Town Lot Given Away!

This Is a Good Opportunity to Secure a Building Lot in the Town of Manning Absolutely Free!

All that you have to do is to pay what you owe and one year's subscription in advance. Or if you do not take THE TIMES now, subscribe and pay for one year in advance.

Those who have complied with these conditions, their names will be put in a box, and on the 15th day of December, in the presence of witnesses, some child will be blindfolded and draw from the box one slip of paper. This slip will contain the name of a person who has paid all indebtedness to THE TIMES and one year's subscription in advance, and to this person or to any one he or she may designate we will execute a warrant deed to one of the building lots which we purchased at the Lesene lot sale.

This is no game of chance or lottery, but a straightforward gift to a TIMES subscriber.

Bring in, come in or send your subscriptions and be eligible to get this valuable present.

Coast Line Changes.

Wilmington, N. C., November 6, 1909. The Times, Manning, S. C. Gentlemen: Below is the schedule changes which take effect on November 15th on the Atlantic Coast Line will be of interest to your readers. I beg to give you below the changes, which are marked, and will be very glad to have your cooperation in representing same to your readers.

Effective November 15th, the Atlantic Coast Line will inaugurate a new through Pullman dining car train, known as the Palmetto Limited, between New York and Jacksonville, Fla., and Atlanta Ga. It will be equipped with the latest Pullman sleeping cars, thoroughfare coaches and dining cars between New York and Jacksonville, leaving New York at 3:25 p. m., Washington 10 p. m., arrive Florence 10:12 a. m., Augusta 3 p. m., Atlanta 8:20 p. m., where connection is made with outgoing trains for the West.

The above will be in addition to the Florida and West Indian Limited, trains 82 and 83, schedules of which will be arranged as follows: Train 82, leave New York 9:55 a. m., instead of 9:25 a. m., Washington 4:03 p. m., instead of 3:35 p. m., as now, Florence 3:45 a. m., Charleston 6:40 a. m., Jacksonville 1:20 p. m., where connection will be made to all Florida points. Returning, train 82 will leave Jacksonville at 9:05 a. m., instead of 8:30 a. m., as now, arrive Charleston 5:50 p. m., Florence 8:55 p. m., arrive Washington 8:40 a. m., and New York 2:45 p. m.

There will be no change in the schedules of The Coast Line Florida Mail, trains 84 and 85.

An additional local train will be put on between Sumter and Augusta, leaving Sumter at 7 a. m., arriving Augusta 11:15 a. m., leaving Augusta on the return trip at 4 p. m., and arriving Sumter at 8:15 a. m.

The convenient schedule and arrivals of the Palmetto Limited at all points in South Carolina will be appreciated by the traveling public and the people of your community have now, for the first time in a number of years, a through Pullman train service to and from Atlanta and the West.

Yours very truly,
W. J. CRAIG,
Passenger Traffic Manager.

Hexamethylenetetramine.

The above is the name of a German chemical, which is one of the many valuable ingredients of Foley's Kidney Remedy. Hexamethylenetetramine is recognized by medical text books and authorities as a uric acid solvent and antiseptic for the urine. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy as soon as you notice any irregularities and avoid a serious malady. W. E. Brown & Co.

No Time For Art.

"Real high art," said a comedian, "seldom strikes home. I played in a melodrama in my youth where the leading characters were grand artists, but their best scenes were only scolded at. Our villain had a death scene in the sixth act. He revealed in that scene. He writhed all over the stage. It was real high art! In a small town one night the scene shifter started to lower the slow curtain on this death much too soon. The dying villain, as he kicked about, whispered hoarsely: 'Time there, young fellow. I ain't dead yet.' 'Dead or not dead,' said the shifter, 'me hot supper's waitin' fur me.'"

The Wilderness.

This theater of bloody conflicts is a vast sea, so to speak, of a dense forest—a second growth more than a century old. It is made up chiefly of scrubby, low limbed, stubborn oaks and disorderly, haggard pines, for the soil is cold and thin, with here and there scattering clumps of alien cedars. Some of the oaks are large enough to cut two railroad ties, and every once and awhile you come across an acre or two of pines ten to twelve inches in diameter, tall and tapering, true to the soaring propensities of their kind. But generally, and above all where the battle was fought, the trees are noticeably stunted and so close together and thick lower limbs so intermingled with a thick underbrush that it is very difficult indeed to make one's way through them.—Atlantic Monthly.

