THE DAY WE CELEBRATE!

Tomorrow is the 125th anniversary of our Republic, it will be of interest as well as profitable to indulge in retrospection. As a nation we have increased from a few millions to seventy six millions of people. In resources, wealth and influence we have become one of of leading powers of the earth. The wonderful inventions, discoveries and achievments in other departments of human endeavors, have made us the wonder of the world. On the 4th of July, 1776, we were thirteen weak colonies struggling for independence against a mighty empire. Now, we have a government built upon the broad principles of man's right to govern himself, and embodying all the blessings to be derived from the doctrine, that all just governments are based upon the consent of the governed. We have received for ourselves the boon of human freedom, and are prepared to bestow it upon other peoples.

We have built our system of republican institutions upon a sure foundation—the moral law, thus developing a high order of civilization. All the nations of the past have, under the fatal misapprehension that man was made for government, and not governments for man, foundered and perished. They built upon the sandy foundations of heathen philosophy and mythology, and as a consequence a heathen civilization was evolved. With our constitutional government, our intellectual civilization, and our marvelous resources, our present opportunities for spreading human freedom, and our religious advancement are inconceivable. The question is, are we equal to the occasion, and go on with boldness and confidence to the achievment of our National destiny. We have already expanded as a nation. Our flag floats over the isles of the Pacific, and we are moving in a world wide, instead of a continental orbit. Our commerce is seeking every sea and land. We have become known by the millions of the East as a nation of freemen, who not only enjoy the blessings of liberty, but are ready to aid in conferring that grand blessing upon all human kind. Why shall we then oppose expansion of our commerce, our influence and the benificence of a religious civilization.

Would our people even consider for a moment a proposition looking to our government relinquishing our recently acquired territory, and thus move backward as a nation? We think not. The Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and Hawaii belong to us and we will keep them. The obligation has been imposed upon us, and to now disregard them and prove recreant to our national duty, would shake the very foundations of this great Repulic, and ultimately led to its decay and ruin. One of the inherent weaknesses in all the governments of the past was that they struggled for dominion and power in order to more effectually govern their own subjects, and to oppress all other peoples. One of the distinguishing characteristics of our Republic is to promote the general welfare of its own citizenship, and to bless all other peoples, by the spread of constitutional liberty.

In the evolution of such a system of government the highest type of patriotism and the broadest philanthropy were necessary. Our forefathers, in the Declaration of Independence, and in our constitution laid the foundation for our future greatness as a nation, and looked forward to such a crisis as we have now reached, when we should become a world power, and it would be necessary for us to go forward to the accomplishment of our Heaven appointed destiny.

We have now an indestructible Union of States; our independence as a nation is forever established. Sectionalism no longer engenders hate and discord. We are one people, our nation—No North, no South, no East, no West,—but 76000,000 of freemen welded together by the bonds of a lofty patriotism, and a common interest. Who does not feel proud of our country, one nation and one grand Republic. But there may be some who dissent from this grand sentiment and are narrow enough to wish we had never expanded. They would have our flag in the Philippines hauled down, and all of the glorious results of the war with Spain thrown away; these people would have us sneak back in disgrace and thus demonstrate to the world our worthlessness of the freedom we enjoy and our inability to preserve a constitutional government, and make it a blessing to the world. The people of the South are not wanting in patriotism and we do not believe they can be frightened or seduced from duty by the appeals of narrow-minded politicians. We believe that when the matter is properly presented they will support such measures that will lead to the expansion and upbuilding of the South.

We favor progressive public measures, and hope to see the day when the progressive Democracy of the South will take charge of her destinies, and make her the richest, the happiest and most influencial section of our land.

In celebrating this grand century and a quarter anniversary, let us all look back over the past history of this nation, and rejoice that from weak and oppressed colonies amid the savages of the forests, we are now leaders in civilization and the greatest nation of the earth. Let us who look forward to the future and take advantage of our present splendid opportunities. Let us study the problems which confront us and repudiate any effort at intolerance. Let us make this a free country in fact as well as in name, by frowning down any attempts to prevent free thought, free speech and free action.

HE PROTESTS TOO MUCH.

