

BLEASE ON TILLMAN

SAYS HE DOES NOT NEED THE SENATOR'S SUPPORT

JONES TALK OF ISSUES

"I as Well Qualified to be Governor as Tillman or Anybody Else," Says Governor Blease.—Peoples and Earle Says They Are Blease for Governor.

Thomas H. Peoples and J. R. Earle came out for Blease. This declaration of preference as to the leading candidates for governor by two of the four candidates for attorney-general was the news feature of the State campaign meeting in Laurens.

Fairly good orders were sent by the crowd of 3,000 persons, which filled the town amphitheater at the center of the town, every seat being occupied. John M. Cannon was unable to get a hearing for Judge Jones who the latter sought to make categorical reply to Governor Blease.

Judge Jones gave little time to self-defense but spent the greater part of his forty-five minute period in explaining points which he advocates and contrasting these with the policies comprehended in "Bleasism," though he did not once mention the governor's name.

Governor Blease repeated the substance of his address at Newberry, omitting, however, the charges there made by him against relatives of Judge Jones who live in Newberry.

Governor Blease referred again to the attitude of B. R. Tillman, senior Senator from South Carolina, toward the Blease-Jones campaign. "Jones and his crowd," Blease said, "are trying to take a safety-pin and pin it on to Ben Tillman's coat tails. Edges and county has a man in the race for the United States Senate who served you as Senator, as superintendent of the penitentiary and for years in congress. He has done much for South Carolina.

"Laurens county has got a young man in the race who is honorable and high-toned and worthy of any trust that may be reposed in him. Why should the Jones people try so hard to hang onto Tillman? He has his own fight to make. If they had a proper respect for themselves and for Tillman they wouldn't do it.

"I don't need Tillman's endorsement. I have proven during the past 19 months that I am as qualified to be governor as Ben Tillman or anybody else. They say Hampton was defeated because he entered in a family fight and they are doing their best to get Tillman to interfere in a family fight. But they are not going to get Tillman into it.

The governor declared, in characteristically elegant language, that Tillman would never be found, "lined up with the management of the State.

Messrs. Peoples and Earle were put on record as to their preference between Blease and Jones through the activity of a self-appointed grand inquisitor, a farmer named Sullivan, who wore a Blease badge the size of a half dollar and who had repeatedly yelled, "Hurrah for General Evans," while the Attorney-General J. Fraser Lyon was speaking. Mr. Peoples, however, refrained from expressing himself until after he had accepted Blease as his primary choice by means of a present, other than Mr. Tumblin, were interested.

B. R. Evans, who left last Saturday for Black Mountain, N. C., did not return until long after his turn to speak came, in fact, not until just before the meeting ended.

D. W. McLaurin, a candidate for State Senator, angrily refused to be mentioned in the Blease-Jones issue. Messrs. Wharton, Carter, Richards and Candler, were asked where they stood on this matter, but the question was not pressed and they all ignored it.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Peoples, "I have always been the friend of the Hon. Cole L. Blease, and I see no reason that was enough for inquisitors who raised a shout, 'Hurrah for Blease and Peoples.'

Mr. Earle said, "If you want to know where I stand I have voted as a rule with Governor Blease on his vetoes. I have the manhood to vote for what I believe to be right. He and I were in the general assembly together for years and he and I were usually on the same side. When he vetoed those appropriations I voted to sustain him, and I am willing to do so again."

McLaurin told his questioner that he did not desire from anything Mr. Earle would have him arrested. "You go ask Jones and Blease who they are going to vote for," he said, "and I'll tell you how I'm going to vote. If you have got mouth you wouldn't ask me such a question. Wouldn't I be a pretty fool to come before the people asking for such an office as that of State Treasurer with 'Blease' or 'Jones' branded across my breast? I was a man before either of them, and I bore myself a man."

HOW HE FOOLED HER

YOUNG WOMAN ANSWERED ADVERTISEMENT FOR WIFE.

The brute she married in that way deserted her in three days after marriage.

Marry in haste and repent at leisure was the fate of pretty Mrs. Conway G. Hutcheson, formerly Miss Mary McEachin, and a daughter of a farmer of Brookton, Ga., according to the story she told Chief Beavers Tuesday morning when she asked that he find the husband who, she alleges, deserted her after they had been married three days.

The girl, who is only twenty, lived on a big farm about ten miles from Hazlehurst, Ga., and she had never met the man until she answered an advertisement for a wife. The advertisement read: "Wanted a good country girl for a wife. Am a rich Virginian. No one but a country girl need apply."

