At a meeting of Doctor Swamp Democratic Club held July 5, 1890, the following resolution was passed:

Mr. S. A. Rigby has given his store a fresh coat of paint.

McGinty went down, and so have the other members of the straw hat at cost.

Mr. W. N. Cobin, of Davis, has a little girl that is beating the record.

It is a good thing that politics is so warmed up throughout the length and breadth of the State. It is a sign that the people of every rank are taking an interest in the affairs of the State.

Fresh arrival of sugar cured hams at ten cents per pound; also apple and white wine vinegar at Kalsky's.

On our way down to Doctor Swamp last Saturday, we were pleased to see the fine condition of the crops. Mr. B. A. Walker has a crop of cotton, the finest we have seen this year, and we doubt if it can be excelled in the county.

Mr. W. N. Royal has been promoted to the position of superintendent of the Northeastern and Central railroads.

Mr. Royal is a competent and popular officer, and all the employees of the two railroads are delighted with the appointment.

Don't let a man catch you by the nose and make you join the club he wishes you to join or lead you up to the polls and make you vote just as he thinks best.

For the sake of yourself, your home, your family, and your country exercise your own free right to join the club of your choice and to vote as you please.

Do your eyes need help? If so call on J. G. Dinkins & Co. and be fitted with a pair of Aqua-Crystal Spectacles or eye glasses.

On campaign day in Sumter last week, after Capt. Tillman made his speech, Mr. G. I. Lesesne, of Santee, went to his hotel and presented him with a pair of cuff buttons. The buttons were highly polished wild gopher spurs mounted on gold, and are said to be very pretty. Capt. Tillman after thanking Mr. Lesesne remarked that "Clarendon had spurred him on."

The Antis are Weak.

Friendship Democratic club was regularly reorganized last Saturday with twenty-seven members, and a part of these had to be taken from the Summerton and Fulton clubs. The new club (Panola), sixty-seven strong, which was organized a month ago, was presented to a man, and of course could have captured the old club, but they magnanimously agreed to let the Antis organize separately and thus secure the greatest amount of representation. The Tillman faction is for fair play and will not be found at any small tricks. After the Friendship club got organized, and resolved that no one should be admitted to membership except by a two-thirds vote of the club, they passed resolutions which will be found in the Summerton correspondence.

Left Out.

Owing to the sickness of one of our printers we are thrown a few hours behind this week. Two or three columns of editorial, local, and news matter that we were very anxious to get in the paper is necessarily left out.

The Campaign Liar.

Beware the campaign liar who tells you something he does not know to be true, but says he hears it is true. The Antis are using every effort possible to defeat the farmers' movement, and many of them will not for a moment hesitate to promulgate what they believe untrue. When they tell you of slates, combinations, etc., ask for the author, trace it back, and you will find no shadow of truth in it. "The Tillmanites are Radicals and must be defeated," is their cry, and they will use any and every means to carry out their purposes.

Doctor Swamp Picnic.

Last Saturday the Doctor Swamp Alliance and Democratic club had a joint picnic at the residence of Mr. A. C. Lee, about five miles from Forester, which was attended by fully three hundred persons. Every arrangement had been made to have things comfortable. Seats were arranged under the pine trees, but when the hour arrived for the speaking there were scarcely seats enough for the ladies, and a great part of the crowd were forced to stand on the outside.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

Mr. J. W. Cole, president of the Doctor Swamp Alliance, called the meeting to order, and the exercises were commenced with a fervent prayer by Mr. Watts; and in a well-timed address Mr. Cole extended a hearty welcome in behalf of both organizations. He said that the alliance and club had joined in giving this picnic, and that speakers had been invited to address them, but that they would not be confined to matters pertaining to the alliance; if they desired to do so they could discuss the political situation, although the people of that community were hand in hand in their efforts for Tillman and reform, and while anything in favor of Tillman would tend to strengthen them, yet they were all fully convinced that B. R. Tillman was the proper man for governor. He then in a very complimentary manner introduced Capt. D. J. Bradham as the first speaker.

