Mr. Editor: Most farmers had come to the conclusion that the traditional lingering of winter had come to an end, but it is not so-a heavy frost mixed with sleet and ice on the 1st of April was a reality. The birds which mingled such sweet charms of music bave taken shelter under the weather signals and the cool wave has by ned their merry tongues. Such uanges of temperature makes us feel like a human music box with no manipulator, or puts us in the position of a poor fellow tarred and given a free ride on a rail.

He promises a better ar rangement for Summerton next time however. Says they will have the "substantials, and then pie time." This will be more in order.

After a more careful consideration of the matter, the Panolaites have concluded that it might be better for their section, if the railroad went to Summerton, and from there direct to Sumter, as it would leave open what is known as the "big bend of Santee" to the boat, which would give us a lively competition, that may redound to our good. Summerton will be near enough for us to take the train to travel. So we will not feel hurt if the flay is taken back to Summerton and the depot given them.

History of the United States.

One of the most meritorious proly brought before the public, is a Pictorial history of the United States written by Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, distinguished as one of the most eminent writers of his day. What the people of our day and country has long needed, has been an elaborated history of the United States. Stephens' Pictorial History supplies the want. It commences with the discovery of America and comes down to the present time. It contains 1,060 pages and is elegantly illustrated with 300 steel and wood engravings. The opportunity is offerred the people of Clarendon to purchase this valuable work from the Rev. W. G. Rollins, of Darlington, a worthy minister, who is now canvassing the county. The greatest men give the book their un qualified endorsement.
