GILDER & WEEKS

Mrs. Mamie Nancy Kinard.
Mrs. Mamie Nancy Kinard, wife of Mr. Julius J. Kinard, was born December 16th, 1875 and died at her home in the Pomaria section Sunday afternoon, April 2, 1916, and was laid to rest the following day in the New Hope cemetery in the presence of a host of sorrowing relatives and friends.

The services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. A. Duckworth, assisted by Rev. S. C. Ballentine.

Our friend and loved one was a consecrated member of the Methodist church, but was unable to attend, as she had been in bad health for a number of years, being afflicted badly with rheumatism. All the while she bore her afflictions and suffering with Christian fortitude. She was never heard to murmur or complain, but was always cheerful.

Mrs. Kinard leaves to mourn her departure a devoted husband, two daughters, three sons, a father (Mr. Morris Oxner of Kinards), two sisters and a brother.

We miss thee, dear one,
Yes, we miss thee,
Standing on this dismal shore,
But 'tis Jesus who has called thee
And His will is best we know.

A REMARKABLE COLLEGE

In the March American Magazine is told the story of Oneida Institute in the Cumberland Mountains in Kentucky that with 100 rooms and 100 acres some six hundred students at $4 a month and has no money to pay salaries to its professors who, without pay are drawing the Kentucky mountaineers from the age of Queen Elizabeth into the Twentieth Century.

The president of the college, J. A. Burns has been forced to go on the Chautauqua circuit in order to make a little money for running expenses. He himself was a Kentucky boy who made his own shoes out of self tanned hides, threshed wheat with an old fashioned mill and picked the seed from cotton bolls by hand. He considered himself lucky to get seventeen months schooling. In another story that the American Magazine printed about Burns of the Mountains it called attention to the fact that the charter of his college was signed by fifteen men, twelve of whom had to make their mark-twelve big, full grown, fine unhyphenated Americans.

This college with no money has standing room only and turns away hundreds for lack of room. In spite of its poverty and limited facilities it has already eliminated in its section of the countryfeudism of a hundred and fifty years and given the mountaineers the wherewithal to meet the changed conditions of advancing civilization.

He Feeds 5,000,000 People Every Day.

In the April American Magazine is an account of Herbert C. Hoover, director of the Belgian Relief Commission, who feeds five million people every day, is responsible for $100,000,000 a year and distributes from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 worth of food a month through unofficial civil organizations.

Mr. Hoover does all this with no telephone or telephone and but scant help from the railroad. Most of the provisions are transported by canal. They are distributed in rations that will just sustain life. In a letter to a friend Mr. Hoover recently said:

"It strikes me that trying to feed the Belgians is like trying to feed a hungry little kitten by means of a 40-foot bamboo pole, said kitten confined in a barred cage occupied by two hungry lions."

ARMIES OF KAISER GET NEAR VERDUN

Berlin Reports Capture of Two Strong Points of Support South of Harcourt.

Persist in attempts by the Germans to reduce the salient in the French lines northwest of Verdun are resulting in steady progress for the operation. Attacks are being driven home on both sides of the salient, at the northern angle of which lies the village of Bethincourt, but more particularly on the western edge in vicinity of Harcourt.

Berlin reports the capture of two strong points of support to the south of Harcourt, which passed recently into German hands, an entire French position along a front of more than a mile and a quarter coming into German possession. Paris has admitted German advances here, but declares that on the opposite side of the salient the advantage in the recent fighting has been with the French. The present German activity in the Verdun region is confined almost entirely to this operation, although the artillery in other sections around the fortress is being intermittently employed.

Eastern Front.

On the eastern front there have been no operations of major importance, so far as the official reports show. The Russians apparently are limiting their activity at present for the most part to the Lake Narocz region, south of Dvinsk and Berlin declares that such attacks as have been made there were along a narrow front and were easily repulsed.

Violent fighting is taking place on the Austro-Italian front, the Austrians being on the aggressive in several sectors and reporting considerable successes with the capture of numerous prisoners.

Three Austrian aeroplanes, which were part of a squadron which raided railway stations back of the hostile lines, failed to return to their base and apparently have fallen victims to Italians.

Several additional vessels have been sunk in the course of the German submarine campaign and Paris officially announces the sinking of an Austrian transport in the Adriatic by a French submarine.

A Berlin dispatch states that the German government is able to announce that no German submarine was responsible for the explosion which damaged the cross-channel steamer Sussex.

Farmers, Attention!

The cotton boll weevil is coming. It has traveled nearly 100 miles toward us this season. It has already reached Georgia. The situation is serious and the threatening calamity is almost upon us. The loss caused to the cotton crop by this pest in the affected districts is variously estimated from 10 to 50 per cent.

Weevil multiply rapidly. Scientists say the offspring from a single pair will in the course of a year amount to hundreds of thousands.

Those who have made a close study of the situation tell us that birds are one of the most important agencies in holding this pest in check.

The bureau of biological survey informs us that 38 species of birds eat the boll weevil. For this important service which they perform we are advised to protect these birds in every way and in every place possible. Among the best known of the species which we are advised to protect are: The killdeer, bobwhite, bullbat, phoebe, cowbird, redwinged blackbird, meadow lark, orchard oriole, white-throated sparrow, cardinal, painted bunting, mockingbird, brown thrasher, Carolina wren and the purple martin.

The killdeer, orchard oriole and bullbat are mentioned as being especially destructive to the weevil, and we are told that rigid protection should be given them. The killdeer is almost extinct in this State, and in spite of the bullbat's being protected by law, it is still slaughtered in large numbers. One of the most valuable birds on the farm is the bobwhite. It feeds on the seeds of nearly all the most destructive weeds and many of the worst insect pests, among them the cotton boll weevil. It is estimated that for this reason, each bobwhite is worth $5 per acre. One Texas farmer wrote the bureau of entomology at Washington that his cotton fields were full of bobwhites and free from the weevils.

Birds are one of the best helps we have in fighting this pest. The greater the number of species on the protected list, and the shorer the open season on others, the more birds there will be to eat the weevils and the fewer weevils there will be to eat up the cotton.

Bird protection means dollars and cents in the pockets of the farmers.

Julia Claussen Day at The Coming Chautauqua

JULIA CLAUSSEN, EMINENT CONTRALTO OF THE CHICAGO GRAND OPERA COMPANY.

THE great musical climax of the entire Chautauqua program comes again this year on the closing night, when Julia Claussen of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, whose successes of the recent opera season have even surpassed her former achievements, will appear in a concert. She will be assisted by Pierre Henrotte, concert master of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, and Marcel Charlier, also one of the leading conductors of Chicago Grand Opera.

A year ago, when Miss Alice Nielsen toured the Redpath Chautauquas, it was then widely stated in the musical journals that the Chautauqua opened a new field to the greatest musicians. The fact that another such great artist as Julia Claussen has been engaged for this season and that the assisting artists are also well known in the grand opera world at once establishes the fact that the move to give the Chautauquas the greatest music was not a spasmodic one, but permanent.

and an increase in the prosperity of the country.

Birds are crop protectors. If we wish to protect our crops, we must protect the birds.

Farmers, the birds are your friends. See that your friends are protected.