Capt. Bradham in a very forcible manner discussed the issues of the day, and in a sound and logical argument showed the necessity of standing together. He gave his reasons for supporting the movement of the Farmers' Association, and at considerable length explained the Platform, closing by expressing the hope of seeing every one of the highest type, in the contest of the coming year. His address was listened to with rapt attention and was frequently applauded. It was one of his best efforts.

Mr. S. A. Nettles was next introduced, and his speech was also on the issues of the day. He addressed the Farmers' Platform, and especially advocated peace and good order on the 26th. He did not want it said that the Clarendon Tillmanites made any attempt to hound down a speaker, but that he hoped Clarendon would be the banner county for peace and good order.

Mr. L. Appelt was also called upon. He stated that it was unnecessary for him to reiterate his position as he believed every body knew that he was heart and soul in favor of the movement now led by Ben Tillman. He advised through organization and harmonious work with each other. The opposition are fully equipped for the fray, and unless the farmers were also, this would be a time when the minority would win. He advised the meeting to have passed when men could be led about, and if there were any persons who could not support the Farmers' Platform and Ben Tillman now was the time to make it known and have their names placed on the roll, but if they were in earnest in their efforts to support Tillman and the platform it would be insulting to their manhood for even an attempt to be made to lead them from their honest intentions.

Mr. Harvey Mitchell followed in a happy speech, expressing his approval of seeing the people of his home once more asserting their rights and manhood. The president of the meeting then extended an invitation to any person who desired to make a speech against the movement, but this invitation was not responded to.

Capt. R. B. Hudgins was then introduced, and in a dispassionate manner he stated his position in regard to the question of advocating the movement of the free school system. Mr. L. W. Nettles was called for and acknowledged the compliment by rising and asking to be excused.

Mr. Cole then introduced the last speaker, Mr. J. H. Spratt. He addressed the roll, and as one of the fathers of this county. When this grand old gentleman came forward love and veneration was depicted on every countenance, and he was received with a round of applause. He addressed the audience in a pleasant manner, and closed his remarks by asking the audience to join him in giving three cheers for Tillman, which they did heartily. He then asked those favoring Tillman to stand, and every man rose with a shout of approval, and which Mr. Spratt bowed his acknowledgments and said "Tillman is elected."

As soon as the speaking was over the crowd were invited to dinner, which was spread on tables arranged for the occasion under the shade of the pine trees. The assertion that this dinner was never excelled by any picnic dinner ever given in this county. Everything that could tempt a hungry appetite was there in great abundance: chickens, barbecued mutton and pig, head vegetables, cold meats, pies, coffee, ice cream, lemonade, but why try to enumerate? There were four beautifully laid tables on the table, each bearing a motto: "Tillman and Reform," "The Broken Ring," "United We Stand," "Divided We Fall."

Mr. John Barnes, president of the Doctor Swamp Democratic Club, called a meeting of his club for the purpose of letting them know that next Saturday was the day for the club to elect officers, and invited signatures to his club roll. Several persons attended. He then requested Mr. J. H. Timmons, the secretary of the club, to address them, which he did in a ringing and sensible speech. He wanted it distinctly understood that the members of this club were true blue Tillmanites, and that Ben Tillman was wanted on their roll; that they were men and would not be influenced to go against their convictions, and the party who would have the audacity to try to bribe or influence them would meet with a scornful reception.

This picnic was one of the most pleasant we have ever attended, and everything went off as happily as a wedding feast. Capt. Joe Spratt voiced the sentiment of all present, which was before leaving he said "I am glad I came: I have had a very pleasant time."

Farmers' Platform Democratic Club.

Under instructions from the County Executive Committee, the Manning Farmers' Platform Democratic Club will meet in the court house, Saturday afternoon, July 13th, at 3 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present as business of importance will be before the club. Let every member be present promptly at 3 o'clock. S. J. BOWMAN, Secretary. S. A. NETTLES, President.

Padding Swamp is for Tillman.

