

The Legislature adjourned last Monday morning. Most of the members, however, left the Saturday before. But they drew their $5 per diem all the same.

The Legislature has passed the Clemson College bill, but Governor Richardson declines for the present to sign it, and consequently it cannot for the present become a law. The bill was passed at the close of the session, and by constitutional provision he can, if he wishes, defer signing or vetoing it, until the Legislature meets again. He says he will take advantage of this provision. Governor Richardson is opposed to accepting the bequest just as it stands.

We desire mildly to remark that the Legislature just closed did little credit to South Carolina. At the beginning, both houses, the lower house especially, consisted largely of gas bags whose aim seemed to be to let off campaign eloquence. Public business was neglected till too late, and then everything was rushed through in an almost disgracefully undignified manner. There were several young lawyers there who ought to have been in their proper place, before some trial justice's court. Why are the people so foolish to send such delegates? No allusion to Clarendon's delegates. They were each quiet, sensible, hard-working members, who did their duty.

DAVE TUCKER

On the Trials of a Trial Justice.

Oh! my, this Trial Justice business is the greatest mixtification of things I ever knew. Some how or other I can't straighten things no how I fix it. I can't please everybody that's sure, for in every case I try, I am bound to make enemies of the whole Breed and generation of the party I decide against. Both sides declare they are right and I am compelled to decide between them, and both can't be right and neither wrong. Nevertheless, I fire away at the trial, hit or miss, one way or the other, and the result is, the defeated party gets mad and calls me (behind my back) all sorts of bad names, I am consoled in the reflection that the winning side thinks I am a small edition of Blackstone. But such is life and I will have to take the bitter as well as the sweets of it, and I reckon I can stand it. The wear and tear of the precarious responsibility attached to the office of a Trial Justice is having a debilitating effect on me, and I fear I shall have an attack of softening of the brain, that I didn't have, as Sam Johnson said when I sent him to jail for stealing Pete Groom's hound pup. Nine tenths of the complainants know more law than was ever written, and when I tell them that no such law as they claim exists, express surprise and seem amazed at my ignorance. I generally convince them when I place before them the acts of the Legislature from 1805 to the present, including the general statutes at large, and ask them to point out such law. It generally winds up with: "Oh! my, I can't find it in all them books, but old uncle Jim Rains told me that was the law." O, you fire side lawyers, you little know how much trouble you give by your ignorance! Why! old Mr. Smoot wanted me the other day to make John Sandy marry her daughter Sallie, and come to find out John had not yet asked Sallie to marry him. But the old lady wanted me "to fetch John up and make him fix matters with Sallie and that quickly." I promised her I would do the best I could for her and Sallie, but I am fearful I will make a poor effort at it, for I had a dreadful time and a poor make out courting Becky. I really believe if she hadn't helped me right smartly I would have been a lone bachelor. I have ever since been much obliged to her for the help she gave me, and have never had, and am sure never will have, cause to regret it.

And now comes Mary Ann McGuire in a peck of trouble. She says her husband, Jack McGuire, does not support and clothe her and the children, and she wants me to make him do it. Oh! me, I told her I couldn't do that, that I had no jurisdiction in that matter. She told me: "Jurisdiction be hanged, just send Jack to jail for a month and let him freeze some, and she allowed he would walk the chalk line sure then." Well, as I knew that Jack was a "freckle-faced, long lean, gamble-shacked, knocked-kneed, sneaking, impertinent, ill-bred, half-baked specimen of a gawky, good-for-nothing sort of a fellow," I told her to tell Jack, that if he didn't feed his family on ham and rice, flour, syrup and sugar, three square meals a day, with lynch thrown in on Sunday, turkey for Christmas, and a trip to the springs next summer, I would issue a writ of "mandamus, e pluribus unum," and land him in the penitentiary for the balance of his natural born days. She said: "That will fetch him sure," and she left me humming the tune, "Oh! how can I leave thee." I am glad that I have at least made one poor soul happy, if but for a moment. It's a oasis in that suffering woman's miserable existence.

I had a case last week that out-cased any case I ever had. Mrs. Silvey Green complained "that Jim Hitower had taken her goose and sold it without leave or license, that her goose was a white gander, with three black feathers in one wing, red legs and yaller bill, and he had grey eyes, moreover, he was a notable gander." So I had a trial to see who this notable gander belonged to. Mrs. Green proved by six witnesses that, that notable gander was hers, had been living in the family for twenty-five years. I thought she had Hitower sure, and so did she, but bless you, he proved by just six witnesses that he thought that notable gander from Noah Suggs, and that there were eleven notable ganders in the same neighborhood with black feathers in their wings, red legs and yaller bills too. It was six and six, with some tall swearing thrown in. This was a stumper, and I was in a quandary. How I sighed for the wisdom of a Solomon, but that venerable sage described me in my tribulations. After mature deliberation I decided that the gander belonged to neither of them, and as they could not pay costs I turned it over to the constable for his share of the costs. As to mine, its "gone where the wood-bine twineeth." Maybe some day I'll get a few chips and whet-stones for it. I have already received the cussing part of the proceedings. On the whole, my experience teaches me that fully one half of the cases brought before Trial Justices arise from a desire to gratify a malicious, spiteful and wicked spirit in the prosecutor, in revenge for some imaginary injury alleged to have been sustained; the public good being a secondary consideration. The other half an attempt to twist a civil action into a criminal prosecution to coerce the payment of debt, or attain some pecuniary gain. These are, however, honorable exceptions.

A Life-time Trouble Averted.