Meredith's Advice to Stead.

W. T. Stead tells a characteristic story of George Meredith, which is all the more appreciable as it is told against himself. "He was a true friend," says Mr. Stead, "not less faithful in criticism than he was cordial in his appreciation. Of the former I remember well the neat way in which he put me out of conceit with my first attempt to write a story. I sent him my little effort with fear and trembling. My trepidation was not without warrant. 'I have read 'From the Old World to the New,' he wrote. 'Some of the characters are interesting and well drawn. One of them especially reminds me of Cecil Rhodes. But if any one of your friends tells you that he likes the story as a story don't believe him.'"

No Wonder She Swooned.

Mrs. Lysander John Appleton's mother, instead of dining last evening that her son, Chauncey Devere Appleton, was in trouble, so she took him to her room and said, "My son, tell your mother what troubles you." It turned out that the young man was having a hard time. The girl he has been "going with" had refused him. Mrs. Appleton was indignant. She thinks it would be an honor for any girl in the west to marry an Appleton. "Why did she refuse you?" she asked her son, with fine scorn. "Well," the boy replied between his sobs, "she objects to our family. She says pa's a loafer, that you're too fat and that everybody laughs at Daisey Mayme because she's a fool and talks about nothing but the greatest of her mother's face, but at 3 o'clock this afternoon she was still in a swoon, with four doctors working on her."

Applied Christianity.

Mother had baked several varieties of cakes, among them being some small, decorated ones for the children. All had received their share and were busy disposing of them upon the back veranda—that is, all except Isabel, who for some misdemeanor had been refused a share of the feast. Now, Isabel was four years old and had been attending a Sunday school for several weeks past, and in the school she learned a number of texts. She stood by the window watching the others make merry until her longing was too much for childish patience. So she walked over to the table, reached out her hand and solemnly repeated, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." Then a little fist closed firmly upon the largest, finest cake.—Woman's Home Companion.

Travel in 1763.

In these days of rapid transit a paragraph from a Yorkshire paper of 1763 is interesting. It is an account of a London merchant's journey from London to Dublin and back. Leaving London on Monday evening, the traveler reached Liverpool on Wednesday morning, in time to catch the packet for Dublin, which city he reached on Thursday. During that day he transacted his business in the capital, and next morning sailed for Liverpool, arriving there on Saturday. Monday saw him back in London, and his journey was complete, having taken only eight days! "And," concludes the writer, "there is every reason to believe that it will be possible to beat even this performance in the near future."—London Family Journal.

The Boy and the Book.

"The late Edward Everett Hale," said a Boston magazine editor, "was a great student of child life. 'Dr. Hale once dilated to me on the inordinably bad taste in books that children have. He instance the case of his own son, who a famous architect, whose taste he had a hard time forming. 'The little boy, it seemed, cared only for the sensational in literature. Jack Harkaway and Deadwood Dick seemed to him the very topmost pinnacle of literary excellence. He yawned over the splendid historical works his father read to him. 'One day, however, Dr. Hale had a gleam of hope. The little boy brought him a volume of English history and said: 'Will you read me some more out of this, please?' 'Why, certainly, my boy,' the father answered cordially. 'What part would you like to have?' 'Read me,' said the little boy, 'about Mary, queen of Scots, getting her head cut off and the blood all running down her back.'"

Division.

The new teacher glanced smilingly over the school and was delighted to see so many bright young faces among her new charges. "Now, children," she said, "so that I may find out what you know I will test you on arithmetic. Maggie Wilkins, if I were to divide three bananas among seventeen boys what would be the result?" "A riot," said Maggie, speaking up like a little drum major. "Possibly," said the teacher, "but that is not what I mean. Tommy, you may take the question. Three bananas among three boys—the result would be one banana apiece for each boy. Now, three bananas among seventeen boys would be what?" "Three bananas, m'm," answered Tommy. "I know, but three into seventeen is"—said the teacher.
