Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes Catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and cause the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

BLUE GRASS

It is a Native of the Wabash Valley in Indiana.
"A great many people contend that blue grass was first found in Kentucky," said an eminent Indiana geologist, "but this is not so. Blue grass is a native of the Wabash valley in Indiana. It was found by William Henry Harrison's troops during the Harrison march to Tippecanoe in 1811.
Harrison gathered a small army at Ohio Falls and started north. At Vincennes the gallant heroes realized that they could not go 200 miles up the Wabash without feed for their horses.
General Harrison had two cribs of corn at Terre Haute and persuaded the men to go on. As they came on with hungry horses and scant feed they found the ground covered with blue grass.

"Six miles west of Newport, on the Collet farm, was found a beautiful supply of blue grass. Some places in the bottom it was growing three feet high, and such feed had never been heard of by the Kentucky soldier. At State Line City more blue grass was found, and from there to Tippecanoe the whole line of march was covered with blue grass.

"The seed was carried back to Kentucky and sown there, but they could not make it thrive alone in the warm soil, and it had to be sown with oats and rye. It was found to be an excellent day that no blue grass grew in Kentucky until after it was imported from Indiana. Tom Downing of Terre Haute was an ardent admirer of Henry Clay and once went to visit him at his home near Ashland, Ky. After seeing the fine farm well set in blue grass Downing suggested that Mr.
Clay let him have some of the seed to take back to Indiana.

"Tom, don't make a fool of yourself," said Clay. "The grand sire of Kentucky blue grass is growing around your house and in the fence corners tucked into fields. We got the seed from Terre Haute and the middle Wabash and after a hard struggle got it to grow here in its present luxuriansness."—Indianapolis Journal.

OMAR KHAYYAM'S TRANSLATOR.

To FitzGerald, careless, disorderly, unconventional who had for so long followed his own sweet will, punctilious etiquette and fastidious neatness in attire were above all things hateful.
He once said to a friend: "I couldn't be bothered with all those whims—dressing for this and dressing for that.
I couldn't put up with it."

He and a friend were dining at a hotel, and among the good things set before them was a noble fruit pie. But first they had eaten so heartily of the first course that when it came to the pie they were beaten. FitzGerald looked troubled. "So-and-so (the hostess), who knows my partiality for fruit," said he, "will take it as a sight if I leave the pie untouched." So without more ado he cut out a good sized wedge with a fair allowance of fruit and dropped it into his hat, which he covered with his yellow silk handkerchief, and rang the bell for the bill—Wright's "Life of Fitz-Gerald."

Health Fads on the Brain.

To get all sorts of health fads on the brain is a disease in itself. It is a very prevalent disease too. With a few foolish rules to observe, a whole lot of hygienic quacks to adjust to and a schedule of superstitious sanitary notions diligently followed by day and dreamed of by night, is a malady which begins as a mental derangement and ends in a complete physical breakdown.
No room left for a spontaneous life, no place for free, joyous liberty. Not a minute's space for loitering or idling.
Everything fixed, every minute disposed of, introspections without number. Forebodings, misgivings, hovering vaguely about the mind, like flocks of carrion crows. Such a life is not worth living.—Medical Talk.

Victoria Was Exclusive.

When Queen Victoria visited any of her subjects it was by no means a matter of course that people staying in the house should have the privilege of sitting down at table with her august fellow visitor. It was her majesty's custom not only to take with her to the house where she was destined to "lie" (as the old phrase was) for a night or two her own bed and bedding, carriages, horses and servants (including occasionally her cook), but also to confine herself at meals to the company of her own suit, sometimes inviting her host and hostess to join her at luncheon or dinner.

The Fickle Fair Ones.

Engagements are entered into far more lightly and broken far more easily than used to be the case, when a betrayer was as serious an affair as marriage. Now it is not unusual for a girl to be engaged once or twice before she is married, and people think none the worse of her. Young girls' ways are beginning to resemble those of nursemaids, who walk out with a man, but not always with a view to matrimony.
—Lady Greville in London Graphic.

New Year's in Japan.

Most of the people you meet on the Japanese New Year's day are carrying a squashed salmon with a piece of paper tied round its waist by a paper string which holds a little gold paper kite.
That kite means that the thing is a present and has not to be paid for.
Those who are not carrying crushed salmon or taking up the street in giving correct New Year's salutations are playing battledore and shuttlecock.

Very Easy.

"Don't you wish you were as smart as Conan Doyle's detective?"
"My dear sir," replied the modern detective, "if you'd let me plus the crimes in the first place I could discover the facts in your case as extraordinary as those of any detective that an author ever put into a book."— Chicago Post.

After the Honeymoon.

"Anyhow, Jack, you cannot say that I ran after you at the time of our marriage."
"You never spoke a truer word, Maria, but neither does the mousetrap run after the mouse, yet it catches it all the same."

One Sense Keen.

Rob—Say, Bob, loan me $100, will you? Bob—Why, man, have you lost your senses? Rob—None; at least not my sense of touch.—Yale Record.

Attractiveness of New Friends.

