Look over the list of candidates in THE TIMES and make your selection. Pick the winner from our columns.

Mr. W. F. Lyon arrived this morning from Danville, Va., to represent the American Tobacco Co., at this place.

Cotton buyer, W. T. Sellers bought from W. T. Brogden 196 bales of cotton yesterday at 10¢, against 10¢ offered in Sumter.

Before attempting to petition for a social boycott it would be well to learn the art of manipulating a pocket handkerchief to keep the nose dry.

The reports from the cotton crops throughout this county are very discouraging. Several good farmers estimate the crop at about 60 per cent.

Mr. L. S. Barwick one of the principal merchants and farmers of Paxville was in Manning yesterday, and reports the crops in his section as very discouraging.

Too much frolic last week, and too much rain this week, have given THE TIMES editor a case of inertia, hence the lack of news and editorial matter this issue.

The picnic at Beulah last Saturday was an immense affair. Over 2000 persons were present and think of it, not a Clarendon candidate was permitted to make a speech.

"Red" Barber has joined the cellar champions at Darlington. He is a big fellow, and Joe Wells says "he killed a bear with his fist." Barber will be on Manning's pitching staff.

Since the new plate glass front has been put in for Venning's jewelry store, Venning has one of the neatest stores in the country, and when he returns from the Springs he will get ready for his fall stock.

The "Old Maid" tickled the risibilities of an audience last evening. The "Spinsters Convention" was a "howling success", and the performance will be repeated this evening with an entire change of program.

Misses Octavia and Nina Dove of Dovesville, stopped over in Manning, the guests of Miss Katie Plowden, on their return from the meeting of the State Press Association, and left for their home last Monday morning.

News reached here of the accidental death on a railroad in Oklahoma of James Meir, who formerly lived in Manning. His father, John Meir, was superintendent of Harvin's Hosiery mill. The deceased was an engineer and was killed in a wreck.

A few persons from here attended the Beulah picnic last Saturday. The Times editor expected to go, but circumstances prevented. The annual picnic at Beulah is always a huge affair, and the greatest place in the world to meet old friends.

The fall season is coming on, and we would urge our merchants to get together and work for the drawing of trade to this town. There is no doubt that Manning has the ability to induce patronage from all sections, and to do this, the thing to do is to do it.

The political leg-puller doesn't seem to be doing much of a business, but then the campaign is still young. "It is heard one of the neatest" "It is the heard one of candidates I ever saw, and if things don't get better I am going to Williamsburg where there is something doing for the poor man."

Both of our tobacco warehouses are now open, and both are determined to bring the tobacco to this town. If our merchants and cotton buyers will evince the same interest, there is no reason why Manning cannot handle twice as much cotton as heretofore. Manning should be as good as a cotton market, and should be as good as a cotton market as she is a tobacco market.

If the large amount of money spent to maintain a base ball team with disappointing results, had been invested in a standard cotton warehouse, the country would have been bettered. As it is, nobody but a lot of young able bodied strangers have received benefits, and they, only encouraged in a life of frivolity and idleness.

Here is the cotton season almost upon us and Manning not doing a thing towards securing warehouse facilities. In our opinion the speculators have got it fixed for low price cotton for the early part of the season, unless there is something done to afford facilities for storing the staple, the farmer will be at the mercy of the speculator.

The voters of Clarendon are getting the "Dear Friend" epistles from a candidate who is sojourning at the springs. It is "Dear Friend" now, and has been just before every election, but in off years the "Dear Friend" are not thought of, or even seen. How political aspirations "makes the heart grow fonder" at least until after the votes are counted.

We are in receipt of a communication from a Sumter county man, which we cannot publish for the reason it is an endorsement of the writer's candidacy for the senate. The article is very complimentary to us, and we appreciate the kind expression contained therein, but we would not consider it in good taste for the letter to appear in our newspaper.

Prof. E. B. Webster of the Hartsville colored school, is special Commissioner for the Jamestown exposition to interest the negro in an effort to have a building where to display his work, advancement and civilization. Prof. Webster has been in Manning and called upon us last Saturday. He has with him the best of credentials, and he appears to be a wise selection for the position.

The letter in this issue signed "A Voter" should be read with care. It is against our rule to publish such letters without charge, but under the circumstances we are obliged to print it to show the indifference with regard to securing Representatives is too manifest. Clarendon should have as good representation as any county in the State, and unless the people interest themselves it will be their own fault if the Representatives selected are not satisfactory.

