MANNING, S. C.:

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 5, 1896.

The United States Senate has passed a free coinage bill. Ben Tillman did it with his little pitchfork.

The effort on the part of some to create more court circuits is meeting with disapproval, we are glad to say. The people are not ready to be taxed to give a few aspiring lawyers a job.

The gold-bug newspapers are vieing with each other to see which can say the hardest things about Ben Tillman's speech. At the same time the masses throughout the Union are paying no attention to the abuse but are demanding the speech itself. The result is that Tillman's speech will be as widely read as Coin's Fi-· nancial School and the other works of Harvey on finance.

DEMOCRATIC UNITY,

Integrity and Success Paramount to Every Other Political Consideration. I am a democrat.

Why?

Because, fully convinced that the fundamental principles of democracy constitute the very gospel of politics, and that their recognition, adoption and general application in political affairs are essential to the domestic peace and welfare, happiness and prosperity of our county. The practice of democratic principles will tend harass and plunder the people. to harmonize all sections, all classes, all interests-to promote the good of any other.

What are those principles?

Democracy is the real party of the people, and is the only truly national party of the country. It has respecttable strength and following in every state and territory, in every county and city, at every ballot box. No other has.

The republican party was begotten, born and bred in one section, and in hatred of another. It is, therefore, a sectional party; and, true to its oriparents, its nurses, its sponsors, its the constitution and to appeal to policy, "the majority should rule." the constitution, not under it. It fa-

Do you want it established possession of the seas, and our only drawback was the strife engendered by the enemies of our constitution.

The sectional republican party arose. In consequence of unfortunate dissensions and divisions in the national democratic party, and by virtue of that constitutional provision which makes it possible for a president to be elected by a minority, the sectional republican party prevailed in the presidential election of 1860, and Mr. Lincoln became president PYTHIAN COLUMN March 4, 1861. Mr. Lincoln seemed to be disposed to be moderate, conservative and conciliatory towards the states against which he headed his hostile sectional party; but he could not quell the storm which he had helped so much to raise, and his party ran away with him. Sad were the consequences to the constitution, to the liberties of the people gener-75 ally, and especially to the people and 50 governments of those states in hostility to whom the sectional republican party had been lorganized. Spaniards In Havana Raised $60.000 to Give the Bird a Funeral. From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

What is a historical fact in Cuba and what appears to be a second edi-tion of "Who Killed Cock Robin?" is an interesting story related by Col. Fernando Figueredo, a noted Cuban

It appears that years ago a Spaniard with an idea of rendering a valuable service to the city of Havana, brought from Spain a large number of sparrows similar to the English variety, and which were thought to be useful as a city bird, in forming an army of diminutive city scavengers. Imagine his surprise and anger when, upon arriving at the city he was charged an excessive duty on the little birds. In a fit of passion he liberated all the birds and became involved in trouble for trying to evade the customs duties.

The sparrows invaded the city where they multiplied in a surpris ing manner. They proceeded wage war upon a small city bird which they drove entirely out of the city limits. For this act the Cubans called them the Spanish bird, and in time began calling the Spaniards "gorrion," which means sparrow. On this trifling subject a very bitter feeling obtained a foundation. I was carried so far that the Spaniards recognized the sparrow as the emblematic bird, much as we Americans look upon the eagle, and they zeal-ously guarded the welfare of the midget. After the outbreak of the revolu tion in 1868, the bitterness in this the palace in Havana found the body of a dead sparrow, which had fallen from one of the trees in the park. With the greatest care and reverence he took the little body being held. The volunteers deliberated over the death of the bird and on the impulse of the moment they passed resolutions of respect for the de-Take from a man his self-respect, ceased sparrow, and made an assess-
