

THE BASQUES.

An Interesting People Who Are a Puzzle Among Nations.

The Basque provinces lie in the north of Spain, and although for centuries students have tried to trace the real origin of the people and find a key to their language, they have failed to do so.

All other known tongues spoken by the sons of men have been shown to possess a common origin, traceable to the Arabic and Semitic. But the Basque language has entirely resisted the philologist.

The people themselves bear physical traits found in those who speak the said tongues. The native name of Basque land is Euzkadi, and their motto is "Euzkadi" or "Three in One."

Nor is their political structure anything like that of any known political body, though they belong, of course, to Spain. Each Basque province is governed by a parliament composed of representatives—selected partly by election, partly by lot—among the householders of each country parish or town.

The people themselves bear physical traits found in those who speak the said tongues. The native name of Basque land is Euzkadi, and their motto is "Euzkadi" or "Three in One."

TWIN EARTHQUAKES.

Two Distinct Series of Shocks Are Felt Almost Simultaneously.

Among the most interesting earthquakes that have occurred in recent years are those known as "twin earthquakes," where two distinct series of shocks are felt, separated by an interval of two or three seconds.

Apparently there are two distinct parts of origin for these shocks, and the strip where a single shock is felt is that where the two sets of vibrations arrive simultaneously.

The Fighting Maoris. Some 300 Maoris were shut up in trenches at a place called Orakau. Without food except a few raw potatoes, without water, pounded at by artillery and under a hail of rifle bullets and hand grenades.

Forget Himself. Absentminded persons are not infrequently met among the medical profession, who of all men should always have their wits about them.

To Ferment. "You know, Elsie, that ferment means to work," said the teacher. "Now you may write a sentence on the blackboard containing the word 'ferment'."

WIND AND WAVES.

A Gale's Action Upon Water, Desert Sand and Prairie Snow.

There are wind waves in the water, sand and snow. The great sea waves are produced at that part of a cyclone where the direction of the wind coincides with the direction of advance of the depression.

Too Good to Be Well. A London Hospital Doctor's Hurry Patient From the Outside. The patient fell at the foot of the hospital stairs, and the next moment an inflated patient was seen tumbling down the passage with a child tucked under the arm.

The Camel. Characteristics of the Patient, Strong and Useful Animal. As far back as the middle of last century General von Moitte in his descriptive letters from Asia Minor had many good words to say about the camel.

Not Since the Flood. Sir Henry Irving once received what he at the time considered a very palatable snub, delivered him by a highlander.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.

THE BASQUES.

An Interesting People Who Are a Puzzle Among Nations.

The Basque provinces lie in the north of Spain, and although for centuries students have tried to trace the real origin of the people and find a key to their language, they have failed to do so.

All other known tongues spoken by the sons of men have been shown to possess a common origin, traceable to the Arabic and Semitic. But the Basque language has entirely resisted the philologist.

The people themselves bear physical traits found in those who speak the said tongues. The native name of Basque land is Euzkadi, and their motto is "Euzkadi" or "Three in One."

Nor is their political structure anything like that of any known political body, though they belong, of course, to Spain. Each Basque province is governed by a parliament composed of representatives—selected partly by election, partly by lot—among the householders of each country parish or town.

The people themselves bear physical traits found in those who speak the said tongues. The native name of Basque land is Euzkadi, and their motto is "Euzkadi" or "Three in One."

TWIN EARTHQUAKES.

Two Distinct Series of Shocks Are Felt Almost Simultaneously.

Among the most interesting earthquakes that have occurred in recent years are those known as "twin earthquakes," where two distinct series of shocks are felt, separated by an interval of two or three seconds.

Apparently there are two distinct parts of origin for these shocks, and the strip where a single shock is felt is that where the two sets of vibrations arrive simultaneously.

The Fighting Maoris. Some 300 Maoris were shut up in trenches at a place called Orakau. Without food except a few raw potatoes, without water, pounded at by artillery and under a hail of rifle bullets and hand grenades.

Forget Himself. Absentminded persons are not infrequently met among the medical profession, who of all men should always have their wits about them.

To Ferment. "You know, Elsie, that ferment means to work," said the teacher. "Now you may write a sentence on the blackboard containing the word 'ferment'."

WIND AND WAVES.

A Gale's Action Upon Water, Desert Sand and Prairie Snow.

There are wind waves in the water, sand and snow. The great sea waves are produced at that part of a cyclone where the direction of the wind coincides with the direction of advance of the depression.

Too Good to Be Well. A London Hospital Doctor's Hurry Patient From the Outside. The patient fell at the foot of the hospital stairs, and the next moment an inflated patient was seen tumbling down the passage with a child tucked under the arm.

The Camel. Characteristics of the Patient, Strong and Useful Animal. As far back as the middle of last century General von Moitte in his descriptive letters from Asia Minor had many good words to say about the camel.

Not Since the Flood. Sir Henry Irving once received what he at the time considered a very palatable snub, delivered him by a highlander.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.

CASTORIA advertisement. The Kind You Have Always Bought, which has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co. for over 30 years. Includes text about its benefits for various ailments and a list of agents.

Large advertisement for The Manning Times and Cosmopolitan or American Success. Features a list of magazines and their prices, a total value of $4.15 for only $2.65, and a dress pattern. Includes the Manning Times logo and contact information for Manning, S. C.