Edmonia—How do you love to make new friends? Eustacia—Yes, they are so much more polite than old ones.— Detroit Free Press.

Of all the evil spirits abroad in the world insincerity is the most dangerous.

—Froude.

Carefully Brought Up.

"Were you carefully brought up, my lad?" asked the merchant of the applicant for a situation.
"Please, sir, yes, sir; I came up in the elevator, sir," said the respectful rout.

Making Sure.

Gritty George—I hope that bowl of coffee won't stimulate yer to go to work. Sandy Pikes—No, pard; I asked de lady to put loaf sugar in it.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

CARRIERS' POOR WAGES.

Representative Hearst Sought to Have Rural Service Conditions Bettered.
Rural letter carriers have lost their fight to obtain adequate compensation from the government. The Republican majority in congress has gone on record in favor of the meager allowance of $60 a month to rural carriers who have to buy and feed their own horses and work every day in the year in all kinds of weather.

When the rural carriers went to congress with their petition they found but half a dozen active supporters, and in the lead of the fight for justice and decent wages stood Representative William Randolph Hearst of New York.
Against the united opposition to a fair increase Mr. Hearst and a few fair minded Democrats sought to amend the postal appropriation bill and give the carriers salaries commensurate with the service they perform.

Their efforts were frustrated by a determined majority. The rural carriers are now worse off than they were a year ago. Their salaries have been increased to $720 a year, but the privilege to carry express and daily newspapers is taken away from them.

CHEAP COAL.

In a recent report by the American consul at Vladivostok it is stated that coal is mined in that district at a cost of 2 cents a ton. Until a short time ago the cost of production was 5 cents a ton. In fixing wage rates for American miners the coal barons invariably make comparisons with the cost of production in other parts of the world, and this tends to keep the earnings of the American at the lowest possible point. About the only influence in this country which has combated the wage reducing tendency of the coal barons has been the insistent and persistent effort of the Hearst papers, which are under the direct editorial management of William Randolph Hearst.

Attempts have been made to enforce antitrust laws to loosen the grip of the coal operators upon American domestic and industrial life, and the publicity given the methods of the greedy monopolists has been effective in mitigating somewhat the unjust conditions.

MONKEY MOTHERS.

They Display More Pure Affection Than Any Other Animal.
A wild beast tamer of long experience tells some interesting things of the affection of animals for their young. He had an elephant once, he says, who would fill her power to soil her young one. She fussed over it and cuddled it up so that when the time came for it to leave the cage it was simply unmanageable. When one of the men made a bold move toward the baby he was promptly bitten in the stomach and bowled over in a peculiar way which the youngster had of expressing his feelings toward those whom he disliked. At last by a ruse the mother and son were separated.
But there was no such thing as keeping them apart. The baby rubbed the skin off its forehead and trunk trying to get through the bars, and both wailed so long and piteously that the keeper was obliged to put them together again.

A shy baby camel that passed through the hands of this same trainer refused to look upon the world except from his favorite station between his mother's legs. The mother, too, would show her displeasure at any effort to ward intimacy by spitting violently at every one in sight.

The kangaroo also is very fond of her offspring and will patiently carry it about long after it is ready to hop on its own account.
But for a display of pure affection the mother monkey beats any other animal, and when there is an addition to the family circle there is general rejoicing. A baby monkey sticks fast by its mother, and, asleep or awake, it seems always in her thoughts.

THE ANGRY TREE.

Peculiar Antics of This Curiosity of Plant Life.
There is in the wilds of northwestern Idaho a species of the acacia tree which is entitled to be classed as one of the wonders of plant life. It grows to a height of about eight feet and when full grown closes its leaves to and curls its twigs to the shape of pistols.
After the tree has settled itself thus for a night's sleep, if touched the whole thing will flutter as if agitated or impatient at being disturbed. The offender will receive the shaking of the branches, and at length the tree emits a nauseating odor, which if inhaled for a few moments causes a violent, dizzy headache.

The angry tree, as it has been named, was discovered by travelers, who upon making camp for the night placed one end of a canvas covering over one of the sensitive branches, using it for a support. Immediately the tree began to sharply jerk its branches. The motion continued, growing more nervous, until at last the sickening odor which it gave out drove the tired campers to a more friendly location. Curiosity of course prompted an investigation. One of the angry trees was dug up and thrown to one side. Immediately upon being removed from the ground the tree opened its leaves, its twigs lost their pistols, and for something over an hour and a half the outraged branches showed their indignation by a series of quakings, which grew wilder as time passed, finally ceasing altogether when the foliage hung limp and withered. The next morning the tree was placed upright in the ground again, a little water was applied to the roots, and very soon it resumed its normal condition.—Boston Globe.

Confederate Coinage.

It is a matter of history that the entire coinage of the Confederate states consisted of four half dollar pieces. The reverse side had a goddess of liberty (same as United States coins) in an arc of thirteen stars, in her right hand a shield of conventional design with "Liberty" thereon and below the date, 1861. On the reverse side was an American shield beneath a Liberty cap, the union containing seven stars—representing the seven se-ceding states—the whole surrounded by a wreath; at the left cotton in bloom, at the right sugar cane. The legend was "Confederate States of America." In the exergue, "Half Dollar." The borders were milled and the edge was seriated.—New York Tribune.