SANDY GROVE, July 14.—A meeting was called for the purpose of reorganizing the old Sandy Grove Democratic club, but after the call was made we learned of the action of the county executive committee, and decided not to organize until the 19th. The sentiment of the meeting was solid for the farmers' movement and Tillman. We are needing rain very much down here on the swamp, more especially the corn crop.

The health of the community is tolerable good. Items scarce.

Summerton News.

SUMMERTON, July 14.—We haven't had rains enough in the village to wet the ground a half inch deep for nearly four weeks. The gardens and crops in and around here are in a bad fix.

A large crowd attended the meeting in Sumter last Wednesday on this section. The fuss and confusion beggars description. If the confusion at the building of Babel could beat it I am not surprised at the people forgetting their language. Such meetings are a disgrace to the political honor of the State.

Lieut. Cahanis and family are boarding at Mrs. Ingram's, and will be here for the summer. We are glad to welcome the Lieut. and family back to the village.

The Friendship Democratic club met on last Saturday evening to organize. After a long parley between the straightouts and the Tillmanites an agreement was come to: the Tillmanites withdrew from the old club and will organize a Panola club on next Saturday. The old club organized by electing J. O. Brock, president; A. L. Lesesne, vice president; A. D. Rhame, secretary and treasurer. The following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That we denounce as unwarranted and untrue, the charges of fraud and dishonesty against the administration of the State government, and its officials, by public men, now seeking the honors and emoluments of the State offices.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to abide the result of the State convention to be held in Columbia September 10th, and support the nominee, whether our choice or not, from a sense of Democratic duty.

An interesting game of base ball was played here last Friday between the Summerton and Juneyville clubs. The game was well played, and was largely attended. Mr. J. Elbert Davis umpired the game. Following is the score:

Table with columns for SUMMERTON and JUNEVILLE, listing runs, hits, errors, and other statistics for various players.

Revs. Wells and Haynsworth are carrying on a week's meeting in the Baptist church in this place. Communion on yesterday.

Mrs. Neal and daughter are visiting at Mr. Lanham's.

News from Silver.

SILVER, July 15.—We have our full share of news this week. We rejoice to know that our community is possessed with the greatest health; crops luxuriant; all our farmers wear a smile. It is a time of activity, energy, and promise.

It was my good fortune to attend a festival at the Panola Academy the night of the 11th. It was a special night for every one who desired to participate in the pleasures of life. Capt. D. W. Brailsford in his usual way rendered pleasant greeting, and I believe everybody had a delightful time.

On the 12th I attended the reorganization of the old Friendship Democratic club at Panola. Efforts were made to unite the two factions: the Tillman and Anti-Tillman. The Panola club, lately formed, was out sixty-seven strong. No agreement could be reached, hence the Panola retains its present organization. Friendship reorganized with twenty-seven men. This part of the county is largely Tillman. Mr. C. R. Felder, president of the Panola (Tillman) club made quite a lengthy speech. It had the right ring; the speaker reviewed the past, contrasted the present, dealing some heavy blows to the Anti-Tillman faction.

Much comment has been made on the Sumter meeting. It was the most riotous and disgraceful affair I ever attended. This is a campaign of education, but the Anti-Tillman men don't want enlightenment. They are responsible for all confusion that day at Sumter. I regret there is so much bad feeling engendered. It seems to be gaining strength over here; men speak rashly, entirely unbecomingly about Capt. Tillman, use disrespectful language about those of us who propose to see things for ourselves.

This ought not to be so, you never will get all men to think alike; all men will not vote alike; free speech is one of the guardians of our liberties; the right of suffrage belongs to every citizen of the United States; to exercise that right fully is the duty of every man.

The C. S. & N. Railroad put an excursion train on the road on the 9th with certain promises. I suppose the passengers aboard numbered five or six hundred. Every delay possible was made by the managers of the court house, Saturday afternoon, July 13th, at 3 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present as business of importance will be before the club. Let every member be present promptly at 3 o'clock. S. J. BOWMAN, Secretary. S. A. NETTLES, President.

If straitnism could but see they are invading the rights and privileges of the citizens of every county by these persistent efforts to force upon our people their political notions and methods, and by trying to force our people to adopt measures calculated to oppose their wishes.

