand your right. He is not the judge of your right to vote—it is his duty to let you enroll. If you are refused the privilege of enrolling, go back again with a reliable witness and demand your right once more. It won't hurt to give the secretary written notice of your demand. If you are again refused, appeal to the county Democratic executive committee.

It is the duty of every white man who is a Democrat to enroll and vote. Enroll today, and go to the polls on the 25th of August and cast your ballot.

THE NEWS OF POMARIA.

"Old Maids Convention" July 22.—New Lutheran Pastor Has Arrived. Barbecue and Baseball.

Special to The Herald and News.

Pomaria, July 16.—Everybody is urged and entreated to attend the meeting of the "Old Maids Convention," which will be held in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, July 22, at 8:30 o'clock. Laughing is an excellent thing to keep the digestive organs in good working order, so come to the "convention" and get your supper well digested before the night's rest. If you are afraid laughing will hurt you, however, it will be better for you to remain away, for laugh you must or burst. It would make a spinster smile to hear the humorous experiences and "cranky" ways of the old maids, and would enlighten a lawyer on such vital subjects as love and matrimony, which are the foundation of the club. The mysterious element is also present in the form of little red berries, which cause wonderful transformations in Misses Leulla Primrose and Dora Doolittle at the hands of Mr. Philip James. If you wish fun, come. If you wish enlightenment, come. But it makes no difference what you wish, although it does make a difference whether you are present or not, because the proceeds go to the School Improvement association.

The Rev. R. H. Anderson, of Virginia, a graduate of the Lutheran Theological seminary of Pennsylvania, conducted his second service here Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Quite a large and appreciative audience was profited by the very beautiful and interesting sermon. Although just from school, Mr. Anderson has entered upon his duties with a seriousness of purpose scarcely surpassable; and already he and Mrs. Anderson, also a native of Virginia, have won the hearts of their congregation. We are sure that we will have in Mr. Anderson one of the best pastors that we have ever had, and wish him success in his new work.

Mrs. Z. T. Pinner is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Johnson, in the mountains of North Carolina, near Hendersonville.

Col. John Hobbes, his wife and daughters, Misses Ethel and Claire, of New York, spent the week-end in this section, visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Nina Dickert, of Newberry, is visiting at Mr. J. C. Cromer's.

Mrs. Minnie Shealy, of Newberry, spent Monday with Mrs. T. A. Setzler and family.

The Rev. Mr. Goodman, of Mont Amoenia seminary, was in town Tuesday, in the interest of the college.

Mr. John D. Shealy spent the week in Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, of Monticello, are visiting at Mr. W. D. Hutton's.

Messrs. W. B. Counts and C. W. Sawyer spent a week in Charleston in company with Messrs. Singley, Schumper, Fellers and W. B. Wise, of Prosperity.

The W. O. W. camp here is flourishing and at a full meeting this week four new members were initiated to the protective degree.

We are expecting a large crowd at the barbecue Friday, July 24. A good dinner will be served and Pomaria and Chapin will contend for the first baseball game of the season that Pomaria will play.

Herald and News on Top Again.

Ward 1 book will be open at Baxter's undertaking parlors for registration of voters.—Newberry Herald and News.

Why not do the work right in the graveyard.—York News.

Because dead men don't vote in Newberry as they do in some places.—Newberry Herald and News.

A citizen of Prosperity told the o. b. man a few days ago that at the election in Prosperity in 1912 two men voted who had been dead twenty years; at least, their names were on the roll, and somebody voted in their names. And yet some people are "cussin" the new enrolling rules.—Newberry Observer.

And so they vote after all.—York News.

When we read the above in the York News some time ago we subsided, thinking the News had us, as we thought of course the Observer knew what it was talking about. We laid low and said nothing. Now come the Observer with the following which the York News will please read:

One of the managers of the Prosperity box assures us that he knew personally every man who voted at that box. Such being the case, it is not possible that any votes were put into the box there for any dead person.

