Besides the usual good line of pictures which is characteristic of this house, arrangements have been made to put on an unusually good vaudeville consisting of young men and women of the town.

A musical program will be rendered consisting of some of the latest song hits of the season. Quite a number of fast and snappy choruses will be given, a male quartet will render a few selections and a reading will be given by Miss Margaret Burns.

These young people have been under the direction of some of Newberry's most competent musicians and a good show is guaranteed to all whose privilege it may be to attend.

The previous home talent vaudeville which have been given speak for themselves, but this promises to surpass anything which has been given along its line.

Three performances will be given, one in the afternoon about 4:30 and two in the evening, at 8:30 and 9:45, respectively.

The same prices of admission will be charged.

Looking forward to 1916 is one of the most fascinating forms of watchful waiting in which statesmanship can indulge.—Bradentown Herald.

COUNTY TRUSTEES' MEETING SATURDAY, APRIL 10

In the absence of the president, Dr. Geo. Y. Hunter, and the vice president, Mr. W. A. Counts, the Trustees association was presided over by the secretary, Mr. Geo. D. Brown, Jr. About 60 men and 20 ladies were present.

The first round table discussion on the program, "Compulsory School Attendance," was led by Prof. S. J. Derrick, Mr. H. T. Fellers, Mr. T. M. Mills, Mr. Ernest Anderson, Mr. J. C. Craps, Mr. McSwain, Mr. J. C. Neal and Dr. Geo. B. Cromer entered into the discussion. It was made clear that at the present compulsory attendance bill was so weak that all power was left in the hands of trustees, that the new question would not be affected by the bill at all, that children would be compelled to come to school four months or full term if school runs less than four months, and that it would be beneficial to the cause of State-wide compulsory school attendance if each district would have petitions signed by a majority of the qualified electors and presented to the county board of education before June first.

Miss Sadie Goggans, supervising teacher, spoke on the selection of teachers. She emphasized the excellence of the present corps of teachers, excusing the few deficient teachers on the plea of too low salaries to make preparation, and the advisability of retaining the same teacher in almost every instance. Four questions were asked the trustee concerning his teacher, namely: Does your teacher own the text-books she teachers, so she can make daily preparation? Do your children respect the teacher's authority? Has your teacher visited the patrons and held public meetings at the school? Has your teacher shown her willingness to co-operate in the progress of the county school system by attending teachers' meetings, teachers' institute and Field and Fair day? Trustees were urged to encourage teachers with second and third grade certificates to take the examination on May 7th and to insist on teachers attending summer school.

The Trustees' association of Newberry county, by resolutions, went on record as favoring the following:

- 1. The attendance of teachers upon summer schools and the maintenance of a summer school for Laurens and Newberry county teachers at Newberry college.
- 2. The increase in the salary of the county superintendent of education to $1,500 and expenses.
- 3. The acceptance of the office of superintendent of education recently offered to Prof. S. J. Derrick.
- 4. The dispatch of a telegram of regrets at the illness of Dr. Geo. Y. Hunter and Mr. Marion Long.
- 5. The regrets of the association at the loss of the excellent services of the present superintendent, Mr. Geo. D. Brown.

Mr. Brown thanked the trustees for their hearty support of his administration, the success of which he said was due to "the support and help of the best corps of teachers in the State, the co-operation of the best body of trustees in the State, the interest of the best patrons in the State, and the active influence of one of the best supervising teachers in the State."

There being no further business, the association adjourned to meet again at least six weeks before Fair and Field day next year, to plan for that great even.

To Meet Trains. The following committees have been appointed by Prof. S. J. Derrick, chairman of the entertainment committee of the State Sunday school convention:

- 1. Committee on assignment of homes for delegates—J. H. Wicker, chairman; Mrs. W. H. Hunt, Mrs. W. G. Houseal, Mrs. H. L. Parr, Miss Sadie Digsby, J. M. Davis, B. Shealy and B. V. Chapman.
- 2. Committee to meet 11:38 and 1:06 trains, 20th—Walter Wallace, Miss Fannie McCaughrin, Miss Fanny Lyle, J. D. Kinard and Miss Genie Belle Burton.
- 3. To meet 3:00, 9:32; 6:39 and 8:54 trains, the 20th—O. B. Cannon, Mrs. W. H. Hunt, J. M. Davis, Miss Olive Koon, Miss Sadie Digsby and Mrs. P. E. Scott.
- 4. To meet 9:00, 9:32, 11:38 and 1:06 trains on the 21st—J. H. Wicker, R. D. Smith, Jr., Miss Geneva Thornton, Miss Lilla Cromer, B. Shealy and G. Y. Dickert.
- 5. To meet 3:00, 3:20, 6:39 and 8:45 trains, on the 21st—Dr. C. D. Weeks, Mrs. Wm. Hornsby, Mrs. H. L. Parr, Mrs. W. G. Houseal, T. B. Houseal, T. B. McIntyre and H. G. Holland.