Col. Wilie Jones replies to an editorial in THE MANNING TIMES of June 26, in which he says we misunderstood him. We do not think we misunderstood our friend at all. We did not say that Colonel Jones acted as the embassador of Senator Tillman, when he told the Governor that he had a talk with Tillman, and that the resignation was the result of passion; they should be returned, and the people spared an exciting contest this year. What we did say was that Colonel Jones had a talk with Senator Tillman and was among the first to call upon the Governor to urge him to return those resignations; this is not denied, nor can it be, for it is the truth. Colonel Jones corroborates every thing we said, but he assumes that we tried to create the impression that his action was based upon a request or an understanding with Senator Tillman. We did not say so, but had we said so, we would have had as much right to presume that he was acting as an emissary from Tillman, as Tillman himself had in presuming that we were influential in having those resignations returned. In the Sunday Herald of Augusta, Ga., 16th inst., Senator Tillman in the course of a heated interview said, "In my opinion the connecting link between McSweeney and McLaurin is the mutual interest they both have in Louis Appelt the Manning, S. C., politician." Senator Tillman presumed that on account of our friendliness to Governor McSweeney and Senator McLaurin, we influenced the Governor's action, but when Colonel Jones comes direct from Senator Tillman and did not tell the Governor that the Senator insists that his resignation be accepted, but urges the return of the resignations, we would have been warranted in presuming that it was the result of an understanding with Tillman; especially, when another who imagines that he is also basking in the sunshine of Tillmans favor, gives out an interview on the same line. The preponderance of the evidence goes to show that these gentlemen who had interviews with Senator Tillman were very solicitious to have the Governor prevent a primary. Of course, Colonel Jones and Congressman Latimer could have talked with Senator Tillman and one run down to Columbia and to Charleston, to have his interview taken, and the other be among the first to talk with the Governor, without there having been an understanding, it is one of those remarkable coincidences which can occur. However we never did say that Tillman sent Jones to the Governor, but on the contrary we did say this. "We do not assert that Jones was authorized in his talk with Tillman to plead with the Governor, but we do think that Colonel Jones' forgiving spirit prompted him to act as a peace-maker."

Colonel Jones' letter strikes us as being a corroboration of our editorial, and at the same time he wants to deny, by saying we misunderstood him about something we did not charge. If after having had a talk with Senator Tillman, why should Colonel Jones make haste to see the Governor in the morning, during banking hours, when bank officers are supposed to be busy, unless he wanted to get in his plea before the Governor acted, and after having talked with the Governor and telling him that he had seen Tillman, why should he come out of the Governor's office and ask us for our views, and when we gave him our opinion ask us to speak with the Governor also. In our opinion Colonel Jones had the right to present his views to the Governor, because he is the head of the Democratic party, and his solicitude for the people also gives him a right. It was his right, he knowing that our judgment was against a primary, to ask us to express it to the Governor, but in expressing our opinion to the Governor we did not lay ourself liable to the suspicion that we were acting for McLaurin, but on the contrary, we conferred with him at the solicitation of State Chairman Jones, who told us that he had a talk with Tillman, but said nothing of the Senator's determination to have the resignations stand. If our memory serves us, we merely told the Governor that in our opinion the people do not want a primary this year, and if he had to act on the resignations, the people would be better satisfied, if he were to make the appointments, provided he appointed two new men, then it would be up to the General Assembly to elect two Senators for the unexpired terms.

If Senator Tillman has been put in a false position then Colonel Jones is to blame, for if he had not said anything about having seen Tillman while pleading with the Governor, no one would have suspected for a moment that he was acting for the Senator. What we said in our editorial is uncontradicted even by Colonel Jones, notwithstanding it made him so restless that he "cannot sit still."

GONZALES' STILETTO.

