A NEW RICHMOND. The latest in political circles comes from O. B. Martin, State superintendent of education in the nature of an announcment that he is a candidate for the United States Senate. In his announcment he makes several lunges at the present incumbent, Senator Latimer, and which we construe as an index to what will follow in the campaign. He charges the junior Senator with being a political fakir, a maker of promises that were never fulfilled. He intimates that Latimer has used his official position to get rich, by hinting at his vast Mexican possessions, and altogether Martin proposes to show that Latimer is in public life for the money he can get out of it. But Mr. Martin thirsts not alone for the gore of Senator Latimer, he wants a try-out with the present governor whom he says has "manifested symtoms of Senatorial aspirations," but he does not "know whether he will run or not." He charges Governor Ansel with "having injected politics into the ously considered. There should not be educational department,"and then says a single man who has any affair on re-"If he decides to enter the race for the cord in that building, but who would be United States Sennte, I shall meet him

It is altogether to soon to conjecture as to who will be Senator Latimer's successor, there is no telling yet who will enter the race, but notwithstanding the question frequently asked, "who is South Carolina's other Senator?" we do not hesitate to say that Martin's irrational onslaught will not have a tento succeed himself.

at Phillipi."

Governor Ansel has not announced himself a candidate for the Senate, and judgment he should succeed himself as Governor, but in the event that the governor should decide to run for the Senate, Mr. Martin's cheap defi amounts to naught. We look upon Mr. Martin's conduct with regret. He has been honored by the people, and now have as much dirt and clay as Sumter, which election only qualified voters on the eve of his retirement from office, but look how they are getting along residing in said School District shall on the eve of his retirement from office, he is in bad temper like a spoiled child when the parent thinks it has tion because Governor Ansel did not consult with him regarding an appointment meets with popular approval, it does not. The people know the appointing power lays with the Governor alone, and they rather admire him for his independence, especially, when it something not altogether right with this State, in every town and hamlet people are complaining of the manner of the school book adoption, and when the governor declined to appoint on the board some favorite of the State superintendent, he no doubt had good reasons for it, anyway the people believe he is trying to protect their in-

We have no idea that Mr. Martin stands a ghost of a show for the United States Senate, or any other office for that matter. He has with his own bad temper dug his political grave. He is a lively stump speaker and when the campaign opens we imagine he will get lots of hurrahs, but when the votes are counted his friends will learn their favorite went to sleep at the post. What ground there is for the report that Governor Ansel will be a candidate for the U. S. senate, other than the statement alleged to have come from General J. C. Boyd while in Washington recently, we do not know, but while we recognize the fact that Gov. Ansel is a free American citizen and can do as he pleases about which office, if any, he will run for, yet we are disinclined to believe that he will be a candilate for any other office than that from South Carolina state that of G vernor. We think he is somewhat bound to stand for re-election, because it is under his administration that one of the State's institution was wiped from the statute books: should he however conclude to measure lances with Senator Latimer, we can frankly valid, because she had not been away say that there are many who supported Ansel for governor and would do so again for the same office, who will not are very lax. vote for him for the U. Editor The Manning Times:

Being put out of business for several weeks subsequent to court week, this orrespondent has been remiss latterly n furnishing the news from this sec-

And now, begging your pardon, for would remember that you wanted news rather than opinions, I have found good subject for consideration. It is more liberal.

The full treatment is not expensive. A packmore fluer and it is about a new court house and better roads. This is an old subject, but one that will last just as long as the old court house and the bad roads. So to get rid of one the bad roads. So to get rid of one more the wide and the bad roads. means the riddance of the other. There is no doubt about it, that we are away behind in both particulars. It needs only a superficial examina tion to show that our court house is very inadequate in its capacity and fittings. It is a veritable fire trap. A glance into some of the offices reveal piled under tables, in wooden cases etc. Some of these are necessarily valuable, some could not replaced at any cost and all ready as tinder to burn any minute. The clerk's office is the only one at all litted against fire, and it is now crowd ed to its capacity. This office alone needs three times the room it now has. Some of the others need more room, and all need fire proof protection for the papers etc., of value. This should be so apparent to all so as to make the issue one simple of solution. As to the upper story, while the seating capicity is large enough, the usual appearance and condition is not inviting o a decent audience. I have no doubt that just as much justice can be dealt out in that court room as in a more luxurious one, the same for that matter could be done in yard beneath the beautiful oaks. It is a fact, one that is worth while considering that when we are surrounded by squalid, untidy quarters, noxious air, etc., that the best results of heart and mind are not attainable.
