The Next Legislature And Prohibition.

Editor The Manning Times:

In the course of a few weeks the Legislature of South Carolina will convene in its accustomed annual session, and it as surmised by some, that during the session there will be a sweeping prohi-bition act passed, and by a stroke of statesmanship of this kind the people of South Carolina will be put on notice, that in the future they must not touch, taste or handle john barleycorn or any of his substitutes, but for any beverage in the future, they will meet no moles Cough, etc., have no terrors for chiltation whatever in gratifying their NORTHWESTERN R. Not a great while since a correspon-dent of the News and Courier, after scanning the horison of the next Legisluture, seems to think the Prohibi-tionists will have the stacking of the cards in their own hands, and among themselves, will be dealt all the trump cards and the game will easily be won. Correspondent has singled out two members in particular to be right and left bowers in the expected coming crusade against the Dispensery, and think the two singled out, will be heavyweight champions in the fight that is expected to come off, and these advantageous additions in behalf of Prohibition will be certain death to the Dispensary. Correspondent's hopes through the right and left bowers. and his expectation to see so much good accomplished along this line for the cause of Prohibition, carries with it, a good deal of amusement, for one of the members he has singled out goes from Clarendon and he was elected on the dispensary platform in the last primary election held.

(Copyrighted). Price 50 cents. By Charles A. Calvo. Jr., for twenty years proprietor of The Columbia Daily Register and State Printer and Publisher Southern Christian Advocate. Also.

"AM I MY BROTHER'S KEEPER?"

Professor R. Means Davis of the South Carolina College say of it: "Its advice to the young is good."

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Corwin, Managers Nerve Force Remedy Co., Twelfth Ward Bank Building, New York City, say of it: "We thank you for the noble little book you send—it is indeed a wonderful piece of work, and should do a great deal of good."

Hon. R. H. Jennings, State Treasurer of South Carolina, next door neighbor of Mr. Calvo and an honored Steward in the Methodist Church, respected and loved by all, says: "Dear Friend: I acknowledge with thanks receipt of your little book Danger Signals. I have read it through, and am now prepared to say that it contains some very wholesome advice to young people. There is much truth and good advice in the little book with which I am in hearty sympathy."

Mr. Herman Zadek, Manager Gonzales Book Store. Columbia, S. C., says of it: "I read your book with great pleasure and think it should be read by every young man. The benefits he will derive will be of great help through his young life. He can only be good and converted to better living if he reads and understands your book."

Rev. Maurice Bertrand Ingle, an honor gradu-life. He can only be good and converted to better living if he reads and understands your book."

Rev Maurice Bertrand Ingle, an honor graduate of Harvard. Pastor of the First Christian Church, Columbia, S. C., says: "There are many things in your book that are good for the young to know, There is too much false modesty in the world anyhow."

Right Rev. Ellison Capers, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of South Carolina, says: "There is much truth and some good counsel to the young in it." but he deprecates its being read by those whom it will benefit, and they would be most unlikly to acquire the information from any other source.

Mr. Benn Pitman, the well known phonographer, says: It contains much useful advice which young people must know and live to be healthy and happy," but he does not want the girls to read it, and yet girls are entitled to the knowledge which only Danger Signals imparts.

"Danger Signals" also contains the author's analysis of the Fourth Commandment, showing that it has never been comprehended, even by the Jews, and that it is equally a violation of it to labor at night as on the Sabbath, and that not a living soul is properly observing the commandment relative to the Sabbath.

Of "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" Mr. Thomas Jefferson LaMotte, a leading South Carolina Prohibitionist, to whom it is dedicated, says: "It is worthy of the head and heart from which it emanated and of the cause it is meant to promote." And Col. J. P. Thomas, Superintendent S. C. Military Academy, one of the most scholarly of men, says: "I have read your book with interest."