These committees will meet the particular trains to which they are assigned and see that the delegates get to their places to which they have been assigned.

EPTING-PAULSEN.

Interesting and Beautiful Marriage in Savannah—Bride Daughter of Rev. M. J. Epting.

Savannah, Ga. Morning News, 6th. The marriage of Miss Lucile C. Epting to Mr. Grover C. Paulsen took place last evening at 9 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church and was an interesting and beautiful one. Taking place in the church of which the bride's father is pastor, the occasion was given deeper sentiment by the fact that he performed the marriage service. Friends of the two young people filled the church, which was decorated with Easter lilies and palms. Bamboo was caught over the windows, giving a charming background of green and behind the altar white curtains were looped back and tall palms were outlined against them. Pots of Easter lilies and spirea were ranged on the steps.

The wedding march was played by the organist, Mrs. Frank Richmond. As the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was given, the groomsmen, Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald and Mr. Gilbert Lang, Mr. J. P. Helmken and Mr. J. R. Weeks, entered through opposite aisles. The bridesmaid, Miss Lucile Carter, of Danville, Va., entered with Mr. Elmo Weeks, and was followed by the bride's sister, Miss Elizabeth Epting, and then by the little flower girl, Miss Elsie Kuck. The bride entered with her uncle, Dr. R. B. Epting, of Greenwood, S. C., and was met by the bridegroom with his best man, Mr. Charles D. Ellis. In performing the ceremony, the bride's father, the Rev. M. J. Epting, D. D., was assisted by the Rev. William Hoppe, D. D., of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension. As it was solemnized, "Evening Star," from "Tannhauser" was softly played, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was given as recessional.

The bride was charming in her wedding gown of white satin, with long train of brocade with a silver thread. The corsage of crepe chiffon had a bolero of real lace caught together with a pearl ornament, and a narrow band of pearls edged the full sleeves and the round shirred neck. The skirt, made very full and corded, ended in a double corded ruche and an overdress of brocade was loosely clasped at the front with pearls. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a diamond pendant set in platinum of a platinum chain and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. Her tulle veil was worn over the face and confined by a wreath of orange blossoms.

The two bridesmaids were gowned alike in charming girlish dresses of white crepe meteor, the gathered skirt scalloped at the edge and falling over a flounce of Chantilly lace. The little empire bodice was very full, with chemisette of Chantilly lace. A soft fall of lace, weighted with a pearl ornament, formed the sleeves, and from the girdle hung a half tunic, corded in to the waist and scalloped along the edge, rather short at the front and falling to a deep point at the back. They carried Easter lilies. The bride's gifts to her maids were gold pins with a tiny wedding bell, set with pearls, enclosed in them.

The little flower girl wore a charming frock of French embroidery, in valley lily design, with double flounced skirt, each flounce edged with lace. Her ribbons were pink, and she carried a basket of pink roses.

Mr. Paulsen's gifts to his groomsmen were gold belt buckles. After the ceremony a reception for the members of both families was held at Dr. and Mrs. Epting's home. The decorations were charming, with white flowers only in the drawing room, where the bride and the bridegroom received congratulations. Palms were arranged at the south side of the room, with Easter lilies grouped near them, and on the mantel were Easter lilies, with pots of spirea in the fireplace below. In the library across the hall, pink flowers were used.

Mrs. Epting was gowned in pale grey chiffon over gray chepe de chine, the chiffon tunic edged with cut steel. A wide girde of purple velvet ribbon gave a charming contrasting color. She carried lilies of the valley and lilac sweet peas.

The wedding gifts were very handsome, and included much in the way of silver, glass and china for household use, besides furniture, and several very large checks. A chest of silver was presented by the directors of the Real Estate bank, and a handsome davenport by Mr. Jacob S. Collins, president of the National Bank of Savannah. Officers of the church gave a beautiful library table of mahogany, and there was also a mahogany bookcase and many other pieces of furniture.

The refreshment table was charmingly adorned with flowers and lights, lilies of the valley forming the centerpiece, and here the wedding cakes were cut. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Miss Carter, of Danville, Va.; Mrs. F. H. Copeland, of Ehrhardt, S. C., and Dr. R. B. Epting, of Greenwood, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Paulsen left last night on their wedding trip to Florida, Cuba. The bride's traveling gown was a tailored suit of putty colored poplin, with a blouse of cream crepe with cream lace. Her bridesmaid was of slightly lighter color, with a blouse of cream crepe with cream lace. Her bridesmaid was simply trimmed with a blue velvet, and small flowers in contrasting tones. After the return Mr. and Mrs. Paulsen begin housekeeping in an apartment at 10 West Thirty-seventh street.

Poor Man. "Walter, this ham is as good as rank!" "Impossible, sir. Why did you cure it ourselves last week?" "Well, then, it's had a bad relapse."—Tattler.