Manning and Darlington played a double-header yesterday in Darlington. The morning score 4 to 2 in favor of Darlington. Fitcher for Manning. Flood, A. Hester for Darlington. Pitcher for Manning Barber, Joe Wells' bar killer. Double-header in Sumter between Camden and Sumter. Morning score Camden 3, Sumter 2. No runs, 4 home runs, 3 errors, 2 fouls, and still no fights. At Georgetown, Orangeburg 4, Georgetown 5. Mr. Sam Barron is umpiring at Sumter, and Mr. Michel at Georgetown; both still living.

President E. D. Hodge of the Cotton Growers Association is untiring in his efforts in behalf of the cause he so zealously represents. He has not lost faith but is convinced that the association is in shape now to do greater service for the cotton growers than heretofore. Experience has been a great factor in this fight, and the battles heretofore fought were but skirmishes to feel the strength of the enemy. The enemy's strength is now being felt, and the cotton growers are on the eve of the coming battle, President Hodge gives out the cheering instructions to hold the fort.

The base ballists are on the dump cart. The Manning team, although much stronger than does not seem to be doing any better than before. The series of games with Georgetown was a great disappointment, in fact, many heretofore enthusiastic supporters of the team are deserting and are longing for the end. All three games were won or given to Georgetown. Mr. Dwyer the manager played so bad that he was given the "pink" Saturday night, and Mr. Flood put in his place. In our opinion the change cannot be for worse. Flood is popular with the men and he is likely to hold them together. The team went from here to Darlington to begin a series Monday, ending today. Tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday they play in Sumter.

At the series of games here last week, we were not present and therefore can only speak of the games from hearsay. The local players "punk" all day long, and the manager, apparently wanted the boys to lose, and Dwyer was no better. Beusse got his "pink" went to Charleston made good, and while sliding to a base got his leg broken and is now in the hospital. He would not hit, nor would he move out of his tracks to stop a ball, but in Charleston he played star ball all around. We are told that in the first game with Georgetown Dwyer picked up a bunted ball, turned his back on the bases and let two men run in, and Dwyer was the manager and drawing pay. In another game he dropped three easy fly balls, just as he was drawing pay from the other side, is it any wonder then the people demanded his release?

When the boys return home next week, there is every promise of good ball playing and all people will make the attendance a record breaker, if for nothing else than to help those who were earnestly trying to give the public some amusement for the summer.

There appears in the Orangeburg Times and Democrat of the 19th inst. a ludicrous white about the defeat of Orangeburg at Manning. The article charges Roumillat, the umpire, with making the game a "howling success", and the performance will be repeated this evening with an entire change of program.

Misses Octavia and Nina Dove of Dovesville, stopped over in Manning, the guests of Miss Katie Plowden, on their return from the meeting of the State Press Association, and left for their home last Monday morning.

Do Not Neglect Your Bowels. Many serious diseases arise from neglect of the bowels. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are pleasant and agreeable laxative. They invigorate the liver and regulate the bowels. For sale by The Arant Co. Drug Store.

Complaint is being made about the road machinery lying by the roadside near Manning for months, ever since last fall, and the question forermostly asked by this paper is "Where is the people's money?" There is another complaint among the candidates for County Supervisor, to the effect that men who drawing pay in each township out of the commutation tax fund, are working in the interest of the man who signs their pay certificates. What there is in the latter complaint we know not, but if it is a fact that men who are employed by the county supervisor are diverting their time to the political arena, it is wrong and unfair to the other candidates. The commutation tax fund is for the building of the public roads, and not to pay for any man's election to the office of county supervisor.

As to the road machinery lying uselessly by the roadside for many months, that is true, but why it is so we know not, and would prefer hearing from Supervisor Owens on the subject. We do not see the tax fund paid for the machinery, and expected it to be used on the public roads and not to ornament the roadside. The roads and bridges in Clarendon county may not need the machinery, but they are constantly complaining of their condition, which makes the rusting of the road machinery an eye-sore to them.

It has caused more laughs and dried more tears, wiped away diseases and driven away more fears than any other medicine in the world. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Dr. W. E. Brown & Co.

Candidates Questioned. To Messrs H. B. Richardson, Louis Appell, D. L. Green, I. M. Woods, D. M. Epps, C. L. James, C. A. McFadden, R. E. McFadden, J. M. Strange, A. P. Burgess, E. B. Brown, S. P. Holliday, P. E. Bradham, L. L. Wells, E. C. Thames, J. R. Hill.

Question: You profess a willingness to serve Clarendon county in various capacities. Before hiring a servant a sensible man asks out something of his capabilities, sentiments, etc. A wave of sentiment and enlightenment is passing over Clarendon, never before experienced in her history. We must have servants in accord with the wishes of the majority.