No votes were put into that box except by persons entitled to vote, and there were no names of dead persons on the poll list.—Newberry Observer.

And so they don't vote after all.

Legislative Material.

News and Courier.

Here is an editorial from the Abbeville Medium which ought to strike home in Charleston:

"In Newberry the present members of the legislature have all announced for re-election. Newberry has one of the strongest delegates of any county in the State. It exercises more influence in legislation than that of Spartanburg, though Spartanburg has three times as many members of the house as Newberry. It is more powerful than the Charleston delegation, though Charleston has four times as many representatives as Newberry.

"There's a reason.

"Newberry's delegation consists of Geo. S. Mower, Arthur Kibler and C. T. Wyche. These are veteran legislators of marked ability.

"When the counties of the State send such men to Columbia to represent them in the legislature, and keep them there for long years, the county will be well served, and the State will profit.

"Abbeville county has men who are the equal in ability of any. We trust they will offer for the legislature, thus giving the people the opportunity to vote for them.

"There is at this time only one candidate for the house in Abbeville county. He is of the type of which we speak, Abbeville will honor itself in electing him."

The Medium is mistaken as to its figures. Charleston having only nine seats in the house of representatives, or three times the number to which Newberry is entitled; but is it wrong as to its deductions?

The next meeting of the general assembly will almost certainly be one of extraordinary activity. Is the metropolis of the State content to go without leadership at a time when leadership of the right sort could achieve much both for the city and State?

(The legislative lists are still open in Charleston county. They will be open until noon of the day preceding the day on which the first county campaign meeting is held. The rules of the party, as adopted at the recent May convention in Columbia, say so in so many words. But it is evident that the community will wait in vain for men of the type which is wanted to come forward and volunteer their services.

The only way to get such men is to impress them. What is the matter with the men of affairs in Charleston that they are so indifferent to what is at stake in this matter?

GOV. BLEASE ASKS AID FOR STORM SUFFERERS

Issues Proclamations Calling for Contributions for Laurens and York.

Columbia, July 13.—Governor Blease has issued proclamations asking aid for the sufferers from the recent wind, rain and hail storms in York and Laurens counties. The citizens of the State are called upon to contribute according to their means. In order that the funds may be properly distributed contributions should be sent to the following men whose names are given in the proclamation: For York county—W. D. Grist, Yorkville; Dr. T. N. Dulin, Bethel, Yorkville; R. F. D.; John T. Roddey, Rock Hill; W. B. Byers, Rock Hill; R. M. Barnett, Yorkville; R. F. D. No. 6; W. W. Stanton, Clover, R. F. D.; C. L. Cobb, Rock Hill.

For Laurens county—Geo. A. Brown, Jr., Goldville; Mayor Clarence M. Babb, Laurens; Mayor John R. Cope-

County Sunday School Convention

The Newberry County Sunday School convention will be held at Bethlehem church, near Pomaria, on Thursday and Friday, September 3 and 4. The date fixed this year is a little later than usual as the State superintendent, the Rev. J. C. Carman, is unable to be with us at an earlier date.

We are anxious to have him with us and have thought best to postpone the convention in order that he may be here.

We want this year's convention to be the best we have ever had, and urge all Sunday school superintendents, officers, and teachers to get to work at once to make this year a great success.

Arthur Kibler,

Pres. Co. S. S. Convention.

"Editor Aull's Swan Song."

Abbeville Press and Banner.

Good news comes from all over the Third Congressional district as to the Hon. Fred. H. Dominick. Information now is that he will have a safe majority in every county except possibly Abbeville and in that county the race will be close. The voters of the district could scarcely do better than send him to congress. We were in Greenwood the other day and everything looks mighty fine up there. The same news comes from Anderson, Pickens, and Oconee. Of course, he would not think of carrying the home county of Mr. Aiken, but he is going to make it mighty interesting up there for the gentleman.—Newberry Herald and News.