In the Columbia State of June 29th editor Gonzales devotes nearly two columns of its leading editorial space, in reproducing and commenting on an editorial which appeared in THE TIMES last issue. The account of what took place on the Governor's arrival from Chickamauga is taken by editor Gonzales as a sweet morsel to roll under his tongue, and it afforded him an opportunity to indulge in little spiteful things about us. He goes outside of the matter in issue to bring his venom into use. Editor Gonzales intimates that we are not always truthful, but in the editorial referred to he believes we told the truth. It is needless to undertake a discussion with Gonzales, for he wont fight fair, but now that he has intimated that we do not write truthfully, we challenge him to cite an instance when we have written a falsehood. Let him cite an instance where we have taken advantage of a man by making public his private letters, or betrayed a confidence. Gonzales has lived in Columbia a long time, let him show where his townsmen have reposed confidence in him, either politically or financially without regretting it. When he has done this, then we will feel more like being on an equality with him. Gonzales alludes to our being "virtually a postmaster under a Republican administration." What has our connection, near or remote, with the postoffice, got to do with the questions at issue? Under Cleveland's administration we was appointed to the position of postmaster, and was able to hold that position until a constitutional question was sprung, when a change was made giving the position to a member of our family. We believe that if Manning had a suitable Republican, a change would have been made by the McKinley administration when it went in charge. But whether under a Democratic or a Republican administration, we do not believe that Mr. Gonzales can obtain sufficient endorsements to secure an appointment for any position where confidence is needed.

We do not mind a decent discussion with an editor, but when it comes to coming in contact with a man who runs all around hunting up irrelevant matter to fill space, we are at a loss to know how to compete with him. The petty flings in Mr. Gonzales' article are characteristic of the man, and it really looks as if he cannot help making himself disagreeable.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

OFFICE OF D. H. HARDY, Sec. of State.
AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 21, 1900.

I have found Dr. Moffett's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my oldest boy was a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours, and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed.

Brought Down the House.

On one occasion, when Arthur Roberts, the English actor, was performing the part of Captain Crosstree in the burlesque of "Black Eyed Susan" at Glasgow, he converted an awkward contretemps into a hit. In one of the scenes Crosstree enters supposed to be inebriated and staggers about the stage. In doing so Mr. Roberts accidentally came in contact with the scenery of the inn, bringing the whole set down. The curtain had to be lowered, and the vivacious comedian came to the front and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, you see when we come to Glasgow we always bring down the house."

Boys who are Away at school should have a sure remedy for sudden attacks of cramps, diarrhoea or dysentery, and an hour's delay in cases of this kind often leads to serious results. Parents should supply their sons with PAIN-KILLER, which is simple, safe and sure. One dose rarely fails to bring relief from any bowel complaint. There is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. Price 25c and 50c.

One Improvident Family.

The minister in an adjoining Tennessee town was very much wrought up over the pitiful condition of a parishioner's family. He went to their home and, finding they were almost starving, decided that something should be done for them. He accordingly solicited contributions for their relief. Receiving a liberal response, he promptly turned over the money to the suffering ones, thinking that all would be well.

The first thing they did, however, was to go to the photographer of the town and have a dozen pictures made of each of the five members of the family, exhausting the amount, leaving them in as bad condition as they were before he had given them assistance.—Memphis Scimitar.

Our System of Notation.

Some system of notation has been used since time out of memory. The first record we have of it is of figures written with a stick on a flat surface covered with sand. Before that all calculations were made with pebbles, beans and the like. Even now the Chinese do their calculating with little stones or beads strung on wires, in a frame. The Romans first used vertical lines—I, II, III, etc.—to express numbers. The Arabic figures, which we commonly use at the present time, are of much earlier date.

The Arabic system is chiefly valuable on account of the great convenience it affords by giving a figure a value according to the place it occupies in the line. By this system the most enormous sums can be expressed by the ten little characters which form the numerical alphabet.

Metaphor.

The Minneapolis (Kan.) Messenger says: "We once heard Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt eulogize Mrs. Stanton, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Susan B. Anthony as follows: 'These are the women who laid themselves down in the dust, as it were, to form a bridge over which you and I might go dry shod.'

"Once we heard the president of Brown university describe the old charter oak, first as a safety vault, then as a hearthstone, and at last he made a lightning change and brought out the old tree as the rudder to the ship of state. That beat anything we ever heard and the greater surprise, too, coming as it did from such a profound scholar."

Cheating the Cat.

The meanest man is around town in many guises and in considerable numbers, but the meanest woman is a recent discovery. She lives in Philadelphia, and for the sake of saving a cent a day she cheats the cat by giving her each morning a saucerful of milk, and after about two teaspoonfuls of it have been lapped up she dilutes the milk with water and continues to do so till evening. When remonstrated with by her husband recently she said: "Well, the cat doesn't know the difference. It looks like milk, anyhow, and if I didn't thin it out for her we'd have to have 2 cents' worth for breakfast each day."—Philadelphia Record.
