Broadway will be appointed.

The Monte Carlo rig-outs we see these days remind us of the girls in a Chinatown restaurant eating chop suey. They may be stylish alright enough, but how fearfully unbecoming they are, can only be estimated by an admirer of gracefulness. A woman dressed in a Monte Carlo, holding her skirts as required by fashion, looks like a dripping mermaid holding her garments down to keep the wind from blowing them over her head, and thus displaying a rounded body with an abrupt taper from the waist down.

There are times when it becomes necessary to perform a sad duty, and in the decision of Dr. J. Briggs of Summerton to change his residence to Darlington, we are moved to express our sincere sympathy with the good people of that business man. Dr. Briggs' removal is a decided loss to that community, both in a professional and a social way. He does not leave Summerton for any lack of appreciation of his services, but because his practice was extensive, and among the best paying people in the county, a practice which he built on his merits as a physician. Doctor Briggs goes to Darlington where he may personally supervise some valuable property interests. We are glad that he has a community feel keenly his moving away from them, for in him they not only had a physician whose skill merited confidence, whose heart is in his profession, and whose ministrations were as benevolent as they were skillful, he was a household favorite as well as a need. As a citizen he is progressive, always ready and willing to aid in the building up and the betterment of the community, genial in his contact with men, intelligent and honorable, a man who is a community's pride. It is with regret that such a man decides to make his home elsewhere. We do, without the slightest hesitation, commend Dr. A. J. Briggs to the people of Darlington as a physician of high character and skill, and a man worthy of highest consideration.

HARVIN-FARVIN.

Beautiful Array of Youth and Beauty at a Manning Marriage.

Manning, Jan. 31.—The first rays of the new electric light fell this afternoon upon the home of Mr. W. Scott Harvin, presenting to a host of guests from various parts of the State one of the most beautiful scenes ever witnessed in Manning.

The occasion was the marriage of Miss Hattie A. Harvin, the eldest daughter of Mr. W. Scott Harvin, to Mr. S. A. Harvin of Summerton. At 5:30 o'clock the hour appointed for the ceremony, Miss Blanche Wells, escorted by Mr. Lucius Harvin, entered the room and commenced the piano accompaniment to Lohengrin's bridal chorus, "Faded and Fair," which was sung by Miss Hattie Brooks in a sweet soprano voice. Immediately after this song Miss Wells began Mendelssohn's wedding march and the two ministers officiating entered, followed by Miss Lill Harvin, a sister of the bride, with Mr. Percy B. Harvin, a brother of the groom; then the bride and groom. When the music ceased the beautiful ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Gregg, an appropriate prayer was offered by the Rev. M. A. Connors of Summerton. A sumptuous dinner was then served. In the spacious dining room a large table was so arranged as to form the letter "H." The table was set with white cloths of ever kind and for an hour or more the dining room was the scene of mirth and enjoyment.

The house was prettily decorated throughout with white and green. The bride wore white organdie with trimmings of silk applique and ribbons. Her veil was beautifully arranged and caught in place by diamond and pearl ornaments, natural orange blossoms being used, and she held in her hand a shower bouquet of white carnations. Miss Lill Harvin wore white organdie, satin ribbons and pink carnations. Many handsome presents were received from the numerous friends of the bride and groom.

The bride is one of Manning's most lovely girls. Bright, amiable and altogether a most perfect character, she has a host of friends who regret her loss to the community and extend to the groom sincerest congratulations for his success in winning a helpmeet well suited to make for him the life of happiness he anticipates.

The groom is one of Sumter county's most substantial citizens, a popular and successful business man. They left on the evening train for their new home, Ramsey.

Among the visitors from neighboring towns and cities were: Misses Dora Richardson, Herrick, May Harvin, Sumner, Margaret Tindal, Feltner, Emmie Tindal, Summerton; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Thomas, Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. Kammer, Gadsden; Mrs. Bates, Eastover; Mrs. Brock, Paola; and Messrs. W. O. Cain, Ramsey; R. L. Geddings, Pinewood; F. H. Harvin, Charleston; Geo. Tindal, Feltner; and Chas. L. Cuttino, Sumter. The State Feb. 1.

Pharmacy is a Profession.

Many a doctor has climbed to the dizzy heights of fame in his profession as a PHYSICIAN and then failed in the attempt to clerk in a drug store, even for a few moments.

It is a Significant Fact

That you hear of mistakes made by Druggists, but never of those made by Physicians. The reason is this, the Druggist's training is so good that it attracts a great deal more attention for him to make a mistake than for the busy Doctor, who ought to be excused, as he has no one to call his attention to them. If a first class Druggist makes a serious mistake he is inexcusable, for he should know better than to allow any one to hurry him or cause him to run any risk.