TATE SPRINGS, TENN., July 4, 1888. The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.: During the spring of 1871, while working in the field at my home in Morgan county, Ga., I pulled off my shoes to give my feet a rest. Unfortunately I walked into a clump of poison oak, and in a few days my feet were in a terrible condition, and I could not put on a shoe because of the soreness and swelling. I was treated as poison oak cases usually are, and everything was healed up. About the same time the following spring 1872, my feet became sore again, as at first, and every succeeding spring for five years brought back the same condition of the disease, only each time it became more distressing, because I began to think it was a life-time trouble. Finally I was induced to try Swift's Specific. I took six bottles, and to-day am entirely well. My improvement was gradual from the first, and no evidence of the disease remains. I shall take pleasure in testifying as to its curative properties. It is the greatest blood purifier in existence. Yours truly, J. L. MORGAN.

Free Will Baptists.

EDITOR MANNING TIMES:—Believing that any news as to moral and religious status of the colored citizens will be of interest to your readers, and every effort on their part in this respect will receive your aid and encouragement, I desire me to write the following publication: The annual conference of the southeastern portion of South Carolina of the African Free Will Baptist denomination convened at Good Will church in Williamsburg county on the 23rd ultimo, and had a harmonious session of three days. This conference is composed of churches in Clarendon, Darlington, Georgetown, Williamsburg, and Sumter counties. There were in attendance thirty-five ministers and seventy lay delegates. Our statistics shows 68 organized churches with a membership of near 1,500, with Sunday-schools and bible classes. Sixty-seven cents per capita was paid out during the year for all church purposes. We have a Board of Domestic Missions and effective work is reported. The distinctive feature of our denomination is Free Communion and Hierarchy. Our next annual conference meets with the Goodwill church near Manning on the Thursday before the 4th Sunday in November next. At the session just closed, the Rev. Thos. T. Williams and S. A. Burgess (col.) were ordained to Elder orders. Yours respectfully, THOS. T. WILLIAMS. BETHELEHEM, S. C., Dec. 18th, 1888.

A WOMAN'S DISCOVERY. "Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She sought of as a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved that on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle she had miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at Dinkins & Co.'s Drug Store.

THE VERDICT UNANIMOUS. W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of 10 years standing." Abraham Hare, Druggist, Belleville, Ohio, testifies: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, or Blood. HOW DO WE DIG OUR GRAVES?

We must eat or we cannot live. This we all know. But do we all know that we die by eating? It is said we dig our graves with our teeth. How foolish this sounds. Yet it is fearfully true. We are terrified at the approach of the cholera and yellow fever, yet there is a disease constantly at our doors and in our houses far more dangerous and destructive. Most people have in their own stomachs a poison, more slow, but quite as fatal as the germs of those maladies which sweep men into eternity by thousands without warning in the times of great epidemics. But it is a mercy that, if we are watchful, we can tell when we are threatened. The following are among the symptoms, yet they do not always necessarily appear in the same order, nor are they always the same in different cases. There is a dull and sleepy feeling; a bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning; the appetite is changeable, sometimes poor and again it seems as though the patient could not eat enough, and occasionally no appetite at all; dullness and singleness of the mind; no ambition to study or work; more or less headache and heaviness in the head; dizziness on rising to the feet or moving suddenly; furred and coated tongue; a sense of a lead on the stomach that nothing removes; hot and dry skin at times; yellow tinge in the eyes; scanty and high-colored urine; sour taste in the mouth, frequently attended by palpitation of the heart; impaired vision, with spots that seem to be swimming in the air before the eyes; a cough, with a greenish-colored expectoration; poor night's rest; a sticky slime about the teeth and gums; hands and feet cold and clammy; irritable temper and bowels bound up and costive. This disease has puzzled the physicians and still puzzles them. It is the commonest of ailments and yet the most complicated and mysterious. Sometimes it is treated as consumption, sometimes as liver complaint, and then again as malaria and even heart disease. But its real nature is that of constipation and dyspepsia. It arises in the digestive organs and soon affects all the others through the corrupted and poisoned blood. Often the whole body—including the nervous system—is literally starved, even when there is no emaciation to tell the sad story. Experience has shown that there is one remedy that can certainly cure this disease in all its stages, namely, Shaker Extract of Roots or Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. It never fails but, nevertheless, no time should be lost in trying other so-called remedies, for they will do no good. Get this great vegetable preparation, (discovered by a venerable nurse whose name is a household word in Germany) and be sure to get the genuine article. GIVEN UP BY SEVEN DOCTORS. Shaker Extract of Roots or Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has raised me to good health after seven doctors had given me up to die with consumption.—So writes R. F. Grace, Kirkmanville, Todd Co., Ky. HE HEARD OF IT JUST IN TIME. "I had been about given up to die with dyspepsia when I first saw the advertisement of Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup. After using four bottles I was able to attend to my business as well as ever. I know of several cases of chills and fever that have been cured by it." So writes Mr. Thos. Pullum, of Taylor, Geneva Co., Ala. WORTH TEN DOLLARS A BOTTLE. Mr. Thomas P. Evans, of the firm of Evans & Bro., Merchants, Horn-town, Accomack Co., Va., writes that he had been sick with digestive disorders for many years and had tried many physicians and medicines without benefit. He began to use Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup about the 1st of Jan. 1887, and was so much better in three weeks that he considered himself practically a well man. He adds: "I have at this time one bottle on hand, and if I could not get any more I would not take a ten dollar bill for it." All druggists, or Address A. J. White, Lumbard, 54 Warren St. N. Y. Simmons' Liver Regulator produces no unpleasant effect upon the stomach, no matter how long it is taken. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath. "I never recommended a medicine unless I know it to be good. In a ministry of twenty-five years I have often felt the need of such a medicine, and when I found it I exclaimed: "Eureka!"—Rev. J. P. Hazen, Proprietor "Christian Visitor," Smithville, N. C.
