Clemson College will hold Farmers' Institutes in a number of counties this fall and winter. Those citizens who desire an institute held in their community are requested to send their applications to J. N. Harper, Director of Farmers' Institutes, Clemson College, S. C., not later than Nov. 1, 1905.

A town government with an income of $10,000 per year, is not so hard up but that it can furnish a street sprinkler with the aid of private citizens.

The town has a couple of miles that do not seem to be much occupied, and one of them could be hitched to a street sprinkler, and the other to a garbage cart to keep the streets clear of loosepaper and other unsightly debris.

We would direct the attention of our readers to the magnificent display of beautiful things at Venable's jewelry store. Venable certainly has many articles of value and beauty to attract those who have a longing for jewels, silver, and cut glass. It will pay you to go to this store and examine the many things he has in china, cut glass and other wares for the household, and his collection of watches, fine jewelry and novelties are sufficient for the most fastidious to make a selection, either for a betrothal, marriage, or birthday present. We can safely say that Venable's jewelry store is the equal of any jewelry store in this section of the State.

The military openings in Manning last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Jenkinson's and the Mutual was a great event with the ladies and girls. Jenkinson had a band of music, and The Mutual Dry Goods Co., gave away chrysanthemums for souvenirs, and wherever you would go you would meet articles these floral novelties. Jenkinson with his usual "get up" had his store well prepared for the occasion and many of the latest designs of his millinery departments were selected. The Mutual put on additional holiday attire for their "Opening" and they not only had their store up in spic and span order, but all the pretty girls they could find disengaged, were secured by them to assist the ladies in putting them on straight, and advise those bewildered by the many pretty designs. Both openings were successful, both in display and sales.

A little study of the bank statements of the Bank of Summertown and the Bank of Clarendon in our last week's issue, and the statement of the Bank of Manning in this issue, have convinced the more realistic that Clarendon county has, within the past few years, made wonderful progress of recent years. All three banks have made money, and have done much good. The Bank of Manning is the oldest in the county, and therefore the largest, and it is shown by the tremendous deposits, and the column of business done by that institution. The fact that since the other two banks have been organized, the Bank of Manning has increased its business, which speaks well for its management.

Cheated Death.
Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had kidney trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also enjoyed the great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, since, as I find they have no equal." R. B. Loryea Drug Store guarantees them to be 50c.

There is prevailing about the country a gang of footpads, and cracksmen, holding up and robbing people, and breaking into banks and postoffices. Whenever strange characters are seen loitering about the country the authorities should at once be notified, and the police, or sheriff, be summoned. These characters strike towns in all manner of forms; they come professing to be looking for work, and as a rule they are good workmen: they stay in a town long enough to learn "the lay of the land," and then they commutate with parts of some armed and equipped with a diagram locating the safes and the approaches thereto. A few days ago a man was picked up by the police at Laurens, and on being searched it was found that he had one of these diagrams in his pocket. He was put in jail, and escaped, later he was again picked up loitering about the post office in Spartanburg.

He Kept Up in the Race.
James S. Barron, President Manchester Cotton Mills, Rock Hill, S. C., writes: "In 1903 I painted my residence with L. & M. It looks better than a great many houses painted the year before. Don't let $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint. Buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon, and mix it with Longman & Martinez L. & M. Paint. It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon.

The Wilson Railroad for Manning.
Our readers will remember in our last issue, we suggested that efforts be made to induce President Wilson of the North Western Railroad to bring that road to Manning, and Mayor Branch and others agreed with the suggestion, and they knowing that THE TIMES editor and Captain Wilson are personal friends of long standing, requested him to interview Captain Wilson on the subject. Captain Wilson spent last week in Manning, engaged in attending court, and in trying to defend his railroad interests from damage suits, and under ordinary conditions this would have been an excellent opportunity to bring him and the business interests of Manning together, for we know from an intimate acquaintance with Captain Wilson that he has always entertained a kind feeling for this town and county, and naturally so, because he is one of the largest taxpayers in the county, and was formerly a resident of it, but Captain Wilson is like most all men who, when they feel they have not been justly dealt with, are not going to run pell mell over themselves to do favors for men or communities who are opposing with an antagonistic spirit, and he feels that such a spirit was manifested towards him in the railroad cases, more especially the case where his agent at Davis Station resented an insult from a negro.