Let Col. Earle keep his followers from invading every county, as was done in Sumter: this in my opinion will give peace. Will the Penitentiary, the South Carolina University, and Haskell attempt to run it over Clarendon as he tried to do at Sumter? A candidate must see his inevitable doom when he has to bolster up his strength wherever he speaks by importing men and boys from all parts of the State. This seems to be the way that Earle gets his following.

Clarendon county has a majority for Tillman, and there will be no disturbance at Manning on the 26th, unless the threat is carried out which I hear is made at Columbia. It is the duty of every good citizen to keep the peace, and I know the voters who favor Capt. Tillman want peace, but they are determined to nominate him as their choice.

"The People are Misguided Fools." EDITOR MANNING TIMES.—If the grand army of reformers who are bearing the victorious Tillman banners on to the sea needed one word of cheer it was abundantly furnished in the mad antics of those pure and disinterested patriots who again met in Columbia on last Thursday to devise more desperate remedies and measures to "save the State." It now appears that the free and uninterupted flow of public paper for fourteen years in a certain carefully guarded channel has so inflated and developed the imbibers that in their now immense corporosity and egotism they constitute the State, and to save the dear old commonwealth it is essential they be given life tenure of office.

What a disgusting spectacle is the political death-throe of these perpetual office holders! How hard they die! While the conference was not composed as a whole of the office holders they were nevertheless there in the interest of and at the earnest solicitation of these gentry as put forth by their mouth-piece, "the great mogul" at Columbia. Note too the temper and attitude of these would-be dictators when they had assembled. The first speech after the installation of Charles was delivered by a Broad street Charleston lawyer, full of blood, thunder, defiance, and insult. He swore that the sovereign will of the people of the State as now being expressed in thunder tones for Tillman as their chief executive should never be fulfilled.

The clearly defined choice of three-fourths of the voters of the State for their next governor set at defiance by the powers that be. The News and Courier declared that this escape of Broad street fairly enthused the faithful, and the meeting went wild; the hoary headed senators, the ring, and their sympathizers in their impending fate so near and certain, clambered upon chairs and frantically tossed their hats in the air. The meeting, therefore, by their action, enthusiastically endorsed this revolutionary declaration, and has thus served timely notice upon us. We will be certain to furnish them the occasion, and we defy them to try it.

Being so long and loudly applauded, this Broad street Demosthenes loses his head, and insultingly declares that he and his brother patriots are fighting an enemy unscrupulous and skillful.

Was ever a grosser insult thrown in the teeth of a party who have not deserved it, and should promptly return it by holding the Hon. Joseph W. Barnwell, of Charleston, to speedy account.

Now, sir, in contrast with this bombast, which clearly reveals the animus of our opponents, let us recall the loyal and patriotic words of the heroic Tillman. He declared in his address to the March convention that this was purely a family quarrel; that the fight would be made strictly within the party lines; and that he who received the nomination for governor would receive his hearty and unqualified support. This he has continuously repeated from the rostrum, and I have yet to know a Tillmanite but who swears eternal allegiance to the party and an enthusiastic support of the September convention candidate for governor. As opposed to this fealty and adherence to party hear the moans and bickerings of the Antis.

The mayor of Columbia says he will leave the State upon Gov. Tillman's inauguration; the editor of the News and Courier prefers a return to Republicanism, so reported; and King Joseph, of Broad street, Charleston, summarily disposes of the whole matter by swearing he shall not be inaugurated at all.

But, sir, with the glow of an assured victory already pervading our being, and with the magnanimity of brave conquerors filling our hearts, we have already forgiven and will soon forget these undemocratic, unbrotherly, and ungenerous speeches. July 14, 1890. PANOLA.

Tillman. The Oriflame. EDITOR MANNING TIMES.—At a political campaign meeting lately held in Columbia, S. C., Rev. Ellison Capers, who commanded a regiment and attained the rank of brigadier general in the Confederate army, said, "Jim Tillman was the oriflame of my regiment."

