The White Man's Burden.

[Copyright, 1899, by Rudyard Kipling.] Take up the White Man's burden-Send forth the best ve breed-Go, bind your sons to exile To serve your captive's need;

To wait, in heavy harness, On fluttered folk and wild-Your new-caught sullen peoples, Half devil and half child. Take up the White Man's burden --

In patience to abide, To veil the threat of terror And check the show of pride; By open speech and simple, An hundred times made plain, To seek another's profit And work another's gain.

Take up the White Man's burden-The savage wars of peace-Fill full the mouth of Famine, And bid the sickness cease; And when your goal is nearest (The end for others sought) Watch sloth and heathen folly Bring all your hopes to nought.

Take up the White Man's burden-No iron rule of kings. But toil of serf and sweeper-The tale of common things. The ports ye shall not enter. The roads ye shall not tread,

Go, make them with your living And mark them with your dead. Take up the White Man's burden, And reap his old reward--The blame of those ye better the bate of those ye gnard-The cry of those ye humor (Ah, slowly!) toward the light:-

"Why brought ye us from bondage, Our loved Egyptian night?" Take up the White Man's burden-Ye dare not stoop to less— Nor call too loud on Freedom To cloke your weariness. By all ve will or whisper,

By all ye leave or do. silent sullen peoples Shall weigh your God and you. Take up the White Man's burden! Have done with childish days-The lightly-proffered laurel.

The easy ungrudged praise: Comes now, to search your manhood Through all the thankless years, Cold, edged with dear-bought wisdom, The judgment of your peers. -McClure's Magazine.