Soon letters were exchanged. They met at the girl's home, where his polished manner and glib tongue won the heart of the girl. But her aged father and mother objected. They begged the girl to wait until they knew more of the man, but the couple ran away from home, taking the midnight train on July 31. They arrived at Atlanta early in the morning, and were married on Thursday, the first of August by Judge Orr.

They went to a Mitchell street hotel and remained until Sunday, when they were persuaded by the young girl's sister-in-law to go home and seek the parental blessing. They did not do so, however, and on Sunday, Sunday, and spent the day with the old people. Monday morning the husband took the first train, and his wife told Chief Beavers that was the last she had seen of him. That was over a week ago.

She had no idea, she told Chief Beavers, that he was not going to come back, until she received a letter from him, in which he said that he was gone forever. He wrote, she said, that he was sorry he had married her, and that she need not expect to see him again. "And may God forgive me," he concluded, "amicably and peacefully yours."

He had given her $20 when they reached the farm house, and told her that was to buy her trousseau. The man had every evidence of being wealthy, the girl said, and told her he was worth $40,000. He said his home was in Batesburg, Va., and that he once owned a portrait engraving business, but was then traveling for a large house. He never gave the firm's name, but he had a box at the Atlanta postoffice, where he received his mail.

After he left the girl at home she received a letter, handwritten, which turned out to be for some business house. The girl said she forwarded it back to his box number, and then her letter was returned. She told Chief Beavers it looked like he mimed the letters up for a purpose.

The man gave his age as 31 and is described as being very tall. He has sandy hair and a dark sandy mustache, has brown eyes and a crooked nose. The girl wants the man arrested and will at once seek a divorce, she declares, and demand alimony.

FORTUNE IN BANKS

BECKER, THE NEW YORK CROOK GOT HIGH SHIELDING

THE DENS OF INIQUITY

In Less Than Nine Month This Dishonest Police Lieutenant Has Deposited Nearly Sixty Thousand Dollars Received from Crooks of all Kinds for Protecting Them.

Powerful banking interests, acting through the New York Clearing House committee, came to the aid of District Attorney Whitman in his efforts to lay bare the alleged corrupt alliance between the police and the gambling fraternity, founded on graft and blackmail. Burns and his associates are on the job.

A virtual demand was given by the committee to all banks in the clearing house to furnish the district attorney with a record of deposits they may have from any of the high police officials whom the district attorney suspects of having been collectors of blackmail from the disorderly elements of the city.

As a result, records showing that within the last eight months Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenblatt, and accused of gambling graft has made deposits of $58,845 in four banks, or that of his wife who were placed in the hands of the public prosecutor.

These deposits, the records show, were first made in November, 1911, shortly after Becker became head of the "strong arm squad" of gambling raiders, and continued all during the time that Jack Rose says he was collecting graft for Becker and until after his arrest. The table of deposits as presented to the district attorney was as follows:

Corn Exchange Bank	... $29,615
Bank of America	... 23,230
Corn Exchange Bank	... 5,000
Corn Exchange Bank	... 10,000
Empire Savings Bank	... 1,500
West Side Savings Bank	... 3,000
Lincoln Trust Company	... 1,500
Total	... $58,845

The district attorney has promised records of Becker's deposits in four other banks which did not have time to go over their accounts and he has also discovered that Becker has an unknown amount of stocks, bonds and other securities locked up in a safe in a New York City apartment. That the total value of the police lieutenant's assets will be found to approximate $200,000 would be no surprise to the district attorney.

Becker's salary as a police lieutenant was $2,250 a year. The aid of the clearing house committee was offered to Mr. Whitman after it became known that his representative had been finding some difficulty in tracing Becker's bank accounts and those of other police officers.

Mr. Whitman was assured by leading bankers of the city that they would have the police force purged of its grafters and the whole scandal aired and that they would give him every aid in their power. This offer was gladly accepted by the district attorney who said: "I am receiving splendid support from the bankers of New York City."

The district attorney has received information that Becker may have put money away in several banks outside of the city and if these are definitely located the New York bankers have promised to use their influence to secure their production. The prosecution in this case is expected to be invaluable to him when he takes up the larger phase of the graft inquiry.

It became known that the district attorney is holding for presentation to the grand jury evidence by which he expects to convict four police inspectors on the charge of collecting blackmail from gambling houses and disorderly resorts. These four men are all aware, it is said, of the nature of the evidence and have been trying to cover their tracks. Thus far the state's investigators have uncovered bank accounts of two totalling $75,000.

