The sacred bonds of fraternalism become cankered with the rust of hypocrisy whenever partisanship creeps in, and makes the solemn obligations of brotherhood a mockery.

The reports from all over this county indicate that the recent rains have injured all kinds of crops. Tobacco has been cut short to a considerable extent so has corn and cotton.

The main thing in the way of the Alcolu railroad to Manning is the lack of labor. We understand, as soon as labor can be procured there will something doing in the railroad line.

The town council was prompt to give the "move on" notice to a lot of mulatto strumpets that once infested this town, now it should give the police orders to vigorously execute the same notice to a horde of white strumpets that are infesting the town.

We take pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of that most excellent school, the Orangeburg Collegiate Institute, in this issue. It is a place to educate your boys and girls. Drop President Peterson a card and he will take pleasure in sending you a catalogue.

Superintendent Holladay reports to us that on the scholarship examinations for Winthrop there were seven applicants for the two vacant scholarships, and one applicant for entrance.

For Clarendon there were five applicants for the three scholarships. For the South Carolina College there were two applicants, and for the College for Women one applicant.

The Woodmen of this county had a joint picnic yesterday at Tindal's mill. There was a large crowd. J. McSwain Woods in fitting terms introduced as the orator for the occasion Hon. J. W. Ragsdale, of Florence, who we are informed delivered a splendid address.

Mr. Ragsdale is a fine speaker, a prominent Woodman, and capable of making a good speech. It was inconvenient for us to attend this picnic, and was therefore deprived of much pleasure.

Died last Friday night, near Paxville, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Beger, the Ann Bradham wife of Mr. Thomas A. Bradham, aged about 70 years. The funeral took place in the Manning cemetery Saturday afternoon, Rev. J. N. Tolar of Paxville conducted the service.

The deceased was a long and patient sufferer and through her illness she bore her afflictions, with fortitude. She leaves an invalid husband, two sons Joseph and Benjamin, three daughters, Mesdames W. H. Trescott, J. T. Brogden, and L. T. Seymour.

Major Abe Levi, who with his wife are sojourning at Mt. Clemens Michigan, sent us a Fourth of July menu card from the Park Hotel. The card is in itself a work of art, and we would not pretend to get out anything like it, but what we could have done for that menu would have made the management of the Park Hotel, relative to its culinary department. To read the list of good things was a water-mouth producer, and for a country newspaper man to come no nearer to the dishes than an elaborately artistic menu card is torture indeed.

The young folks got up an impromptu performance last Friday evening which would have been largely attended had it not been for the inclement weather, but as it was, the audience appreciated very much the various numbers, especially the recitations of Misses Gertrude Bradham and Ella Ottolengui, the duet by Miss Sybil Orlione and Mr. John McFall, and the recitation by Miss Sybil Orlione. The play was an "at home," and several of the skits were good.

The performance for tomorrow night has had several rehearsals and it will be enjoyed.

The Manning team played in Georgetown on the 4th, then went on to Darlington, played a series there and lost. They are now playing in Sumter. Monday's game was won by Sumter score 4 to 2, and yesterday's game was a tie, Manning and given to Sumter, score 7 to 4. The cheating of the umpire was so flagrant that even Captain Barksdale of the Sumter team admitted that Manning was robbed. Many of the spectators were disgusted by the robbery of the umpire. It is hard enough to be fairly defeated but when cheating is resorted to, it is time to call a halt.

Manning won yesterday's game from the Sumter team, but the tenth man stole it, if all the reports are true.
