

Women!

If weak, you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from gentle herbs, acts in a natural manner, and has no bad results, as some of the strong drugs sometimes used. As a medicine—a tonic—for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui has been a popular success for over 50 years.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Lula Walden, of Gramin, S. C., followed this advice. Read her letter: "I was so weak, when I first began to take Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Now, I can do all the general housework, for a family of 9." Try Cardui for your troubles. It may be the very remedy you need.

The Wily Sexton.
Visitors to the Old North church are shown through the historic old building usually by an elderly man who seems obsessed with a love for the church. His fund of reminiscences is refreshing, and the most interesting thing he recounts is the story of how the lanterns were placed in the belfry. According to his version of the historic incident, the sexton overheard some English officers talking in the house he lived in and immediately hung the lanterns. Returning to his room, he saw that his shoes were caked with mud and hid them, replacing them with a dry pair. The officers, after they learned that a signal had been hung from the belfry, rushed to the room of the sexton, but, finding his shoes dry, became convinced that some one else had hung the lanterns and then locked all the doors of the edifice.—Boston Journal.

Carrying Out Instructions.
"Now, Thomas," said the philosophic father, "you're going out into a new land, where brain and muscle alone count, where ability is the sole passport to success. Make one firm resolution. Come what may, be determined to hold your own."

Some years later the old gentleman paid a visit to his son, who had in the meantime taken unto himself a wife. On entering his son's domicile he found him nursing twins.
"I took your advice, you see, dad," said the younger man.
"What advice?" asked the old philosopher, who had forgotten his parking administration.
"Holding my own," replied the dutiful Thomas.—London Tit-Bits.

What Makes a Woman?
One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. It's a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and sleeplessness, worn-out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Denver, Okla. "and I thank you with all my heart for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Swelles the Account.
The well known Paris theater manager Doligny relates in his reminiscences an encounter he had with the elder Dumax which furnishes an illustration of the novelist's whimsy. Doligny produced Dumax's drama, "Kean," with the rather peculiar stipulation that the author should receive one-third of the gross receipts when these exceeded 3,000 francs and nothing at all if they fell below that figure. Dumax, who was always hard up, came late one evening to get his share.
"Luck is against you again," said the manager. "You don't get anything to night. Here is the account."
Dumax glanced at it and went away in a few minutes he came back and said:
"Just look over the account again and then pay me 1,000 francs." The ticket that I just bought for 3 francs brings the total up to 3,000 francs and 50 centimes."

Described the Situation.
"When the Russian emigrants try to say Halifax it sounds like something much worse," said an officer on board a steamship that puts in at the port of Halifax on her return trip from Holland. "They call it 'Hell-o-fax'." On our last trip home we were not far from Halifax when the vessel broke a shaft, and we were obliged to put in at a port that was nearer to us for repairs. It was a bad break and likely to delay us, and the captain's temper was considerably ruffled. As we steamed into the dirt port some of the emigrants, thinking we had reached Halifax, spread the news among their fellows, and one of them who had learned a little English came running to the captain.
"We're in—Hell-o-fax!" he inquired eagerly.
"That's just what we are!" roared the captain.—New York Press.

Spotted the Bird's Flight.
During a campaign meeting a speaker, noted for his eloquent discourses, was expounding the praises of his favorite candidate for mayor.
"This man," he shouted, "is the one who can most fittingly govern this haven for the oppressed, with his countless myriads of happy homes, their verdant lawns and flowers scintillating in the sunlight."
With unobscured arms and gazing fervently upward, he exclaimed in a passionate voice:
"If I had the glories of a bird I would fly to every ward and precinct in this wonderful city and disseminate the glad tidings!"
Then a voice from the back of the room piped off:
"You'd be shot for a goose before you had flown a mile." Kansas City Journal.

Goethe as a Joker.
On an occasion when Goethe was staying at the court of Saxe-Weimar with his friend Duke Charles Augustus one of the court ladies, when about to retire for the night, found her candle suddenly extinguished just before she reached her bedroom door. Taking no notice of the occurrence, she groped along in the dark, but to her astonishment could not find the door handle. Again and again she felt her way along the wall, but with the same result. At last she made up her mind to go to the duchess for advice. The latter, however, was already asleep, and no help was to be had from her. The poor lady did not care to take any one else into her confidence for fear of being laughed at and so spent some hours in vain search, only to find at last that Goethe and the duke himself had with their own hands taken the door off its hinges some time earlier in the evening and carefully walled up the entrance to the room.

Sounded That Way.
Miss Brown was giving an elaborate description of a blacksmith preparatory to teaching Longfellow's poem to her pupils:
"Now, children, we are going to learn a poem today about some one who works very hard. He is very large and has great arms that can lift such heavy things. His face is blackened with soot that comes from the great, blazing fire. And he wears a dirty black apron and he has a fire that glows, oh, so red, and whenever he makes anything he puts it into his fire and then pounds it with a great big hammer, which makes the loudest clanging noise and makes the sparks fly about in every direction. Now, who can tell me what I have been describing?"
A little maid who had listened to these vivid details with eyes twice their natural size sprang to her feet and said in an awed whisper:
"The devil!"—Housekeeper.