The expected murder indictments by the grand jury were not handed down owing to the time taken up by testimony of various witnesses. One of these was Jack Rose, who, it was learned, held the jury spellbound for two hours when he repeated the confession of his part in the murder plot and his alleged graft relations with Lieutenant Becker.

One of the jurors is reported to have remarked that he had not heard the equal of the story portrayed in his previous accusations that Becker himself was, in effect, the paymaster of the murder crew. When Becker, Bridget Webber and Rose met in front of the Murray Hill baths on the day of the murder, according to Rose, Becker borrowed from "Bridget" Webber the $1,000 "blood money" in large bills, handed it to Rose, who handed it to Schtopps, who then passed it on to Gyp the Blood" and his three thugs companions.

Wants to Vote Before She Dies.

Sixty-four years a resident of California and eighty-one years old, Mary Josephine Melvin, born in Ireland, appeared in San Francisco, Cal., and took out her first papers to become a citizen. She also maintained the worst storm and at least 119 sailors perished. All coast towns suffered from the gale.

Over an Hundred Perish.

A tremendous hurricane that swept the Spanish coast has caused heavy life and property loss. Fifteen hundred fishing boats capsized during the storm and at least 119 sailors perished. All coast towns suffered from the gale.

Music Teacher Killed.

In the arrest last Monday night of a negro named H. J. Jones, fifty-five years old, the police believe they have the murderer of Miss Jessie Carlzen, the music teacher who was killed Friday in Aurora, a suburb of Denver.

Five Prisoners Escape.

Five prisoners escaped over the high wall of the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus Tuesday. One of the prisoners shot another who was captured. Three made a clean get-away.

HELD UP THE COURT

TOOK NEAR CONVICTED OF MURDER AND LYNCED HIM.

TROUBLE IS BREWING

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES MAY GO ON HUGE STRIKE.

Nineteen Roads in the South Will be Affected if Men Decide to Walk Out, Says Report.

Advises received here from Macon in effect that a great strike of railroad employees affecting nineteen Southern railroads is now imminent. According to information from the Georgia city, railroad employees all over the South are now taking part in a ballot which will determine whether or not the strike shall be called. The Macon News prints the following story concerning the matter:

"Railroad conductors, trainmen, and yardmen throughout the South are now participating in a ballot taken by mail which will determine if they shall strike for higher wages. This vote will be collected, polled and counted in Washington, D. C. Two weeks hence, and the result, if in favor of a strike, will then be communicated as an ultimatum to the general managers of the railroads which are concerned.

There are nineteen railroads that may be affected by a strike. These are: Central Georgia Railway, Southern Railway, V. S. & W. Railroad, Northern Alabama Railroad, & C. S. Railroad, K. & B. Railroad, T. & C. S. Railroad, Atlantic Coast Line, Mobile & Ohio Railroad, Great Northern, C. & N. Railroad, Alabama, Alabama Great Southern, Georgia Southern & Florida, R. F. & P. Railroad, Southern in Mississippi, New Orleans, Mobile & Chicago, Seaboard Air Line, Alabama & Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railroad.

The general committee, composed of the chairman of the committee of the several roads affected are made up as follows:

O. R. C. Chairman—W. M. Hamilton, Macon; S. J. Brooks, J. A. Dodson, R. B. Sims, R. W. Moore, L. E. Evans, T. K. Steed, H. Dickinson, J. W. Loyal, A. C. Aden, J. W. Vaughan, and T. K. Steed.

B. R. T. Chairman—W. V. Hamilton, R. H. Lanter, J. F. Shelton, T. J. Mason, B. F. Pearson, C. G. Stokes, E. M. Tanner, Z. S. Wheeler, R. W. Wagner, H. A. Fox, Macon; H. M. Cousins, J. L. Lee, Macon.

All official communications being sent from the general managers committee, of which H. Baker is chairman, are addressed to A. C. Garrett, president of the O. R. C. and Val Fitzpatrick, vice-president, B. R. T. The officials of the railroads, through the general managers' committee, has issued a letter to the effect that in which they state that if the requests of the men are granted, they will be paying the highest wages in any section of the United States, "which means higher wages than are paid anywhere in the world."

The decision to take a census of the railroad men as to their position on the proposed strike was reached in Macon last Friday by the conductors, trainmen and yardmen. The blank ballots are now being distributed throughout the South.

Macon railroad employees do not hesitate to say that they think there will be serious developments unless their demands are granted. The general managers, in their reply, contend that the strike, if granted, would mean the bankruptcy of the railroads.

