EDITOR THE TIMES:

I am perhaps venturing a good deal in sending you another letter already, as I do not know whether my last one was worth enough to be printed, but concluded to-night that as I needed something to occupy my mind I would scribble a little for you.

The town that this is written from is quite a nice place. It is the county-seat of Laurens county, and is situated on the Oconee river. According to the last Census Dublin had eighteen hundred people, but now the population numbers about four thousand.

It is on the Wrightsville and Tennille and Macon and Dublin railroads, about a 110 miles southwest of Augusta. The town has a splendid county all around to back it, and the growth is permanent.

On account of the good railroad facilities and also a line of boats all the way to Savannah, they have splendid freight rates, and the place can boast of several wholesale houses, in addition to electric lights, an immense water stand-pipe, some hundred and fifty feet high, and other improvements.

I understand that fifty thousand dollars is subscribed for a cotton factory which is to be built right away. In fact the people all over this "wire grass" country are wide awake and up-to-date.

Right through here the timber interests amount to a good deal as yet, and there is much farming too, but lower down towards the Florida line there is little less than saw mills and turpentine stills as money producers.

Turpentine and lumber are both bringing good prices now. Spirits turpentine has gone from twenty-four to thirty eight and forty cents per gallon, with rosin also strong, and the mills cannot cut the orders for lumber.

For a man with a little money there are five to ten years of big money making in either turpentine or lumber in Georgia and South Alabama, but the unfortunate part with most of us is that we would like to do and can't for the want of enough to start with.

As I said before, South Georgia is full of mills and stills, and I will also add alligator and grass-widows. The days of the mills and stills and alligators are limited, but under the present system of laws in this State bearing upon the matrimonial question the grass widows and widowers are calculated to flourish until their name shall be legion.

That pretty fact. The city of Atlanta has recently passed a law forbidding people chewing tobacco and spitting on the sidewalks, under a penalty of being arrested and fined, and that's pretty good for a starter, don't you think?

Atlanta will advertise herself, and she is willing to have yellow fever, just to keep her name in the papers.

Washington Letter.

(From our Regular Correspondent)

Washington, June 16. Having sanctioned a policy for the sending of soldiers to the Philippines that is a clear case of what used to be called "whipping the devil around the stump," Mr. McKinley has gone off on a ten day pleasure trip, with the very important object of seeing his niece graduate from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Meanwhile private advices from Manila say that instead of ending the war General Otis is likely to find himself and his army confined to Manila and its outskirts, before the rainy season is over, unless he is heavily reinforced.

Mr. McKinley fears the political effect of issuing the call for volunteers, although he has several times decided to do so, and adopted the plan of sending a sufficient number of regulars to Otis to give him a total of 35,000 men.

This is to be done in a way to hamboogie the public. Portions of regiments are to be sent and portions retained in barracks. And to the latter all the men enlisted at the recruiting offices are to be sent to be broke in and nobody outside of the War Department will be able to know whether the regular army is over-enlisted or not.

As early as last week over-enthusiastic U. S. recruiting office was ordered to hustle and to keep it up until further notice.

The boldest witness who has testified since the Industrial Commission began the investigation of trusts was Henry O. Havemeyer, the president of the sugar trust, who was heard this week. After reading a carefully prepared essay, in which he claimed that trusts, and especially the sugar trust, were public benefactors, he said: "We are not in the business for philanthropic purposes. It is policy, sometimes, to divide our profits with the public, and we conduct our business on business lines."

We have tried to sell so low as to shut out all competition, but up to the present time we are in it up to our neck. Trusts are a natural growth. They are regulated by the laws of trade, and neither you, nor the Federal government, nor any other power, can alter these laws, and the sooner you find it out and cease these useless investigations, the better for the country."

Now that is a fine picture, isn't it? The head of one of the most notorious of the trusts which are driving individual enterprise to the wall and slowly but surely getting possession of the whole country, standing up and boldly telling the representatives of the U. S. Government that they are engaged in a use less investigation of trusts, and that neither the Federal government, nor any other power, is strong enough to stop the growth of trusts.

Mr. Havemeyer was mistaken. There is a power strong enough to stop the growth of the trusts, and sooner or later it will do it. That power is wielded by the people, who pay the enormous profits of the trusts.

Representative Sherman's friends try hard to conceal their soreness over the Henderson bunco that he ran up against, but they do not succeed very well.

Some men have such happy dispositions that they never annoy a soul. I wish to say that I feel under lasting obligations to what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has done for our family. We have used it in so many cases of coughs, lung troubles and whooping cough, and it has always given the most perfect satisfaction, we feel greatly indebted to the manufacturers of this remedy and wish them to please accept our hearty thanks.

Commencement Exercises of the Presbyterian College of South Carolina. The exercise was opened June 4th with the singing of hymns by the choir. J. L. Williamson of Newberry, S. C. His text was "Our Father which art in heaven." Matt. 6:9. He brings out very clearly our conception of God, and discussed the formation of a true and beautiful character.

The afternoon was a splendid presentation of truth, free from mechanical oratorical flights, rich and abounding with clear and original thought, a sermon worthy of the brilliant, brainy preacher. Mr. Williamson evidently thinks for himself. His exposition and development of his theme was strikingly attractive and impressive.

Sunday evening at 8:30 the services were conducted by the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening at 8:30 was the debaters' contest for a medal. The subject was, "Resolved that territorial expansion is a disadvantage to the United States." Affirmative—W. W. Chambliss and A. B. Doyle. Negative—T. C. Simpson and S. L. Thompson. It is said by some to be the best debate ever delivered in the hall at Clinton and by others to be the best they ever heard from college boys.

After the contest was over the faculty came on the stage and congratulated the debaters on their success in the way they discussed and delivered the debate. It was shown by the attention of the audience that it was good indeed, and very much appreciated by them.

Monday evening at 8:30 the hall was crowded to hear the honorary orator, Rev. S. C. Byrd of Columbia, S. C., and the declaimers, six in number. Rev. Byrd spoke for one hour and thirty minutes on "The White Man's Burden for the State." Mr. Byrd was very enthusiastic on his subject and he penetrated the hearts of the audience as if he had sent a two-edged sword winging its flight through the crowd.

Then followed the six declaimers in a contest for a medal. The declaimers were W. L. Brown, J. W. Carpenter, C. M. Fulton, G. W. Wilkins, S. B. Wright and L. W. Matthews. All the young men acquitted themselves well and did great credit to their trainers. Mr. J. W. Carpenter, surpassing the other five in oratory, was awarded the medal as the best declaimer.

Wednesday morning at 10:30 the exercises were brought to a close by an address from Hon. Julius C. Boggs and the exercises of the graduating class. Mr. Boggs made a fine speech on the "American Home—How to Make it Attractive for Those at Home." It was filled with the gem of thought and the genius of oratory. Essays were then read by each of the graduating class and diplomas were then given.
