standing. The temper of the people is such that they will repudiate any man, however trusted, who cannot support the Alliance demands, just as they repudiated Hampton last fall." This is a remarkable paper, and one that in our opinion will fail to find a responsive chord in the Alliance. The premises on which President Stokes bases his conclusions are not true, therefore what he says proves nothing. The people of the State did not repudiate Hampton because he was opposed to the Alliance, but because he did not denounce the independent Haskellian movement. Had he, like a patriot which his friends claim he is denounced this independent movement the same as he had done when his own personal friends were not involved, he would have been to-day as greatly loved by the people as ever mortal was loved; but his patriotism had. was not sublime enough to cause him to denounce the Haskell movement, and the people repudiated him, just as they will repudiate President Stokes should he endeavor to countenance any third party movement. The farmers of this State were born and bred within the Democratic party, and until they are fully convinced, first, that they cannot obtain relief in the Democratic party, and, second, another note from fifty to two hunreomanry of the State, will stand firmly on the Democratic plat-

President Stokes says he is in close and frequent contact with the farmers of the State and knows that they will stand by any demand of the Alli ance. Speaking for Clarendon county we say he is egregiously mistaken. We do not believe there are a dozen farmers in this county, who would sacrifice their religious or political opinions to any demands of the Alliance. The constitution forbids any such demand, and the attempted enforcement of such a demand would ruin the Alliance in Clarendon

We, too, are a member of the Farmers' Alliance, and love and honor the "close and frequent contact" with the members of the order, and we have favorable word for the third party movement. Scarcely six months ago a thousand Alliancemen in this county would have cheerfully sacrificed their lives in defense of the Demofirm as ever.

Col. J. G. Gibbes, agent of the Sinking Fund Commission, will be in Manning in a few days, to look after the abandoned lands in this county. He offers to survey any one's swamp lands free of charge provided he is furnished with the old plats and surveys. The desire is to get all these old lands on the tax books and make them bear their share of taxation Full information can be had from Sheriff Bradham. Two tracks of such unknown lands are advertised in this week's paper, aggregating 10,200

In Sumter's court of common pleas next week a very unusual case will be tried. The late W. J. Reynolds had charge of property belonging to a sister who was an inmate of the luna- embroideries ever brought to Manning, tic asylum, and at the end of the war Reynolds sold cotton belonging to this trust estate, receiving Confeder- sortment of the most beautiful designs, and Thames and his estimable wife, both ate money for it. Now his sister's heirs have brought suit against his estate for the value of the cotton and interest.

A sensational report from Kershaw, in Tuesday's State, says that two men, Rhodes and Swaggart, from Winnsboro, unearthed a buried treasure that had been buried during the war on Lynches creek below the mouth of Hanging Rock creek. The amount unearthed is said to be $163,000 besides jewelry. It was buried there by Sherman's men, and people have been digging for it for the past twenty-four years. In addition to other prizes awarded to the birds composing these pens, the Cockrels were awarded first prizes at the great International Poultry and Pet Show, recently held at Charleston—the largest poultry exhibit ever known in the South. These birds can be relied upon as being the finest of their strains. They were purchased from breeders of established reputation, at a cost of $145 for the three pens of 18 birds, and the prizes won by them over the large array of competitors is a guarantee that they are all that is claimed.