Old Time Grog Robbers.

Under the laws of Draco, the most severe code ever drawn up, all grog robbers were put to death without trial. The old Athenian laws put a slave to death for disturbing a body after interment, but in the case of a freeman a "confiscation of a moiety of his possessions" was the penalty.
Constantine decreed that a woman might obtain a divorce if she could prove that her husband had disturbed the remains of the dead. At one time in the time of the seventh and eighth centuries the English law held that it was deemed unlawful to open a grave for a second person, except for a husband or wife.

Vegetables of Liberia.

The most common vegetables of Liberia are the sweet potato, cassava, yam and tania. The cassava is a root varying in size from three to eight inches in length and from three to eight inches in circumference. When it is cooked it tastes very much like a fresh chestnut. This root is the vegetable most extensively cultivated by the natives and forms, with the rice, their chief diet. The fecula of the cassava is made from tapioca.

Cost of War.

The cost of the Spanish and Phillipine war to the United States since 1898 for seven years ending June 30, 1904, has been $1,000,000,000.

PRIMITIVE LETTER POST.

The Earliest Postal Service Traced Back to Babylonia.
No postal service has been traced earlier than that which was in operation during the reign of Khammurabi, the Amraphel of Genesis, who was king of Babylonia about 2300 B. C. A number of the missives, each enclosed in its clay envelope, which passed through this earliest postoffice are preserved in the Babylonian room of the British museum, and their contents indicate that even at that period letters were freely circulated throughout the empire by a public postal service under governmental control.

Sir Brian Tuke was appointed postmaster in England at the beginning of the sixteenth century, and in 1556 the lords of the council ordered "that the postes between this and the North should eche of them keepe a booke and make entrie of every letter that he shall receive, the tyme of the deliverie thereof unto his hands, with the parties names that shall bring it unto him."

The first post for the conveyance of private letters to all parts of England and Scotland was established in 1685, when the "letter office" was established, but it was not till 1837 that the foundation of the present system was laid.

CURED OF HIS CLUB.

The Way One Woman Kept Her Husband Home in the Evenings.
"I would be very happy if my husband would not spend so many of his evenings at the club," said Mrs. Bride, with a sigh.
"Why don't you try the suspicion cure?" said her intimate friend.
"What is the suspicion cure?" asked Mrs. Bride.

"Well, my husband once got into the habit of spending his evenings at his club, and I worried myself ill. Then I changed my tactics. Instead of asking him to remain at home I urged him to go to the club. The way he raised his eyebrows the first time I suggested it showed that I was on the right track.
"One night he said he had a severe headache and would remain at home.
I opposed the idea and insisted that an evening at his club would make him forget his headache. He gave me a hard look, but acted on the suggestion.
I knew he would be back within an hour, so I made an elaborate toilet. He returned, as I expected, with the pleasure of his head was worse. I ignored his question concerning my elaborate toilet. He hasn't been away for an evening since. It is almost like the old honeymoon, only he appears to have something on his mind."

COUNTRIES AS PRESENTS.

Cleopatra received Egypt as a present from Julius Caesar. Lucullus, Sulla and Pompey each gave away half a dozen kingdoms. Antony gave the little kingdom of Judea to Herod. One of the excellent stories of the past is that the Emperor Constantine gave Rome and all Italy to Pope Sylvester, who cured him of leprosy. King John, called Lackland, being excommunicated by Pope Innocent III., gave to that pope and his successors the kingdom of Ireland and England. The deed reads:
"Not to be restricted with fear, but with my full consent and the advice of my barons, for the remission of my sins against God and the church, I resign England and Ireland to God, St. Peter, St. Paul and our lord the Pope Innocent, and to his successors in the apostolic chair." Julius II. gave the estates of King Louis XII. to the Emperor Maximilian. Sixtus V., Gregory XIV. and Clement VIII. were ready to make a present of France to whomever Philip II. would have chosen for the husband of his daughter Clara Eugenia. Alexander VI. presented the East and West Indies to Spain and Portugal, which was like giving almost all the earth.

THE BIRCH.

Old writers in mentioning birch trees seldom failed to say solemnly that they were useful to grow branches with which to give boys thrashings. Turner regards the supply of "flexible, pendent branches" for purposes of punishment as the chief merit of the tree. Coles also based his estimate of the birch chiefly on its use in the supply of rods as instruments of punishment, for he writes: "The civil uses whereunto the birch serveth are many, as for the punishment of children, both at home and at school; for it hath an admirable influence upon them to quiet them when they are out of order, and therefore some call it makepeace." In ancient Rome the fesses of the lictors, with which they cleared the way for magistrates, were formed with rods of birch, and their influence was sufficient to insure a rapid dispersion of men assembled where they would impede the passage of the administrators of the law. From that time to within a comparatively recent period the birchen rod was regarded as one of the most important deterrents of juvenile depravity.
