The Biggest Store, The Biggest Stock, The Biggest Bargians.

It is useless to explain why everybody is happy to know that Mr. Krasnoff has returned home from the Northern markets. Of course, everybody knows what that means. Krasnoff's return means money in your pockets, because during his stay North he bought up the biggest bargains for his trade at home. Yes, everybody has been expecting a big sale, but instead of calling it a sale we will give you even bigger bargains than ever before. We have now in stock the biggest assortment of all up-to-date goods. We carry now the finest line in all departments and only ask your inspection and we can convince you that all your wants can be purchased at our store at a great saving. We would like to give you prices on all our goods, but this being impossible in this limited space we will quote a few prices at random:

CLOTHING.

Men's Suits, sold elsewhere at $25.00, our price $15 00
 Men's Suits, sold elsewhere at $20.00, our price $12 75
 Men's Suits, sold elsewhere at $15.00, our price $ 9 50
 Men's Suits, sold elsewhere at $10.00, our price $ 7 50

We will close out our Spring and Summer Suits regardless of cost. Men's Trousers, the $1.50 kind, we will sell at 89c. Other Trousers, Men's and Boy's, also Boy's School Suits, reduced in proportion.

SHOES.

Seltz, Rice and Hutchins, May Mantion and other well-known best makes of Shoes, we will sell at the following cut-prices:

The $5.00 kind Reduced to $4.00; the $4.00 kind, $3.25; the $3.50 kind, $2.85; the $3.00 kind, $2.25; the $2.50 kind, $1.90; the $2.00 kind, $1.25; the $1.25 kind, 98c.

All Low-cut Shoes and odds and ends High-cut Shoes will be sold at a sacrificing price to clean up.

FURNITURE.

Furniture is a side line with us, on which we don't make any profit, but being old-timers in that line our trade demands of us to carry it in stock. We therefore, sell all Furniture at cost, and if you contemplate furnishing your house it will be to your own benefit to come and see us. We have now in stock a full line of up-to-date Furniture, Art Squares, Rugs and Mattings, and we can safely say that we will save you at least 20 to 25 per cent. on your purchases.

Reading For the Sick.
 "And now a word about patients who may feel like reading," said the doctor-physician to the nurse. "When they ask for something to read be sure to give them continued stories—always continued stories."
 "Is that wise?" she ventured to remonstrate. "Won't the excitement over what is going to happen in the next number have a bad effect?"
 "No. Even if it does it will be counteracted by the encouragement. Sick people have queer fancies. One of the queerest pertains to literature. Feed a patient's mind with nothing but short stories and he will certainly get into his head that he is going to die so soon that it isn't worth while to start him on a long one, and he will drop accordingly. But give him only yarns of the to-be-continued-in-our-next-variety and he will take it for granted that you expect him to get well so he can finish the story, and he will perk up amazingly. Just try it."
 The nurse did try it and found that the doctor's theory was built on a sure foundation.—New York Times.

Lion Signs In England.
 In the middle ages the country houses of the nobility in England when the owners were absent were used as hostels for travelers. The family arms always hung in front of the houses and gave it a popular name among travelers, who called a lion "red" or "white" or "blue" or "black." As these were intimations of good cheer and entertainment innkeepers adopted the idea. Lions have always been and are now very favorite signs in England—lions white, black, red, brown, golden, yellow—red being the most common. Probably the Red Lion originated with the badge of John of Gaunt, duke of Lancaster, who married the daughter of Don Pedro, king of Leon and Castile, and who adopted the lion rampant gules of Leon to represent his claim to the throne. Under Richard and John lions became the settled arms of England and were generally used by those who could find any claim.

Roak and Gull.
 The rook appears to have become the bird whose name stands for swindlers in a distinctly unfair way, the London Chronicle says. At first "rook" meant a dupe, then the verb "to rook" came to mean to cheat, and out of this was evolved "rook," a cheat—a complete topsy-turvy process. It is curious that the same thing has not happened to "gull." Here also the verb came from the substantive meaning a dupe, and, as the gull strikes one as rather a knowing bird, one might have expected the same evolution as in the case of the rook. It should be observed, however, that "gull," a dupe, did not refer specially to the seagull, the word having formerly meant a young bird of any kind. In Elizabethan English it signified a callow youngster who wished to be thought smart.

Had Reason to Be Silent.
 An ingenious young man once took his fiancée to church in a small country village, and when the time for "collection" came around he rather contentiously displayed a silver dollar. Presuming upon their engagement, the young woman placed a restraining hand upon the arm of her fiancée.
 "Don't be so extravagant, George!" she exclaimed.
 "Oh, that's nothing," he replied. "I always make a point of giving a dollar when I go to a strange church."
 Just then the deacon came with the plate, and George dropped a coin. Everything seemed favorable, and the young man leaned with a sense of generosity. Then the minister gave out the notices for the week and concluded with the wholly unexpected announcement of the day's collection.
 "The collection today," said he, "amounted to 95 cents."
 George hadn't much to say all the way to his fiancée's home.—Houston Chronicle.

The Origin of Duns.
 A dunce is named after Duns Scotus, the chief and leader of the schoolmen who were in opposition to what was called "the new learning" in the sixteenth century. It is easy to see how readily convertible the term would be. Any opponent of the new learning would be apt to be referred to as a Dunsman, or, more briefly, as a Duns, to indicate that he held the views of which Duns Scotus was the most eminent representative. But as the time went on and the new learning triumphed to call any one a Dunsman or a dunce would be equivalent to describing him not merely as opposed to a certain set of doctrines, but as incapable of learning and enlightenment. It is certainly hard upon Duns Scotus, as Archbishop Trench has remarked, that he, "the subtle doctor" by pre-eminence, the "wisest of the school divines," as Hooker terms him, should have his name handed down to future ages as a synonym for invincible stupidity.

A Matter of Breed.
 "Them fellers in the office of the Bee are what I call fresh," Deacon Ezra Bullock remarked to his wife at the supper table on his return from his monthly visit to the town of Dalton.
 "How so, father?" inquired Mrs. Bullock.
 "Well," Mr. Bullock said, "one of my errands was from Saba Mabel Briggs. She wanted I should find out why they hadn't punctuated her last poem. They sent a copy, an' she said it made her most sick the way they'd spelled her beautiful ideas."
 "Well, when I'd got loaded up to come home I drove round to the Bee office an' composit' room an' beckoned a young feller in his shirt sleeves to come out."
 "Now, I says, 'you'll do her a favor if you'll tell me why you didn't punctuate Saba Mabel Briggs' last poem?"
 "Cert'ly," s' he, "I'm not a poet-er; I'm a setter!"—Youth's Companion.