We hope the matter can be amicably adjusted, as a strike would do neither side any good. Why not arbitrate the matter and settle the dispute before the transport association measures on either side. Strikes and lockouts are relics of barbarism and it does seem that they should be unnecessary for the adjustment of differences among any class of our citizens.

GREAT LOSS BY ARMY WORM.

Eight Million Dollars Damage to Crops of the South.

More than $8,000,000 damage was done to crops in the South last month by the army worms, according to the department of agriculture made at Washington Tuesday.

Whether the season's second brood of insects is ready appearing in South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, and other states, will increase this loss is of much concern to government experts. All the means at the department's disposal are being used to meet the emergency.

The department says the army worms at some places half a foot deep on railroad tracks have stopped trains. This loss is placed at $1,000,000 in Georgia, while in Arkansas 20 per cent. of the corn and 10 per cent. of the cotton planted have been destroyed. Losses also have been great in Tennessee, the Carolinas, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. In some of these, particularly Louisiana, they exceed the million mark. Corn, cotton, sugar cane, and rice crops from Louisiana to the Atlantic have been affected.

Killed Her Assailant.

At Nashville, Mrs. J. R. Allen, a widow, aged twenty-two, Tuesday shot and instantly killed William Shofar, aged twenty-eight, the driver of a taxicab in the service of Mrs. Allen and her brothers. Mrs. Allen said she shot to protect herself. Shofar made his home with the widow and her brother. She alleged he attempted to assault her.

State's First Bale of Cotton.

Marion County's first bale of new cotton, which is the first bale in the state to be reported, was sold at Marion Tuesday for fifteen cents. It was made by T. W. Moody, a few miles north of town, was ginned at P. F. Jones' gin and was purchased by the Blackwell Company.

Aged Man Convicted.

William Kennedy, aged 76, Thursday was convicted of murder in the first degree of conspiracy in the killing of his son, Shelt Kennedy, and his grandson, Sarg Kennedy, in the noted Pearce-Kennedy feud in Anniston Ala.

CAUGHT WITH GRAFT

SEVERAL DETROIT ALDERMEN HAD MARKED BILLS

ROBS EXPRESS CAR

ONE BANDIT MAKES GOOD HAUL NEAR ASHEVILLE.

Covers the Messenger and After Securing Valuable Package Locks Him in a Chest.

A lone train robber, masked and armed, boarded Southern Railway train No. 10, Spartanburg to Asheville, at 10:30 Thursday night as it was leaving Biltmore three miles from Asheville, and covering the express messenger E. F. Carr of Marlton, with a revolver, obtained a package containing $3,000 in bills. The robber then demanded Carr to get in the express chest, which he had just rifled, and locked him in it. It is thought that the robber left the train as it slowed up for the Asheville yards.

When the train arrived at the Asheville station, express employees found Carr locked in the chest. When released the express messenger was unable to give a description of his assailant, saying that the latter was completely masked.

The train was an hour late at Biltmore, a fact which the local police department says the robber was aware of.

The express messenger asserts he had just finished arranging his packages, preparatory to leaving the train at Asheville, when he was confronted by a masked stranger with a loaded revolver. Carr says the robber then bound his hands and forced him to get into the chest, which he locked.

The alarm was quickly given and several policemen were sent towards Biltmore on a special train. Other members of the force boarded train No. 35 which leaves Asheville at 10:50. It was thought that the robber might have attempted to escape on this train. A midnight police and express officials were still without a clue.

Carr up to July 21 was a clerk in the Southern Express office at Marlton, N. C., when he was given the run from Columbia, S. C., to Asheville.

SHE WAS JEALOUS

YOUNG MARRIED WOMAN SHOOTS AND KILLS PRETTY WIDOW

HUSBAND LIVING APART

The Murdered Woman the Mother of Two Children, One of Whom Had Just Left Her When Shooting Occurred.—Murderess Has Been Lodged in Jail for Trial.

In a cell at the police station, at Nashville, where she spent the night, charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home of Mrs. Cave Wednesday night shooting her twice in the chest with a .38 Smith & Wesson bullet entering the heart. Mrs. Cave died in a few minutes. Mrs. Jones was arrested en route to the police station to surrender.

Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Mrs. Jones charged with the murder of Mrs. Alva Cave, a widow aged thirty, Mrs. G. J. Jones, aged twenty-four, Thursday morning refused to discuss the tragedy until her arraignment.

Mrs. Jones went to the home