

MONEY PANIC SALE!

OPENS WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1908.

After careful investigation we find that the recent money panic, or what the Wall Street financiers call stringency, has depleted our bank accounts so much that we are compelled to either make some arrangements to raise money for the maintenance of the business or take the inevitable consequences. And it being a fact that the banks would not let out money on mercantile security, the only course left for us to do is to try to raise money through a special sale. A sale that will eclipse anything ever contemplated in this part of the State. Realizing as we do,

THE SCARCITY OF MONEY

among our patrons, as well as ourselves, we will endeavor to make it profitable for those who are able to take advantage of the enormous reduction we will make for this sale. This PANIC SALE will last only long enough to raise money to pay our debts and we may close in any day. Therefore, we would urge all who wish to take advantage of this GREAT REDUCTION to come early and not to be left out. TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF DEPENDABLE GOODS. We have about $20,000 worth of new, select and up-to-date Merchandise, which is placed at your mercy. We will have no special price for our goods at this PANIC SALE. Worth, value and cost will not be considered, and you buy the goods at your own price. We need the money, and cannot afford to dilly-dally about the price or figure the loss; therefore we will not quote you prices in advance. In order to realize the enormous reduction at which our stock will be sold during this PANIC SALE your personal attendance is cordially invited. We need TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS and if we sell that much in FIVE days the sale will close then and there, but if it takes three weeks to sell that much the sale will continue for three weeks or longer. This will be

A Sale Without Date Or Prices.

Come whenever you please and pay as much as you want, is there anything to equal it? During this PANIC SALE no credit will be extended to any one, everything must be paid cash for, nor will we exchange goods or return money under any circumstances. The object of this sale and the prices for which goods will be sold would not permit us to do either, as much as we would like to be considerate to our patrons. Tax Returns.

Office of County Auditor Clarendon County, Manning, S. C., Dec. 19 1907.
The Auditor's office will be open from the 1st day of January 1908, to the 20th day of February 1908, to receive returns of personal property in Clarendon County for the year 1908. Taxpayers return what they own on the first day of January 1908.
All returns must be sworn to and no return will be considered either by the County Auditor or boards of assessors unless sworn to. A penalty of fifty per cent will be added after the 20th day of February.
The Auditor will be at the following places in person, or by proxy, to receive returns:
Paxville, Monday, Feb. 3rd.
Pinewood, Tuesday, Feb. 4th.
Panola, Wednesday, Feb. 5th.
Summerton, Thursday, Feb. 6th.
St. Paul, Friday, Feb. 7th.
Davis X Roads, Saturday, Feb. 8th.
Aiclu, Sunday, Feb. 10th.

MAORI SAVAGERY.

The Women Slaughtered the Victims For the Cannibal Feasts.
Mrs. E. M. Dunlop of Auckland, New Zealand, writes of the Maori women: "The Maori woman can keep at will. She has practiced the art, which has formed an important part of her training. She weeps so genuinely and so copiously as to melt the heart of a sympathizing witness. The Maoris hold 'tauis' or weeping parties, to mourn their dead, and in these gatherings the women play a conspicuous part. While weeping they utter a low, mournful cry, which has a very weird effect when produced by a number of voices. The mourners sit in groups, with their heads partially covered, giving forth their monotonous wailing and shedding copious tears.
"The Maori woman of past ages almost excelled her lord in savagery. On the return of a triumphant war party they usually brought home a number of prisoners and slaves. It was the privilege of the women of the tribe to fall upon these, slaughtering them in preparation for the cannibal feast which followed. The women bore the painful ceremony of the tattoo without shrinking. Spiral marks were cut into the flesh of their chins, lips and faces; a soot made by a peculiar method was rubbed into the wounds, causing an indelible blue-black stain.
"The Maoris, even in their former state, treated their women with a certain amount of consideration, although the lot of the female slave was very hard and often ended in her being served up as a dainty dish to appease the appetite of her voracious lord, who would kick away the baskets of vegetable food presented to him by his wives as a signal that he required the tender flesh of a slave girl."

There is something about Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup that makes it different from others, as it causes a free yet gentle action of the bowels through which cold is forced out of the system. At the same time it heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat and lungs. It is pleasant to take. Children like it. Contains no opiates nor narcotics. Sold by W. E. Brown & Co.

The Incentive.
"Does your son study Greek in college?"
"Oh, yes. He's very enthusiastic over it."
"I thought he didn't care for languages?"
"He doesn't as a rule, but next year the football team is to have Greek signals and Harry is trying for the 'seven.'"—Kansas City Independent.

A GREAT BASEBALL SERIES.