There is an old legend that the swan, ordinarily a mere gabbler, like other water fowl, in the throes of death, sings his own funeral hymn. How swan-like, and how hymn-like the quoted lines from The Herald and News, whose editor ever has been, and even now is in the same boat with Mr. Dominick, while the said boat is drawing nearer and nearer the rapids.

The said boat has had pretty heavy jolts before, for instance when the Hon. Frederick Dominick was overwhelmingly defeated for the legislature the last time he offered; when this same Editor Aull last election was defeated for school commissioner by a vote of something like two to one, and when the Hon. Frederick a few months ago received seventeen votes in his home club out of the hundred or more voting for delegates to the State convention.

Coming down to the facts, is Editor Aull singing or whistling? Whistling, I trow. The little boat surely must be approaching a graveyard.

And Editor Aull really does think Wyatt Aiken may carry Abbeville, or perhaps this was just thrown in to keep from breaking the congressman's heart all in one smash. Col. Aull has always been thoughtful of other people's feelings, and mindful of their kindnesses, and doubtless this little outburst of generosity sprung from these known characteristics.

Of course Colonel Aull believes that Hon. Fred. Dominick will carry every county in the district. Did I say all? Well, all save Abbeville, so graciously excepted by the Colonel. And why is it so certain that he believes it? Why, because the Colonel solemnly says so in the columns of his paper, and the Colonel would not solemnly say anything favorable to himself or his political friends in the columns of his paper he did not believe to be true. It is even raised about that Col. Aull is to take a little trip through the district in behalf of Mr. Dominick, but let no man infer from this that Col. Aull would be partial to Mr. Dominick in the columns of his paper! Perish the thought!

Now coming back to Col. Aull's and Hon. Fred. Dominick's home county. Of course the Colonel is a good church member as is this editor, and good church members can't bet, but this editor has a friend who will even brave the vengeance of the State constables for whom the Charleston race track gamblers seem to stand in such dread to bet a good round sum that Mr. Aiken will get more votes in Newberry county than will Mr. Dominick. The Colonel's claim that Mr. Dominick will carry every county in the Third district, always saving Abbeville, is like the claim of the little fisherman, who said when he got the fish he was then trying to catch and five more he would have six.

The people know that Mr. Aiken has been constantly at his post in Washington attending to their business, taking the high ground that the man in National politics should not interfere in factional fights in the State. They know that no man in congress ever rendered more honest or more faithful service to his party and to the people of his State, and the people are just, whatever may be said of the politicians who would warp their judgment.

Much as Mr. Dominick would like to do it, he is without excuse to cry even as did Brutus: "Help me Casius or I sink."

In Memoriam Mrs. J. D. Sheely.

The home of Mr. John D. Sheely was saddened on the night of June 9, when the heavenly Father looked down from heaven and called wife and mother, the one that is so sadly missed in a family, and whose place never can be filled. She was a dear kind lady to all that she knew. Her desire was to please every one and especially to those who were with her all the time. The beautiful words that her pastor and Rev. John J. Long spoke at her funeral show the high esteem in which she was held and now to the dear family, Weep not, for your loss is her gain, blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea with the spirit that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them. We who knew her best loved her most.

A Friend.

Card of Thanks.

I can not begin to express my appreciation of the kindness shown us by our neighbors, friends and kindred during the last illness of my husband. I wish especially to thank the Woodmen of the World for their assistance and sympathy. We know that we can never repay this debt of gratitude to our friends but we can hope that when sorrow and death come into their homes that God will put it into the hearts of their neighbors and friends to do unto them as they have done unto us.

Mrs. John W. Hendrix.

Social.

Miss Leon Swindler entertained her friends last Friday evening, celebrating her 16th birthday. Quite a lot of handsome presents were received. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. W. O. Swindler and children, of Columbia, and Mrs. C. L. Blease, of Columbia. The house was beautifully decorated with potted plants. At a late hour an elaborate ice course was served.

For Magistrate No. 5.

Hix Connor is hereby announced as a candidate for Magistrate No. 5 township and will abide the result of the Democratic primary.
