OH, THESE TECHNICAL LAWYERS!

One of the causes of complaint against the courts is the technicalities resorted to by shrewd lawyers to block justice. A man of wealth was convicted of wife-murder in Union county, and the jury found him guilty with a recommendation to mercy, the court sentenced him to life imprisonment, but his money has so far kept him from the penitentiary, and there is no telling how much longer his wealth will serve him in defeating justice.

If Jones had been a man without means he would now be filling out the sentence of the court. Therefore there is just ground for complaint by the people that the courts favor the rich.

It is a common saying, a poor man cannot get justice in the courts, because the rich man has the money to hire lawyers, who for the money, will play hide and seek with justice, even though it spells ruin to the taxpayers generally, in court expenses.

A BREAK IMMINENT.

President Taft's cabinet is getting him into trouble, and it would not surprise us in the least for a house cleaning to be made right soon. The President has an attorney general that is making, by his blunders, embarrassing situations, and in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy it seems quite clear the letter of exonerating Ballinger by the President, was prepared by an assistant in the attorney general's office, and not by the President himself.

gether and make the republican party stronger than it has ever been: if Roosevelt cannot succeed in bringing the disturbing elements back into the fold, then we look for a breaking up of both parties and new alignments made, which if done, there will no longer be a solid section.

The matter of road building is becoming one of the questions the government must sooner or later solve. Millions are being spent every year for the improvement of the rivers and harbors, and not a dollar does the government spend for the land highways.

The Southern Baptist Convention which is in session in Baltimore has endorsed President Taft's position in insisting upon changes in the federal law which will make it harder for the violators of the liquor laws. If the President can induce congress to enact legislation that will give to the states the right to prohibit liquors being shipped into dry territory, then we can have prohibition, and we think it but just and fair for congress to grant this right.

The Democracy of Alabama has put itself on record as favoring local option, the State-wide Prohibitionists were defeated at every turn in the convention. Alabama had State-wide Prohibition forced upon it by the legislature, and the extremists went so far that they caused a revision of feeling making it probable they will lose more than they gained. The indications are that Alabama will go back to local option where it was before the extremist element captured the political horse to ride themselves in office upon.

As indicating the measure of effort required among the non-Christian peoples of the earth, we accept as a working policy, the standard that, in addition to the native agencies, there should be provided from the churches of Christian lands an average of at least one missionary to every twenty-five thousand of the people to be evangelized.

telligence, their influence, their energy, and their possessions in the united effort of the church of Christ to evangelize the world.

While seeking the enlistment of all the laymen of the church in fulfilling the missionary task of our generation, we declare our belief that this work is the work of the organized church, and that the natural leaders in it are the ministers and the missionary agencies of the various churches; and it is our conviction that all that is done in the name of the Laymen's Missionary Movement should help to strengthen these leaders and the agencies through which the churches as such must discharge their missionary responsibility.

We urge the adoption by every church of regular and thorough methods of missionary education and finance, culminating once each year in an organized personal canvass of each congregation, with the earnest purpose of securing the systematic and proportional contributions of every member toward the world-wide propagation of the Christian evangel, and we recommend for universal adoption the Scriptural plan of a missionary offering every week, in order that this vast world enterprise may be kept constantly in the minds and prayers of all Christians, and that funds for the work may be adequate and steadily available.

We recommend that there be formed in each individual church a strong Missionary Committee, charged with the responsibility of promoting missionary intelligence, interest and contributions, and that in each city or county where work is undertaken a Co-operating Committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement be formed, composed of laymen, selected so far as possible by the various churches to represent their constituency in the territory covered, and that the Laymen's Missionary Movement, through its Executive Committee, in co-operation with the established missionary agencies of the several churches, be authorized to provide such measures for the supervision and assistance of these Co-operating Committees as the providential developments of the work may require.

The Monument Fund.

The monument fund to the heroic Confederate soldiers, both living and dead, grows amazingly slow and it is said that it will take only two or three thousand dollars to erect a monument to commemorate the noble achievements of the Confederate dead of Clarendon county.

With but few exceptions there is in every county in this State a monument commemorative of the unsurpassed valor and the glorious achievements of the Confederate soldiers.

Swinton, the gifted and impartial federal historian, wrote these creditable words in regard to the valor of the Confederate soldiers: "For four long years the Confederate soldiers carried the revolt of a people on their bayonets."

The Confederate soldiers' shadows are growing longer every day and their sun is fast waning toward the Western horizon and unless the people of Clarendon bestir themselves and build the monument by contributing to the fund the noble and patriotic citizens of Clarendon have begun the poor old Confederate soldiers will never be able to view the "promised land."

It would be untold pleasure to the living Confederate soldiers if they in their declining years could look upon a monument and behold therein the evidence that the Clarendon soldiers, both dead and living, have not been forgotten nor ever will be.

The muted drum's sad roll has beat the soldier's last tattoo. No more exercise shall meet that brave and fallen foe. On some eternal camping ground their silent tents are spread. And glory guards, with solemn tread, the bivouac of the dead.

GRORGE R. JONES, Davis Station, S. C. The "Vets" Day. Camden, May 10.—The memorial services in Camden to-day were of more than usual interest.

paying a glowing tribute to the hero, Richard Kirkland, to whom was unveiled at the cemetery to-day a large granite obelisk, suitably inscribed. The cannot be told any too often. Especially fitting was it on this occasion that Dr. Kershaw should make the address. It was a real pleasure to the ladies to have had the old Veterans here to-day as their guests, and it is safe to say that hereafter, providing them dinner and otherwise looking after their wants will be a regular feature of Memorial Day.