How Boston and Providence Battled in the League in 1884.
Probably one of the grandest series of baseball games played by National league clubs was that between the Boston and the Providence Grays in 1884. The Boston had won the championship of 1883, and it was the ambition of Providence cranks, who lived only forty miles away from the Hub, to wrest the laurels away from the Bean Eaters. Every game that was played between the clubs was attended by immense crowds, and the excitement was at white heat.
The first game of the series in 1884 was one of sixteen innings and resulted in a tie, the score standing 1 to 1. The pitchers were Charley Radbourne and Jim Whitney, and 10,000 persons saw the battle. The next day Providence won by a score of 2 to 1 in nine innings, and Charley Swenney struck out nineteen Boston batsmen off the first eight games in Boston and five and Providence three. When it came time to meet for the four final struggles the Providence team had won every series from the other league clubs and wanted to win the series from the Boston too. Radbourne accordingly was assigned to pitch in all four games on four successive days. He was in such magnificent form that in all of the games the Boston were beaten and scored the sum total of one run. One of the games lasted eleven innings. It was played by the Rhode Islanders by a score of 1 to 0. Arthur Irwin, who was the shortstop for Providence, drove a long fly toward the right field fence, and the ball went through a hole between the boards. It was a big bagger and decided the game.
Radbourne's wonderful pitching on those days will never be forgotten by those who saw him perform. He went into the box game after game and pitched for nineteen consecutive contests. It was his remarkable twirling that was instrumental in helping Providence to win the pennant that year.
"He of the season, and had went along single handed. One feat that was the talk of the baseball world in 1883 was his pitching in an exhibition game at Trenton. The home club would not allow Providence to play with the regulation league ball and insisted upon substituting another of lighter weight. Radbourne, however, accepted the latter ball and proceeded to strike out every man who came to the bat until one man had been retired in the sixth inning. Then a player fouled the ball, which had not been done before. The pitching distance then was forty-five feet from the home plate.

Mr. E. L. Mards who conducts a general merchandise business at Pope, Va. writes: I had chills last June and got down in very bad shape. My system was so completely run down that I was scarcely able to attend to any work. I took 3 bottles of Rydale's Tonic and felt like a new man before I had finished taking it. It did me more good than anything I ever found and my health was good all last summer. W. E. Brown & Co.

THE SIX HUNDRED.

Incidents of That Mad Ride to Death at Balaklava.
Of that mad but heroic charge a hundred incidents are preserved—thrilling, humorous, shocking. The Cornhill Magazine tells of a man of the Seventeenth lancers who was heard to shout, just as they raced in upon the guns, a quotation from Shakespeare, "Who is there here would ask more men from England?"
The regimental butcher of the Seventeenth lancers was engaged in killing a sheep when he heard the trumpets sound for the charge. He leaped on a horse. In shirt sleeves, with bare arms and pipe in mouth, he rode through the whole charge, slew, it is said, six men with his own hand, and came back again, pipe still in mouth!
A private of the Eleventh was under arrest for drunkenness when the charge began, but broke out, followed his troop on a spare horse, picked up a sword as he rode and shared in the capture and perils of the charge. The charge lasted twenty minutes, and was ever before such daring or such suffering packed into a space so brief? The squadrons rode into the fight numbering 673 horsemen, but their mounted strength when the fight was over was exactly 105.
It was all a blunder, but it evoked a heroism which made the blunder itself magnificent. And as long as brave deeds can thrill the imagination of men the story will be remembered of how—
Stormed at with shot and shell, Boldly they rode and well, Into the jaws of death, Into the mouth of hell— Noble six hundred!

The Elevator Eyes.
One of the greatest hardships suffered by men who run elevators in the tall office buildings downtown is the bad effect it has on their eyes. The cars are run at a high rate of speed, and, as the men have to look straight ahead of them most of the time, their eyes soon feel the strain of the constant motion.
"I've worked in the subway," remarked one of these elevator men, "and I thought that was pretty bad, but it isn't a patch to the way my eyes feel after a day's work in these cars. If you ever run across an elevator man who seems unusually bad tempered toward the close of the business day, just look at his eyes and you will be apt to forgive him. They generally show the strain that has been put on them for eight or ten hours."—New York Press.

A tickling Cough from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation, even to very young babies. The whole-some green leaves and tender stems of a long healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes, no opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the doctor uses, "The sacred herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's, take no other. W. E. Brown & Co.

ABOARD A MAN-OF-WAR.

Life Largely Made Up of Scrubbings, Regulations and Inspections.
The day's programme aboard a man-of-war is calculated to make the boy who wants to run away to sea sit up and think twice. It varies somewhat according as the ship is in port or at sea and under different commands, but in any case, from 5 o'clock in the morning till 7:30 at night, it is a rather strenuous round of scrubbing and drills. The recruit realizes very soon that the expression "shipshape" means a good deal.
Saturday morning is a tremendous cleaning time, called "field day," which is followed by a half holiday in the afternoon, and on Sunday morning the captain himself inspects his ship from keel to truck. The marine band is stationed just below on the hurricane deck, and the bluejackets stand on the port side of the quarter deck and the marines on the starboard, all ready for inspection.
But life isn't all scrubbing, regulations and inspections. On the regular government furnishes athletic supplies, and each man-of-war has her champion boxer and baseball and football teams. These teams are managed or supervised, at least, by officers, and many an ensign or lieutenant who has won his "N" at the Naval academy plays shoulder to shoulder with his bluejackets. Such familiarity would have scandalized old Commodore Porter beyond words.—St. Nicholas.

Sour Stomach
No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.