Insect Bite Costs Leg.
A Boston man lost his leg from the bite of an insect two years before. To avert such calamities from stings and bites of insects use Sucklen's Arnica Salve promptly to kill the poison and prevent inflammation, swelling and pain. Heals burns, boils, ulcers, piles, eczema, cuts, bruises. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

Sea Water.
Sea water is a complicated mixture of a great variety of substances. Roughly speaking, it consists of 96 1/2 per cent of fresh water plus 3 1/2 per cent of mineral salts. Three-fourths of these salts are chloride of sodium, of common table salt, and the next largest constituent is chloride of magnesium. After these come sulphate of magnesium, sulphate of lime, sulphate of potash, bromide of magnesium and carbonate of lime. In addition to these substances sea water contains minute quantities of quite a variety of elements, including iodine, phosphorus and arsenic. It also contains some silver, copper, zinc, nickel, cobalt, iron and gold. There is said to be 2 cents worth of gold in every gallon of sea water, but as yet no body has found a way to extract it. Copper and zinc are found in some seaweeds, and certain species of coral is three-millionths silver.

Daily Motion of the Earth.
Astronomers are not agreed as to the cause of the earth's daily motion and how the force of that motion is kept up. Some of them claim that the "original initial centrifugal force" was directed in a line slightly to one side of the center of the globe, which would, of course, cause the earth to rotate upon its axis, and by the law of inertia of matter must continue to revolve at a uniform rate of speed. This "law of inertia of matter" is to the effect that matter once set in motion must continue to move until arrested by some outside force. Others claim that the motion is a "compound resultant of the motion of the earth in its orbit and the attraction of the sun."

A Freak of Death Valley.
Saratoga springs is one of the freaks of Death Valley and has probably caused more profanity than anything else in the region. The waters are as clear as crystal, and they bubble up from a deep, sandy basin like a well-spring of joy. But they are strongly impregnated with sulphur and other minerals, are tepid in temperature and act instantly like an opiate upon any one who drinks them.—Exchange.

N. J. Gorham, Cashier Bank of Woodville, Woodville, Ga., had a very severe attack of kidney trouble and the pains in his kidneys and back were terrible. "I got a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills from our druggist and they certainly relieved me. I have more benefit from them than any other medicine." The Dickson Drug Co., Manning, Leon Fischer, Summerton.

Heart and Lungs.
The action of the heart, lungs and digestive system is involuntary, for the reason that it is indispensable to life and must be carried on under all circumstances. If a man had to think of his heart or had to remember that he must breathe or that his food must digest he would have no time to do anything else, and if by chance he should forget to keep his heart going or his lungs in operation he would fall dead on the spot.

Most Important Event.
"What do you consider the most important event in the history of Paris?"
"Well," replied the tourist who had grown weary of distributing tips, "so far as financial prosperity is concerned, I should say the discovery of America was the making of this town."—Washington Herald.

Good News.
Cashier—Have you heard, sir, that John Jones is a bankrupt? Banker—Well, that's good news. We will now get a little of what he owes us, whereas if he had remained in business, we never would have got a cent.—Pittsburgh Courier.

An Epitaph.
Tommy—Pop, what is an epitaph? Tommy Pop—An epitaph, my son, is a man who thinks he can form an impartial opinion of himself.—Pittsburgh Courier.

A High Testimonial.
Lady (embracing a maid)—Was your last mistress satisfied with you? Maid—Well, mum, she said she was very pleased when I left.

Many a man's woes have at first been nothing worse than good qualities run wild.—Hare.

The Choice of a Husband is too important a matter for a woman to be handicapped by weakness, bad blood or foul breath. Avoid these weaknesses by taking Dr. King's Life Pills. New strength, fine complexion, pure breath, cheerful spirits—things that win men—follow their use. Easy, safe, sure. 25c at all druggists.

Intimation.
"So the insolent fellow refused to pay his rent?"
"He did not say so in words, but he intimated it."
"How so?"
"He kicked me downstairs."—Paris Journal.

Hard Task.
"What's the matter, my dear?"
"Oh, I'm trying to tell that Gotrox person how perfectly beautiful we think her horrid old wedding present is."—Life.

Hated Winding It.
Mrs. Ewe—I'm afraid, dear, the clock's run down again. Ewe—I wish you could recommend a good tonic.—Boston Transcript.

The child trusts because it finds no reason in itself why it should not.—J. G. Holland.

Needed Them All.
A well known authoress was once talking with a dilapidated bachelor, who retained little but his conceit.
"It is time now," he said pompously, "for me to settle down as a married man, but I want so much. I want youth, health, wealth, of course; beauty, grace."
"Yes," said his fair listener sympathetically, "you poor man, you do want them all!"