Question: We therefore ask the following questions to be answered yes or no without equivocation or comment. Q1. Are you in favor of the continuance of the State Dispensary? Q2. Do you believe that the Ransom Bill will purify the dispensary? Q3. Will you support in the August primary the J. F. Lyon for Attorney General?

These are simple propositions and can be easily answered. CLARENDON. July 22, 1906.

Candidates Suggested. I have watched the columns of your valuable newspaper for the past few weeks with much anxiety, and I am fearful that existing conditions here much to do with our best men hesitating about offering their services for the cotton growers than heretofore. Experience has been a great factor in this fight, and the battles heretofore fought were but skirmishes to feel the strength of the enemy. The enemy's strength is now being felt, and the cotton growers are on the eve of the coming battle, President Hodge gives out the cheering instructions to hold the fort.

Memorial Service. The memorial services of the late Hon. James E. Tindal were held at the Baptist Church, Clarendon County, July 22, 1906. It was the query of his family that the exercises should be local in character, and hence no speakers were invited from a distance. Those who took part were his pastor, his fellow-deacons in the church and several of his friends. The tributes to his memory were from those who had known him longest or those who were most intimately associated with him in Christian work. While he had hosts of warm friends and ardent admirers throughout the entire State, he was most highly esteemed and sincerely loved by those who came into closest contact with him. They knew his real worth.

Upon the death of Abner, David said to his followers, "Know ye not that a prince and a great man is fallen this day in Israel?" These words may be applied to James E. Tindal, who was a prince in deed, conduct and character, and a great man intellectually, morally and spiritually. Indeed, he was one of South Carolina's most gifted and successful statesmen. He possessed of an unusually bright mind, he was a clear thinker, a forceful speaker, and a bold and fearless advocate of any cause which he espoused. He reached his highest eminence in the State, and there expressed them in words which were both strong and convincing.

In his home he was a model host. Those who have partaken of his hospitality will never forget his kindly face, his genial manner and his excellent conversational powers. In fact he was a typical Southern gentleman--always cordial, considerate, warm-hearted, gentle and sincere.

But his greatest work, the crowning work of his life, was in the Sunday school. For this he gave his very best efforts. As a superintendent he had few equals. For more than a third of a century he was engaged in this work, and in each year he accomplished it, it is impossible to estimate. There are scores of useful men and women in Clarendon county today whose early Sunday school training was largely due to him. As the years passed by his interest in the work seemed to deepen. The chief topic of his conversation the Sunday before his death was the Sunday school. It was the work which was dearest to his heart, and consequently it was uppermost in his thoughts when the children loved him as they did!

No wonder that they shed many bitter tears at his funeral and around his grave! No wonder that as the Sunday school lesson was being read in his memory, the children's hearts were bathed in tears! He was the children's friend, and the children realized that in his removal from earth, that they had lost their leader, their chief, and their great instructor.

What shall I say of his loyalty to his pastor? Permit me to say this: In his death I have lost one of the truest, noblest and best friends I have ever had. He counseled me as tenderly and affectionately as a father would counsel his son, and his counsel was always wise and helpful. Surely no pastor ever had a more thoughtful and considerate member. As long as I live I shall cherish the memory and reverence the name of James E. Tindal. I count it one of the privileges of my life to have been associated with him for ten years in Christian work.

A man so widely known, greatly beloved, and so tenderly used, who will be sadly missed; but above all he will be missed in his church, his Sunday school and in his home. Those who were nearest to him will feel his loss most deeply. MANNING A. CONNORS.

Parents Tribute. In loving remembrance of our darling baby, Alice, who departed this life July 22, 1906, in the 2nd year of her age. A long, sad, and dreary year has passed away since, for the last time in this life we gazed, through tearful eyes, at the face of our baby, who made our lives a Heaven on earth and was once the joy and sunshine of a happy home, that is now so dark and dreary and desolate by the little vacant chair and the little clothes laid out for her. What must be done, and although the blow is heavy and we are still suffering the sad loss of our darling baby, but the time is short, only a few more fleeting years, and again we shall see the little child, whose whom we know is one of the fairest angels in that beautiful home above, that heaven of blessed rest, where we will never part again, and where tears and broken hearts are unknown.

Around the grave we love to linger, 'Till the setting sun is low, Feeling all our hopes have perished, With the flower we cherished so. Precious Alice, she has left us, Left us, yes, forever more; But we hope to meet our loved one On that bright and happy shore. Lonely the home and sad the hour, Since our darling she has gone, But we trust a brighter home than ours In Heaven she has now. PAPA AND MAMA.