We approached Captain Wilson on the subject of bringing his road here, and, unfortunately, we found him in no humor to give any encouragement to our argument from his consideration, the man was indignant at what he regarded unjust treatment at what he regarded unjust treatment, and did not hesitate to express his opinion of what he calls "the pull, and wire-pulling system" in this county. It did not take us long to learn that this was no time to impress an argument for a railroad to Manning on Captain Wilson.

Nevertheless, we endeavored to lay before him the advantages Manning had to offer his road, and that in our opinion, it was to the mutual interests of his road and this town for the road to come to Manning on the basis of the acts of a few he should not punish himself and the town. Captain Wilson's reply was, "I realize all that you say is true, and I admire your zeal in behalf of your town; I like to see men stand by their towns; it is such a spirit that is fast making the town of Summertown a business center for this county, and it is such a spirit which has made, and continues to add growth to the city of Sumter. Manning, I would like to see prosper. I have some good friends here, it was their my older children went to school, and I want to feel kindly to that town; at one time I needed but little encouragement from the business interests of Manning to carry my road there, but my interests are nearer to Summertown, and besides, I am averse to turning the one cheek when I am smitten on the other, without fault on my part. However, if the business interests of Manning really lay their road to come here, and have any sound business proposition to offer, let them make it known to me, and I will give it consideration. Railroads cannot be changed or built with hot air, there must be something substantial on which to run trains. If I was in the balloon business it might be different, but in railroading it takes rights of way, and money to build tracks and operate a railroad, so you see the necessity of laying down a proper business proposition if my railroad is needed to help the business interests of Manning. Several times you have sought to interest me on this subject, and each time I have showed a disposition to meet you people in a proper business spirit, as I am always ready to do with all the people along my line of road, all that I ask is fair and just treatment in my property rights, and sound business propositions will have my earnest attention."

One Cold and Another
The season's first cold may be slight—may yield to early treatment, but the next cold will hang on longer; it will be more troublesome, too. Unnecessary to take chances on that second one. Scott's Emulsion is a preventive as well as a cure. Take when colds abound and you'll have no cold. Take it when the cold is contracted and it checks inflammation, heals the membranes of the throat and lungs and drives the cold out.

WAITING FOR YOU!

That new Fall Suit you've been thinking about is waiting for you here. Better get it today and have it for use the first cold snap that comes. The prices are right, and of course, the sooner you come in, the better selection you will have, for these will go fast and we will not be able to duplicate these latest. Come in today and see them. The picture gives an idea of one new style. We'll be glad to show it to you, along with others we know you'll like. All made by Schloss Bros. & Co., a sure guarantee of quality.

WAITING FOR YOU to come in and see the New Hats, John B. Stetson and Gibson Hats, both soft and stiff. Come in and see them, and while you are here we'll be glad to show you the best $8.50 and $4.00 Shoe in the world, Crawford Shoe for Men.

J. H. Rigby,
THE YOUNG RELIABLE,

Still At It, Hard At It.

We have often said, and still say it, that our stock of Dress Goods, Trimmings, Silks, Millinery, Shoes and Notions is more exclusive, up-to-date and fuller of snap and styles according to the Dame Fashion and much cheaper than you will find at the other stores. If you are not one of our satisfied customers, don't you think it worth your while to look into this matter? If we can't prove our claims you lose nothing. If we do you gain, because you learned where to get the most and best goods for your money. The most complete lines this fall season that we have ever had. Ladies, our Greater Fall Display of

and beginning of our annual Fall Sale of Dress Goods, Thursday and Friday, OCTOBER 5 and 6.

Remember on these dates we will, along with the many new ideas gotten together from the great Eastern marts and those made in our four work rooms, show a beautiful line of the Famous Gage Brothers' Ready-to-Wear Hats, the first and only of this line ever offered the trade of Manning. You want to see these goods. You ladies that are up with the times know what a reputation Gage Brothers' Hats have with the fashionable head dresser, and we feel sure that you all will appreciate our efforts along this line. You all are cordially invited to attend this opening, and don't forget the dates, please.
