Drinking Excuses. Excuses for drinking are always at hand. Here are the five familiar ones: Good wine, a friend, or being dry. Or last we should be by and by—Or any other reason why. If they don't suffice one can always fall back upon Dr. Sam Johnson's, "He who makes a beast of himself gets rid of the pain of being a man." On the other hand, here are three reasons, one of them cogent, that a Bostonian gave for not drinking: "First—I can't drink, for I've just lost a new relative. Second (when much pressed)—No, I really can't. You know I'm president of a temperance society. Third (when he was much more pressed)—No, I can't, indeed. I've just had four or five cock-tails."—Boston Globe.

Bismarck's Intense Hate. That Prince Bismarck was a good hater is shown in the reminiscences of Herr von Tiedemann, formerly chief of the imperial chancellery. During the first dinner at which Herr von Tiedemann was present with the prince, Bismarck said he thought Goethe was wrong in saying that only love beautified life. Hate did the same service and was quite as great a vivifier as love. "To me," added the prince, "are indispensable love for my wife and hate for Windhorst." One morning Bismarck said to Herr von Tiedemann, "I have not been able to sleep; I have hated the whole night."

Within Her Rights. A very black woman in a silver gray automobile coat was seen a few mornings ago hauling an unwilling and disreputable looking yellow dog by a leather thong. A friendly disposed policeman asked casually: "Why don't you turn the dog loose? He don't look able to run off, and nobody'll want to steal him?" "Ain't I a woman?" was the tart query.

There was no disputing the fact. "Ain't dis heah a dog?" "Patent fact. "Ain't dis heah New York?" Obviously true. "Well, ain't I got a good right to walk on dese heah streets and put on all the style I choose?" "No disputing a self evident proposition.—New York Times.

DEERING MOWERS AND RAKES.

FARMERS: The heavy rains of August have insured fine hay crop, this as you well know is becoming each year more valuable and in consequence the necessity of saving it greater, in order to do this economically you must use machinery, now when you buy machinery, "do not fail to buy the best." There are several Mowing Machines that are recognized as standard, we have selected from these and are selling the "Deering Ideal Mower." Our reasons for handling this Mower are many, among which are: Because it is the strongest made and owing to it being evenly balanced is as light in draft as many machines of less weight. These are the most important, but we are prepared to show our machines point for point against anything made. "We are sorry to say that they are made by the trust, we will sell the first machine that we can find that is not made by the trust, when we are convinced that it is as good as our Ideal Deering Mower." We keep a full stock of repairs at all times. The Deering Rake sold with Ideal Mowers has the advantage of simplicity of operation, any boy can work one after a short trial who can drive a horse. It is made solidly of steel.

In connection with hay-saving machinery, every farmer or community should have a Hay Press. With this in view we have placed on the market the Red Ripper Hay Press. We have this press now in stock, the press is set up ready for use so that any one can see how simple and rapidly the operation of baling can be carried on. This is the ideal way of storing hay. Buy a press and bale your hay, in this shape it is not only more economically stored, but will keep better and fresher and make better feed than if stacked in the open or housed loose in barns. Let us show you this press, if you are not convinced that it is the best and easiest press operated on the market we will not ask you to invest your money in it. Very truly yours.

GRAVITATION.

Its Wonderful and Far Reaching Effects Upon the World. "The effects of gravitation are so familiar as to demand only the briefest mention, yet most of us perhaps seldom stop to consider how far reaching these effects are," says Dr. Henry Smith Williams. "But for gravitation the winds would not blow, the waters would not descend, and the mountain tops would not crumble into the valleys. Each particle of pulverized rock would remain where it was formed, and there would be no such thing as a mixed soil. "But as matters are actually arranged gravitation is perpetually active, and every particle of matter is being eternally tugged at and urged to get nearer to the earth's center. So no resounder does a fragment of rock at a mountain crest become loosened than gravitation hurls it crashing down into the valley, shattering it into fragments that remain where it was formed, and there would be no such thing as a mixed soil. "By such means and with the further aid of its handmaidens, wind and water, gravitation works its unceasing purpose of leveling the surface of the earth. In a few brief geological moments it rounds the shoulders of the laughtiest mountain, and, given time enough, it will bring every particle of rock back to the sea bed, whence it originally sprang. Short of that, as a transition stage, it is forever mixing the different solid constituents on the one hand and sorting them out again on the other."—Appleton's.

Parson Brownlow and the Democrats. One of the famous retorts in history occurred when Parson Brownlow was war governor of Tennessee. On one of his journeys he attended service at a small Methodist church in the upper part of the state. The parson was a devout Methodist and seldom allowed his political rancor to interfere with the charity of his religious faith. On this occasion, being a visiting clergyman, he was placed in the "amen corner" near the pulpit. The local minister was as ardently Democratic in his views as Governor Brownlow was Republican. In the prayer which followed the lengthy sermon the minister began to call on the Lord for grace for his favorites. "God bless Felix Grundy," he began. Parson Brownlow moved uneasily in his seat, but responded with a conscientious "Amen." "God bless Robert E. Lee," concluded the preacher. A fainter "Amen" from Parson Brownlow. "God bless the whole Democratic party," cried the preacher, waxing in fervor as he progressed. "This was too much for the governor. With a bound he was on his feet, shouting: "God forbid! It would bankrupt divine grace and exhaust the whole plan of salvation!"

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all Cough Cures, especially those that contain opiates are constipating. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiate and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by Dr. W. E.