The word oriflame was used metaphorically, and in order to realize fully the compliment paid, its original meaning must be understood. It will then be seen that no higher praise could be given by a military officer to a private soldier of his command.

I find the following in the chronicles of Sir John Froissart, who wrote in the 14th century. He is describing the battle of Rosbeque, fought on Mount de Or, the Thursday before Advent, November 27th, 1382, between the King of France and the Flemings led by Philip van Artevelde. The oriflame was a sort of gonfanon or red pennon fixed to the end of a lance. It was a sacred banner, carefully preserved, of a red color, and had the name of St. Dionysus on it. It was never called out but on the most urgent occasions, when the king himself was present, and displayed solely against heretics. It was a most excellent banner, and had been sent down from heaven with great mystery, and is of much comfort in the day of battle to those who see it. At this battle of Rosbeque the oriflame was displayed by Sir Peter de Villiers who bore it. Some say, as they find it written, that it was never before displayed against Christians, and that it was a matter of great doubt during the march whether it should be displayed or not. However, the matter having been fully considered, they resolved to display it, because the Flemings followed opinions contrary to that of Pope Clement, and called themselves Urbanists; for which the French said they were rebellious and out of the pale of the church. This was the principal cause why it had been displayed in Flanders. Proof was made of its virtues at this time, for all the morning there was so thick a fog that with difficulty could they see each other, but the moment the Knight had displayed it and raised his lance in the air, this fog instantly dispersed and the sky was as clear as it had been during the whole year.

The Lord d'Estoumonot told me that he saw, as well as several others, when the oriflame was displayed and the fog dispersed, a white dove fly many times round the King's battalion. When it had made several circles, and the engagement was about to begin, it perched on one of the King's banners. This was considered a fortunate omen. The King of France gained the victory.

The belief that the oriflame or oriflame had been sent from heaven; that the fog dispersed because it was displayed; and a white dove perched on one of the King's banners, was due to the superstition and imagination of the people of that age.

This battle was fought, and the account of it written during the dark ages or middle ages, the period of time between the fall of the Roman Empire and the Renaissance or revival of learning. When knowledge, religious and political, was confined to Romish priests and cloisters; when the art of printing was not known, and the light of the Reformation had not shined upon the world; when might made right, and war and plunder was the business of kings, dukes, and princes.

Therefore, be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier.

Salem Solid for Tillman. EDITOR MANNING TIMES.—Salem's drought of three weeks or more—came to a close recently with a series of refreshing showers, not without, however, leaving its blighting imprint upon the crops generally. With anything like average seasons from now on there will be at least two thirds of a corn crop made, with the heaviest cotton crop in this section's history.

We have been mingling recently to a considerable extent with the people holding the various shades of political coloring, and find that the Braterites are gradually assuming a decided au-revoir hue, and we confidentially expect at no distant day to witness a complete evolution with a general slaking off of trails.

From the diagnostic signs observed the Sumter meeting did throw a wet blanket around the livid, shivering form of that huge amphibious monster whom we are told belloved himself hoarse to dispel if possible that dreadful malady, congestion, but finding in it no balm for his wounds is actually getting ready to take some Tillman restorative. We, the Tillmanites of Salem, being of sympathetic natures and lovers of charity, will see to it that our mites go into the missionary box on the 26th for the purpose of having on hand an ample supply of cordial for the real needy.

However, Mr. Editor, we have another class, the Protoantimianites. We class them the crocodilus species, general lizard, whose chief characteristic, from the highly sensitive nature of its epidemics, is to imbibe the coloring matter of whatever it comes in contact with, having the peculiar trait of exchanging one coloring for another as often as changes are made, always holding the last. This class will be looked after by the very gracious and unique sympathies of the candidates of the various hues, and regaled from Volkovskische and Weinberg's campaign headache cordial, that is really a specific in its way.

We hear of no new political developments by the Braterites in Salem; they are in a hopeless minority and will soon be over on the Tillman side, for they naturally lean towards the evolution theory anyway. They are getting into awful straits for the evolution portion of the pulp it are quickening to their aid, but into the quicksand they will ultimately go, whether evolution be true or false. TARANT.
