They Took Their Turns. A young man residing in the northern section of the city had been calling for some time on a young woman, in fact he thoroughly enjoyed the com-

he called and of the father who an-

went out, and the eldest son next entered and entertained the young man for about a quarter of an hour. Then another brother and sister, and the young man's suspicions were somewhat aroused, when the mother took her turn. A little sister came next, followed in turn by the family cat, which rubbed itself against the young man's newly pressed trousers.

He gave a sigh of relief when, after an hour spent in misery, his sweetheart made her appearance. He begged of her to "put him next" to the joke, and between her bursts of laughter she informed him that "since he was trying to court the whole family papa thought they had best take turns." It is unnecessary to say that he failed to see the joke and has ceased his attentions.-Reading Eagle.

KENLEY, poised, each with a trumpet at mouth and leaning far out on the air that swims around them. I have admired that group most mightly. I was commenting in that strain in the hearing of a Boston architect.

"Of what church are you speaking?" queried the architect. I told him. "Oh, yes," said he carelessly, "the Ly Florence,

Church of the Holy Beanblowers. That's what comes of lack of sense of proportion. Those trumps are too slender." And now I can no longer admire that seraphic group on the spire. I strive to think of angels, and I fetch up by thinking of beanblowers. ton Journal. "Off" For "Of."

I always say "I bought it off Jones," and up to now, through so constantly hearing people, my late father included (he always used to pronounce coffee as corffee), talk in this way, thought it was right. Still this would be only in conversation. Writing to any one, saying I had bought anything, I should put "of Jones" or "from Jones." I suppose "from Jones" would be perfectly correct. I have heard this form of speech in many different parts of the country, but most frequently, I think, in and near Liverpool. The use of "off" for "of" and "off of" 5 is common in the north of England .-Notes and Queries.

-S. J. Underwood, From the German of Goethe. ROYAL NAMES A HOODOO.

One of the Strongest Superstitions of the English Navy. One of the very strongest and most ineffaceable of all superstitions in the royal navy, a superstition that is almost as strong today as ever it was, is that vessels bearing the names of royal personages are doomed to ill luck, and, strange as it may seem, there is an undeniable historic basis for this feeling. Some of the most terrible disasters ever known in connection with our navy have concerned war vessels with royal names. Two vessels called the Royal James came to disastrous ends. One of them exploded, and some 800 officers and seamen perished. The other ship so named was actually carried out of the mouth of the Thames by the Dutch Admiral de Ruyter under circumstances disgraceful to those in charge of the craft. Then there is the forever memorable disaster to the Royal George, an unlucky ship previously, that turned over and sank in sight of crowds at Spithead, over 1,000 souls, among whom were 300 women, being sacrificed. And second only to this hideous disaster is that which afterward befell the Royal Charlotte, which, after a career of much vicissitude, was consumed by fire off Leghorn, over 800 of the very flower of the navy perishing with her. When in 1893 the Victoria, a new vessel and the very triumph of modern invention so far as naval architecture went, was rammed and sank at once in sight of the whole fleet and when hundreds of lives were lost, there was not a sailor, however matter of fact he might be, who did not remember the dire fate of the royally named craft. These instances are only the greater ones. A score of smaller ones are reeled off by every royal navy man .- Tit-

Swelled the Collection. A man came up to me one day after service in a frontier town and was pleased to address me in this manner: "Say, parson, that there service and sermon was grand. I wouldn't have missed 'em for $5."

When I suggested that he hand me the difference between the amount he had put in the collection basket and the figure he mentioned for my missionary work, he stopped suddenly, looked at me with his mouth wide open and then slowly pulled from his pocket $4.90, which he handed to me without a word.-Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Savage Bachelor.

It is not often the savage bachelor descends to the use of a pun. It is beneath his dignity. But the sweet young thing, the other half of the sketch, asked him this morning what was his objection to woman in politics.