Slowly Mending.
She—And how is your bachelor friend? He—When I saw him last he was mending very slowly. She—Indeed! I didn't know he'd been ill. He—He hasn't been. He was sewing fresh buttons on his underwear!

Too Far.
The fresh young man seated himself beside a handsome girl on the train.
"Going far?" he inquired.
"You are, sir; much too far." Was the chilling retort.—Boston Transcript.

Trouble and Worry.
Wait till trouble comes before worrying about it. If you worry before it comes it may never come at all and you will have lost health and spirits over a phantom.

Duty puts a clear sky over every man. Into which the skylark of happiness always goes singing.—Prentice.

Too Much Paint.
He—What is all this talk about, Mrs. Bullion? She—Why, she engaged Dauber, the artist, to paint her, and when she arrived for the first sitting he declined to complete a job that had already been half finished.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Man and the Bee.
"That get-rich-quick man is as busy as a bee."
"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox. "He's one of those busy bees who can't man age to gather honey without incessantly stinging somebody."—W. Abington Star.

Prophetic.
Hypo—Out of a job again?
Type—Yes; by a mere error of the types too. I intended to set it up "Gotfried," but in the proof it showed up as "Gotfried," and the result justified the spelling.—Pittsburgh Press.

An Altered Case.
Ascum—Have you seen anything of Jiggins lately? Doctor—Yes. I prescribed a trip to Europe for him only this morning. Ascum—Indeed? He's getting wealthy, isn't he? Doctor—Well, I can remember when I used to prescribe for him simply a dose of sodium bromide for the same complaint.—Exchange.

Volubility.
Mabel (studying her lesson)—Papa, what is the definition of "volubility"? Mabel's Father—My child, volubility is a distinguishing feature of your mother when on account of urgent business affairs I don't happen to reach home until after 2 o'clock in the morning.

Effect of the Climate.
Mrs. Money Bags—I hear you have spent a great deal of your time in Italy? Mrs. Parvenu—Oh, yes, my dear; we're quite italicized!—Princeton Tiger.

That Shut Him Up.
"What would you do if you had a million dollars?"
"Do? Hire a private secretary to answer fool questions."—Exchange.

Cartyle Corrected.
At a Royal Academy dinner in London on one occasion several artists were expressing their enthusiasm about Titian. Cartyle and Flunkery were among the guests.
"His glorious coloring is a fact about Titian," said one man, sipping the table to give emphasis to the remark.
"And his glorious drawing is another fact about Titian," cried another artist. And so they went on until Cartyle, who had been listening in silence to their rhapsodies, interrupted them by saying, with a slow deliberation which had its own impressive emphasis:
"And here I sit, a man made in the image of God, who knows nothing about Titian and cares nothing about Titian, and that's another fact about Titian."
Thackeray was sipping claret at the moment. He paused and bowed courteously to Cartyle. "Pardon me," he said; "that appears to me to be not a fact about Titian, but a fact, and a lamentable one, about Cartyle."

Washington Monument.
The cornerstone of the Washington monument was laid on its fine site, which overlooks Washington, Georgetown, Arlington and Mount Vernon, by President Folk July 4, 1848. Its marble shaft rises in all the dignity of unadorned simplicity to the height of 555 feet. The base of the shaft is fifty-five feet square, and it gradually tapers until at the 500 foot point it has diminished to less than thirty-five feet. This monument is said to contain 18,000 blocks of marble, each two feet thick. They were lifted on an elevator run by steam, suspended in an inner frame work of iron, which was built up at intervals, thirty or forty feet at a time, in advance of the surrounding masonry. The aluminum capstone, nine inches high, was set in position Dec. 3, 1884, thirty-six years and a half after the cornerstone was laid.

The Actor's Clothes.
Our principal actor of whims was Mr. Mansfield, as has been made known variously. One whim of his is related by Fritz Schoutz, the costumer. When it came to the staging of "The First Violin" Mansfield was keen to get garments with "character" in them, and found that of all places Schoutz's was the one that could supply him with redingotes. He was delighted with them, introduced them and at the end of the Chicago engagement absolutely declined to return them.
The matter of getting stage clothes with character is interesting in itself. Secondhand shops supply the most, although on occasions an actor has been known to approach a laborer on the street and make him an offer for his weather beaten coat.—Chicago Post.

Gladstone's Speech For Irving.
Gladstone was a great admirer of Sir Henry Irving, and this admiration was shown one day in the house of commons. Irving was under the gallery in the house when suddenly, without apparent reason, Gladstone leaped to his feet and delivered an impassioned speech, set off with all the expression and dramatic gesture for which he was so famous. The house seemed surprised. Members looked at one another and murmured, "What is the old man now up to?" They thought it was some deep political game. But a week or two later a friend of Irving's, encountering Mr. Gladstone, mentioned the actor's visit to the house, and Gladstone eagerly inquired: "What did he think of my speech? I made it for him."

This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs, Colds and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Stickey Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or any bronchial affection is unequalled. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.
